TWO KILLED AS DEER SEASON OPENS

THIRD TERMER TALK STIRRED BY ROOSEVELT

OFF-HAND REMARK BRINGS ON NEW SPECULATION

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt started another flurry of speculation about the third term question today by an off-hand remark with which he prefaced an address at the laying of the cornerstone of the Thomas Jefferson memorial.

"This is the second occasion on which I have had the privilege of coming in an official capacity to this site," he said, "and I hope by January, 1941, I shall be able to come to the final dedication of the memorial itself."

Ready To Retire?

Mr. Roosevelt's present term expires on the 20th of the month he mentioned and the dedication is scheduled for that month.

Whether his statement was a reiteration of the hope previously expressed, that he may retire from public life on that date, was the question that it raised.

If the statement was applicable to the third term question—and men in Mr. Roosevelt's position do not lightly make assertions which contain political connotations—it may have meant that the president does not expect to run again.

But, at most, it was far from definite and left the third term question still unanswered. However, the question has such a tremendous bearing upon the current political situation, that any dim light which may be cast upon it is considered of high importance in Washington.

Few Hundred Present

The president spoke beneath a cloudless November sky, his speaker's platform framed in derricks and guy wires. A few hundred persons were present, standing below the president on a rough wooden platform or upon the muddy bank of the nearby tidal basin.

The memorial is to complete an architectural cross, of which the Lincoln memorial, the White House and the capitol are the three other ends and the Washington monument the center.

The president had words of praise, consequently for Washington and Lincoln as "many sided" men who left deep imprint upon the nation, as well as for Jefferson. The latter he lauded for his interest in education, as the inventor of "numerous small devices to make human life simpler and happier" and as an experimenter in scientific methods of agriculture.

Jefferson Lauded

"But," he added, "it was in the field of political philosophy that Jefferson's significance is transcendant.

"He lived as we live in the midst of a struggle between rule by the self-chosen individual or the self-appointed few, and rule by the franchise and approval of the many. He believed as we do that the average opinion of mankind is in the long run superior to the dictates of the self-chosen.

"During all the years that have followed Thomas Jefferson, the United States has expanded his philosophy into a greater achievement of security of the nation, security of the individual and national unity, than in any other

Dead In Venezuela Shanty Town Blaze Less Than Hundred

Caracas, Venezuela, Nov. 5 (AP)—A revised estimate said tonight that probably less than 100 persons lost their lives in the fire which swept the stilt-supported shanty town of Lagunillas on Lake Maracaibo Monday night.

The government press office issued a statement expressing the opinion that the number of dead and injured was not nearly so high as the 800 estimated earlier.

No exact list of dead or survivors was available.

Informed quarters said the Venezuelan government would not permit the town to be rebuilt. The village was considered a firetrap, it was said, made more hazardous by escaping oil which sometimes collects in a scum near the shore.

Survivors today told of two oil pipeline breaks which preceded the disastrous fire.

The report of survivors conflicted as to whether there was so much oil on the water that it actually caught fire, as early accounts said.

Pipeline Floods Lake

Rescue workers hunted through floating debris for more bodies today as the Venezuelan government mobilized its forces to aid the survivors.

Two days before the disaster a pipeline of the Menegrande Oil company broke, causing the lake waters to rise temporarily to window levels, survivors said. On Monday morning a 12-inch pipe of a Venezuelan oil company broke, spilling considerable oil into the swollen lake.

More than 1,200 houses were destroyed by the blaze. An offshore breeze turned the fire out toward the lake, however, and spared buildings along the shore.

Lagunillas had suffered previous disastrous fires but none of the magnitude of Monday's holocaust. Identification of many bodies was impossible. Little remained of the town except charred piling which had supported the houses.

With the idea of avoiding such a disaster the government in 1938 ordered construction of a town at Ojeda, on dry land, but few had moved into the new houses.

Three days of national mourning were decreed by President Eleazar Lopez Contreras, who raised a relief fund of 355,000 bolivars ($110,050).

NO CHANGE YET IN SDD SET-UP

Retail Liquor Problem Must Be Decided By Legislature

Lansing, Nov. 15. (AP)—Orrin A. Demass, chairman of the liquor control commission, indicated today that if any radical change is made in the system of dispensing liquor it would have to be made by the legislature.

Commission members previously had voiced a belief that specially designated liquor dealers were an unnecessary and expensive factor in liquor sales, and that in many sections, at least, they should be abolished and state stores given a monopoly. A survey was ordered this fall before adoption of a formal policy.

The commission's attitude drew protests from SDD's, mostly druggists.

Demass disclosed today that the survey, originally scheduled for completion Nov. 1, would be "continued until the legislature meets."

"The commission will carry on as we have been until we know what the answer is," he said, adding that it then would submit its recommendations to the legislature. "The SDD matter is a burning question," he continued, "and we aren't going to be in a hurry to decide about it. Whether whisky should be sold like milk or whether it should be under strict control is the main question."

Anti-Trust Case In Hands Of Jury

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 15 (AP)—The General Motors corporation anti-trust trial was placed in the hands of a federal jury at 6:35 o'clock (CST) tonight.

Judge Walter C. Lindley of Danville, Ill., adjourned court until 10 a. m. tomorrow and no verdict will be received before that time.

Iron Mountain Man Drowns In His Car

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Fred DeRoche, 72-year-old carpenter, drowned today when his skidding automobile smashed through a bridge guard rail into the Menominee river.

SHIPPING WITH U. S. HARD HIT IN NEUTRALITY

COMBAT ZONE CUTS OFF EUROPEAN SEAPORTS

BY ANDRUE BERDING

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—The neutrality act not only has affected the European belligerents, but it has reacted materially upon the neutral nations of Europe, some of which have commerce with the United States running into scores of millions of dollars.

Dispatches from various norther neutral capitals evince considerable concern. Within the combat area barred to American ships are such customers as the Netherlands, Belgium, Sweden, Denmark and Ireland, as well as the Baltic states of Lithuainia, Latvia and Esthonia.

Ireland Suffers

Ireland already has expressed her concern to the United States. She says her ports are suffering from the absence of American ships and she is in need of certain American products.

No other neutral has expressed official concern, but it is learned that Scandinavian nations were so worried in advance of proclamation of the combat area that they sought assurances from this government that means would be found of leaving some access to them.

A method was found—that of placing a northern limit on the combat zone so that American ships could still go into the ports of Bergen or Trondhjem, Norway. From those ports there are excellent rail connections across Norway into Sweden and Finland and down to Denmark. But train hauls will increase the cost of American goods.

Norwegian Fleet Chartered

Finland wanted to be sure American ships could still enter her northern port of Petsamo, and this port was left outside the combat area.

Norwegian ships are preparing to take up some of the carrying trade abandoned by the United States. A high official here characterized Norwegian shipping, which is the sixth largest in the world, as "the strongest crutch we have in an emergency." The Black Diamond Line is reported negotiating for the chartering of a fleet of Norwegian vessels to carry on its trade under the Norwegian flag, and the Cosmopolitan Line is reported to have completed negotiations with the Norwegians for a fleet of ships.

Denmark is shrouded in the combat zone but her sister kingdom, Iceland, is not, and is now preparing to open commerce directly with the United States, having chartered a steamship service for the purpose. Iceland sells the United States more than a million dollars worth of goods a year, chiefly cod liver oil, and buys about $130,000 worth. With supplies from Europe endangered, Iceland is now in the market for increased purchases of roofing felt, galvanized corrugated sheets, cement, paper, glassware, dry-

CHINA BATTLES FOR LIFELINES

Japanese Attack Aimed At Supply Arteries From Indo-China

Hongkong, Nov. 15 (AP)—Chinese forces on the coast of Kwangtung province in south China battled today against a new Japanese attack believed aimed at China's rail and highway "lifelines" to the outside world through French Indo-China.

Japanese headquarters here announced that combined army and naval forces had landed near Pakhoi, 300 miles west of Hongkong on the Gulf of Tonking.

Chinese military officials at Chungking, Chinese capital, confirmed the landing. They said an "unknown number" of Japanese troops came ashore from 12 transports, 45 miles west of Pakhoi.

Advices received by Chinese government spokesmen here said Chinese shore batteries engaged in a fierce duel with Japanese warships lying off the coast.

The Chinese said the attack occurred 45 miles west of Pakhoi and only 35 miles east of the border of French Indo-China. Through Indo-China run the "lifelines" that have been China's chief route for supplies from abroad since the closing of virtually all of her seaports by Japanese occupation.

Keys to War?

Here's how Europe's little neutral countries would look if fitted within the borders of Illinois. Their combined area of 24,450 square miles is less than half of that of this middle-sized state, but their total population of 17,000,000 is more than twice that of Illinois.

TRUCKS HALTED AT STATE LINES

Wisconsin and Michigan Fail to Agree On License Laws

Lansing, Nov. 15 (AP)—Wisconsin's purported failure to remove discrimination against Michigan-licensed trucks was explained by Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly today as the reason for orders to turn Wisconsin truckers without Michigan licenses back at the state line.

Kelly said as the result of the order Wisconsin truckers had asked for a special session of their legislature to repeal "unfair" license law provisions.

State department agents have ticketed 165 trucks from Wisconsin for operating over northern Michigan highways without Michigan licenses, he said. Michigan licenses were bought for about 25 percent of the trucks, he said, yielding this state $3,000 in additional revenues.

To protests from Wisconsin, Kelly said he replied with a reminder of three unfulfilled "promises" that discrimination against Michigan trucks would be repealed and that Michigan trucks would be admitted into Wisconsin under a reciprocity agreement. He said Michigan trucks had been barred from Wisconsin for 10 years.

Bow Stove In By Collision, Huronic Ties Up At Sault

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—With her bow stove in above the water line, as the result of a collision, the steamer Huronic locked southward through the Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., ship canal late this afternoon and tied up at the New Ontario dock on the Canadian side.

The Canadian owned steamer Brulin, which collided with the Huronic off Whitefish Point early today, was enroute toward the Ontario locks. The United States coast guard cutter Ossipee left just before dark to offer possible assistance to the Brulin. The extent of damage to the vessel was not known.

Bull Kills Farmer At Chelsea, Mich.

Chelsea, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Injuries suffered Tuesday when he was gored by a bull resulted in the death in a Jackson hospital today of Harold Koch, 26-year-old Sylvan township farm hand.

Koch's lungs were punctured during the attack which occurred in the barnyard on the Fred W. Notten farm.

Flint, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Robert Hohn, 12, died today of injuries suffered Tuesday when an automobile struck him after having collided with another machine.

Sandusky, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Injuries suffered in an automobile collision proved fatal today to Harold Moore, 35.

Marshall, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Ellen Barnes, 77, who suffered a brain concussion and two fractured legs when she walked into the side of a moving automobile Nov. 4, died of her injuries today.

ATTACK AIMED AT FINLAND IN SOVIET PRESS

FOUR MERCHANTMEN SUNK IN REVIVAL OF SEA WAR

The Soviet Russian press leveled its sharpest attack on Finland Thursday with a bitterness reminiscent of the verbal barrage directed at Poland just before the Red army marched into that country.

The attack, in which Finnish ruling circles were accused of fostering an "anti-Soviet policy," was included in a Tass, official news agency, dispatch from Helsinki, Finland's capital.

America Berated

The news agency accused the Finnish army and press of instructing Finns to "hate Russians" and charged that "the leaders of the anti-Soviet campaign of lies are the most reactionary elements who are dreaming of spreading the boundaries of Finland all the way to Russia's Urals."

Russian territorial and military demands on Finland were not "impossible," the news agency continued.

Coincident with the attack, the Soviet newspaper Trud, organ of Russian trade unions, published a letter from a veteran Soviet legislator-scientist berating the United States for her "anxiety concerning Finland."

Delegation Back Home

The Finnish delegation which broke off the Moscow negotiations arrived in Helsinki. There are indications the Finns considered the Kremlin talks ended unless the Russians came forward with new proposals.

Meanwhile, the 28-month-old war in the Far East picked up momentum while Europe's 10-week-old conflict continued quiet on land but with mounting losses at sea.

The Japanese launched a new attack against the South China province of Kwangtung in an apparent effort to sever Chinese rail and highway "lifelines" to French Indo-China.

Combined army and naval forces landed at Pakhoi, 300 miles west of Hongkong, the invaders announced. The Chinese acknowledged the attack but denied the landing, asserting their shore batteries were engaged in an artillery duel with 40 Japanese warships offshore.

Lithuania Loses Ships

On the other side of the globe, four ships—one British, one Greek and two Lithuanian—went to the bottom, raising the known losses at sea since the start of the European war to 126 ships totaling 505,675 tons.

The day's casualties were the 790-ton British coastwise tanker Woodtown, the 2,216-ton Greek steamer Georgis, and two Lithuanian freighters, the 1,607-ton Panevezys and the 945-ton Nida.

The Woodtown, 67th British ship to sink, went down after an explosion, carrying nine of her 12 crewmen to their death. The Georgis struck a half-submerged wreck off the east English coast.

The Panevezys and Nida, the first ships to be lost by the little Baltic state, were said by Ritzau, Danish news agency, to have been sunk off the Estonian coast by mines.

The Nazis announced a German submarine had sunk 26,000 tons

GOVERNOR HEIL RAPS DICKINSON

Michigan Strike Methods Criticized; Farmer Luren Amused

Charlotte, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—For the benefit of the governor of Wisconsin, the governor of Michigan said today:

"If he (Wisconsin's governor) were governor of Michigan, he'd find out some things he doesn't know."

Gov. Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin had said in a speech in Chicago last night: "You've got to use strong methods. I would like to be the governor of Michigan today. They have no right to have strikes there."

Taking time out from his farm chores here, Gov. Luren D. Dickinson of Michigan indicated today he was amused at Gov. Heil's remarks. He said Heil "apparently doesn't know that I can use strong methods, too, if I want to" and pointed to his use of state police in several strikes.

Regarding the labor dispute at Chrysler corporation, Gov. Dickinson said, "It is in mediation now in a way that we cannot get at it any more than we have."

Capone In Philadelphia Sanatorium, Paper Says

Philadelphia, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Evening Bulletin said today it had "learned definitely from a highly-authentic police source" that Al Capone is in Philadelphia or a nearby suburb.

The newspaper quoted the same source as saying the erstwhile Chicago gang leader is being treated at a local sanitorium for pareisis (partial paralysis affecting muscular motion.)

Two federal agents accompanied Capone to Philadelphia, the newspaper said it was told. They will leave him next Monday when his sentence for income tax evasion expires.

The gang leader served the sentence in Alcatraz prison.

The newspaper said it understood Capone's whereabouts here was being kept secret to prevent any interference from the Philadelphia underworld.

State Board Finds 'Poor Judgment' At Newberry Hospital

Ypsilanti, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—The state hospital commission decided at a hearing today that matters under investigation at the Newberry State hospital showed "poor judgment" had been displayed although nothing was found that warranted disciplinary action.

The case involved the remodeling of a building owned by Dr. Earl W. Campbell, medical superintendent of Newberry State hospital.

The commission made these rules:

(1) The time of all hospital employes shall be devoted exclusively to the state during the regular hours of employment unless the commission gives specific permission otherwise.

(2) Hospital facilities shall not be used for private commercial purposes under any circumstances.

(3) No patient labor is to be used.

(4) State-owned supplies and materials must not be used for private purposes or exchanged or loaned.

Fred C. Striffler, Caro, the commission chairman, said the preliminary inquiry disclosed no fraud or intent to defraud.

Dr. Campbell has been at the hospital since 1905 except for two years when he was at the Traverse City State hospital.

Jackson Convicts In Escape Attempt Held For Murder

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—The six convicts who figured in an escape plot fatal to a Southern Michigan prison guard Nov. 5 were bound over to circuit court today on a joint murder charge.

Several fellow inmates testified regarding the obreak, during which Fred Boucher, chief guard inspector, was shot to death. Municipal Judge Arthur W. Wiggins held court at the prison.

The six convicts, George Bodie, Samuel Sawaya, Paul Lawman, Malcolm Stokes, Leo Thifault and John L. Sullivan, kept silent although each was asked if he had anything to say.

Girl Rescues Baby From Burning Home At Rochester, Minn.

Rochester, Minn., Nov. 15 (AP)—Scornful of danger to herself, Pauline Levay, 17, ran into a burning home today to rescue three-year-old Edward Koski.

The girl had to crawl under an upstairs bed to reach the child, who had fled there from fear of the flames. The house was destroyed.

Occupying the home were Mr. and Mrs. Erney Levay, parents of Pauline, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Koski, the baby's parents. None was injured.

Vancouver Island Districts Flooded

Zeballos, B. C., Nov. 15. (Canadian Press)—More than 100 persons were homeless tonight after a torrential rainstorm which caused damage estimated at thousands of dollars and made this west coast gold-mining district the second flood center on Vancouver Island.

As 15 families fled before the rising waters of the Courtenay river on the east coast of the island, more than 100 persons were removed from the settlement of Privateer Flats four miles from here.

ACTION DELAYED ON WARDENSHIP

Elmer Swanson, Escanaba, Among 4 Mentioned for Marquette Post

Lansing, Nov. 15. (AP) — Although the skids still were greased for Warden Marvin L. Coon of the Marquette branch prison, informed quarters said there was not much prospect that decisive action would be taken in his case at a corrections commission meeting in Jackson tomorrow because Upper Peninsula Republican leaders have not agreed on a successor to him.

Emerson R. Boyles, Governor Dickinson's legal adviser, was among those predicting there would be no action Thursday on Attorney General Thomas Read's recommendation that the warden be fired. Read contends that the recent short-lived escape in which four Marquette convicts abducted Coon and three other officials has "destroyed the warden's usefulness" at the prison.

The plans to fire Coon, a Democratic holdover employe, subsequently were complicated by an escape from the state prison of southern Michigan in which Fred Boucher, inspector of guards, was shot and killed. Read investigated that escape but attached no blame to Republican Warden Harry H. Jackson.

Four men have been mentioned prominently for the Marquette wardenship, and each has the written endorsement of county Republican committees. They are William Newcomb, Coon's deputy; Alvin E. Richards, state tax commissioner; Elmer Swanson, Escanaba, a former sheriff, and Howard Boyd, Grand Rapids, former member of the prison staff. Richards' friends said he no longer was interested in obtaining the appointment.

Submarine Squalus Is Decommissioned For Year Of Repair

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 15 (AP)—Her commission pennant fluttered down today and the submarine Squalus, which carried 26 men to their deaths in a faulty dive last May, was removed from the navy's active list.

Her commander, Lieut. Oliver F. Naquin, and 31 other navy survivors—first ever rescued with a diving bell—stood on the deck of the underseas craft during the brief formality which marked decommissioning.

Navy yard experts estimated a year might be required to complete reconditioning and return the Squalus to the nation's fighting forces.

Highways In Hawaii Planted In Colors

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Color schemes, familiar in interior decoration and women's clothing, have been applied to landscaping of streets and highways in Hawaii, a delegate to the annual convention of the American Automobile association reported today.

Miss Robert Clark said the outdoor Circle of Honolulu, a 27-year-old organization of women, had succeeded in having one thoroughfare planted in red flowers, for example, another in blue, and so on through the spectrum.

Also as a result of the circle's efforts, she said, no billboards appear on any highways.

HUNTERS SHOT IN DOWNSTATE WOODS REGION

BATTLE CREEK MAN WOUNDED NEAR BIG BAY

(By The Associated Press)

Two men were killed Wednesday within a few hours after the opening of the Michigan deer hunting season as tens of thousands of men and women roamed the woods in the northern part of the state.

The victims were Augustus Altvatter, 67, of Fowler, and Ray Morris, 42, of Detroit. Both were shot by other hunters.

The fatal accidents occurred in the Lower Peninsula. Morris, first victim of the season, was hunting at Buck Creek, 10 miles from East Tawas, and was struck by a bullet from the rifle of Ray McFeely, Detroit, his brother-in-law. Morris died shortly before 10 a. m.

Hit In Forehead

Altvatter was struck across the forehead by a shot fired by Henry Bousseau of Alpena. The accident happened nine miles north of Glennie in Alcona county. He was treated by a physician at Harrisville and then taken southward by ambulance to Mercy hospital at Bay City. He died about 2:45 p. m., three hours after the mishap.

In another accident near Free Soil, Ray Dole of Kalamazoo was injured by a shot from his own gun. He was not badly hurt.

In the Upper Peninsula Charles Petersen, 45, Battle Creek, was mistaken for a buck in the underbrush and wounded by Charles Vandezande, of Big Bay, in Marquette county. Vandezande told state police he had wounded a buck and was pursuing it. Believing he had spotted the animal again he shot and struck Petersen.

Condition Not Serious

Vandezande and Petersen walked three-quarters of a mile to camp and then drove 35 miles to Marquette where the victim was taken to St. Mary's hospital. He was wounded in the abdomen. His condition, the attending physician said last night, was not serious. The accident occurred at Ives Lake, near Big Bay.

Warm weather hampered hunters considerably but scattered reports indicated that several bagged deer quickly. Harry Richardson of Traverse City took to the field in the Kalkaska district at 7 a. m. and brought down a buck five minutes later.

Ray Balluff of White Cloud got a 10-pointer before 9 a. m.

Near Manistee, Bob Swanson, 15, shot a four-point buck and claimed honors among the younger hunters.

Joe Adamczak, Manistee, had quick results.

He ran into a deer with his automobile and killed it. Conservation officers took the carcass, however. It was a 200-pound buck.

Straits Records Broken

Scores of persons were arrested for various violations of the game laws.

At the Straits of Mackinac it was reported that the total number of persons crossing northward had broken all records at this stage of the deer hunting season.

Temperatures ranged from 35 to 40 degrees in the deer hunting counties, an unseasonable state of affairs.

At Beulah Thursday night the women of Benzie county whose husbands are hunting will stage a "widows' feast" with plans for making it an annual event.

"The SDD matter is a burning question," he continued, "and we aren't going to be in a hurry to decide about it. Whether whisky should be sold like milk or whether it should be under strict control is the main question."

Anti-Trust Case In Hands Of Jury

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 15 (AP)—The General Motors corporation anti-trust trial was placed in the hands of a federal jury at 6:35 o'clock (CST) tonight.

Judge Walter C. Lindley of Danville, Ill., adjourned court until 10 a. m. tomorrow and no verdict will be received before that time.

Iron Mountain Man Drowns In His Car

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Fred DeRoche, 72-year-old carpenter, drowned today when his skidding automobile smashed through a bridge guard rail into the Menominee river.

SHIPPING WITH U. S. HARD HIT IN NEUTRALITY

COMBAT ZONE CUTS OFF EUROPEAN SEAPORTS

BY ANDRUE BERDING

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—The neutrality act not only has affected the European belligerents, but it has reacted materially upon the neutral nations of Europe, some of which have commerce with the United States running into scores of millions of dollars.

Dispatches from various norther neutral capitals evince considerable concern. Within the combat area barred to American ships are such customers as the Netherlands, Belgium, Sweden, Denmark and Ireland, as well as the Baltic states of Lithuainia, Latvia and Esthonia.

Ireland Suffers

Ireland already has expressed her concern to the United States. She says her ports are suffering from the absence of American ships and she is in need of certain American products.

No other neutral has expressed official concern, but it is learned that Scandinavian nations were so worried in advance of proclamation of the combat area that they sought assurances from this government that means would be found of leaving some access to them.

A method was found—that of placing a northern limit on the combat zone so that American ships could still go into the ports of Bergen or Trondhjem, Norway. From those ports there are excellent rail connections across Norway into Sweden and Finland and down to Denmark. But train hauls will increase the cost of American goods.

Norwegian Fleet Chartered

Finland wanted to be sure American ships could still enter her northern port of Petsamo, and this port was left outside the combat area.

Norwegian ships are preparing to take up some of the carrying trade abandoned by the United States. A high official here characterized Norwegian shipping, which is the sixth largest in the world, as "the strongest crutch we have in an emergency." The Black Diamond Line is reported negotiating for the chartering of a fleet of Norwegian vessels to carry on its trade under the Norwegian flag, and the Cosmopolitan Line is reported to have completed negotiations with the Norwegians for a fleet of ships.

Denmark is shrouded in the combat zone but her sister kingdom, Iceland, is not, and is now preparing to open commerce directly with the United States, having chartered a steamship service for the purpose. Iceland sells the United States more than a million dollars worth of goods a year, chiefly cod liver oil, and buys about $130,000 worth. With supplies from Europe endangered, Iceland is now in the market for increased purchases of roofing felt, galvanized corrugated sheets, cement, paper, glassware, dry-

CHINA BATTLES FOR LIFELINES

Japanese Attack Aimed At Supply Arteries From Indo-China

Hongkong, Nov. 15 (AP)—Chinese forces on the coast of Kwangtung province in south China battled today against a new Japanese attack believed aimed at China's rail and highway "lifelines" to the outside world through French Indo-China.

Japanese headquarters here announced that combined army and naval forces had landed near Pakhoi, 300 miles west of Hongkong on the Gulf of Tonking.

Chinese military officials at Chungking, Chinese capital, confirmed the landing. They said an "unknown number" of Japanese troops came ashore from 12 transports, 45 miles west of Pakhoi.

Advices received by Chinese government spokesmen here said Chinese shore batteries engaged in a fierce duel with Japanese warships lying off the coast.

The Chinese said the attack occurred 45 miles west of Pakhoi and only 35 miles east of the border of French Indo-China. Through Indo-China run the "lifelines" that have been China's chief route for supplies from abroad since the closing of virtually all of her seaports by Japanese occupation.

Keys to War?

Here's how Europe's little neutral countries would look if fitted within the borders of Illinois. Their combined area of 24,450 square miles is less than half of that of this middle-sized state, but their total population of 17,000,000 is more than twice that of Illinois.

TRUCKS HALTED AT STATE LINES

Wisconsin and Michigan Fail to Agree On License Laws

Lansing, Nov. 15 (AP)—Wisconsin's purported failure to remove discrimination against Michigan-licensed trucks was explained by Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly today as the reason for orders to turn Wisconsin truckers without Michigan licenses back at the state line.

Kelly said as the result of the order Wisconsin truckers had asked for a special session of their legislature to repeal "unfair" license law provisions.

State department agents have ticketed 165 trucks from Wisconsin for operating over northern Michigan highways without Michigan licenses, he said. Michigan licenses were bought for about 25 percent of the trucks, he said, yielding this state $3,000 in additional revenues.

To protests from Wisconsin, Kelly said he replied with a reminder of three unfulfilled "promises" that discrimination against Michigan trucks would be repealed and that Michigan trucks would be admitted into Wisconsin under a reciprocity agreement. He said Michigan trucks had been barred from Wisconsin for 10 years.

Bow Stove In By Collision, Huronic Ties Up At Sault

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—With her bow stove in above the water line, as the result of a collision, the steamer Huronic locked southward through the Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., ship canal late this afternoon and tied up at the New Ontario dock on the Canadian side.

The Canadian owned steamer Brulin, which collided with the Huronic off Whitefish Point early today, was enroute toward the Ontario locks. The United States coast guard cutter Ossipee left just before dark to offer possible assistance to the Brulin. The extent of damage to the vessel was not known.

Bull Kills Farmer At Chelsea, Mich.

Chelsea, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Injuries suffered Tuesday when he was gored by a bull resulted in the death in a Jackson hospital today of Harold Koch, 26-year-old Sylvan township farm hand.

Koch's lungs were punctured during the attack which occurred in the barnyard on the Fred W. Notten farm.

Traffic Toll

Flint, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Robert Hohn, 12, died today of injuries suffered Tuesday when an automobile struck him after having collided with another machine.

Sandusky, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Injuries suffered in an automobile collision proved fatal today to Harold Moore, 35.

Marshall, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Ellen Barnes, 77, who suffered a brain concussion and two fractured legs when she walked into the side of a moving automobile Nov. 4, died of her injuries today.

ATTACK AIMED AT FINLAND IN SOVIET PRESS

FOUR MERCHANTMEN SUNK IN REVIVAL OF SEA WAR

The Soviet Russian press levelled its sharpest attack on Finland Thursday with a bitterness reminiscent of the verbal barrage directed at Poland just before the Red army marched into that country.

The attack, in which Finnish ruling circles were accused of fostering an "anti-Soviet policy," was included in a Tass, official news agency, dispatch from Helsinki, Finland's capital.

America Berated

The news agency accused the Finnish army and press of instructing Finns to "hate Russians" and charged that "the leaders of the anti-Soviet campaign of lies are the most reactionary elements who are dreaming of spreading the boundaries of Finland all the way to Russia's Urals."

Russian territorial and military demands on Finland were not "impossible," the news agency continued.

Coincident with the attack, the Soviet newspaper Trud, organ of Russian trade unions, published a letter from a veteran Soviet legislator-scientist berating the United States for her "anxiety concerning Finland."

Delegation Back Home

The Finnish delegation which broke off the Moscow negotiations arrived in Helsinki. There are indications the Finns considered the Kremlin talks ended unless the Russians came forward with new proposals.

Meanwhile, the 28-month-old war in the Far East picked up momentum while Europe's 10-week-old conflict continued quiet on land but with mounting losses at sea.

The Japanese launched a new attack against the South China province of Kwangtung in an apparent effort to sever Chinese rail and highway "lifelines" to French Indo-China.

Combined army and naval forces landed at Pakhoi, 300 miles west of Hongkong, the invaders announced. The Chinese acknowledged the attack but denied the landing, asserting their shore batteries were engaged in an artillery duel with 40 Japanese warships offshore.

Lithuania Loses Ships

On the other side of the globe, four ships—one British, one Greek and two Lithuanian—went to the bottom, raising the known losses at sea since the start of the European war to 126 ships totaling 505,675 tons.

The day's casualties were the 790-ton British coastwise tanker Woodtown, the 2,216-ton Greek steamer Georgis, and two Lithuantian freighters, the 1,607-ton Panevezys and the 945-ton Nida.

The Woodtown, 67th British ship to sink, went down after an explosion, carrying nine of her 12 crewmen to their death. The Georgis struck a half-submerged wreck off the east English coast.

The Panevezys and Nida, the first ships to be lost by the little Baltic state, were said by Ritzau, Danish news agency, to have been sunk off the Estonian coast by mines.

The Nazis announced a German submarine had sunk 26,000 tons

GOVERNOR HEIL RAPS DICKINSON

Michigan Strike Methods Criticized; Farmer Luren Amused

Charlotte, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—For the benefit of the governor of Wisconsin, the governor of Michigan said today:

"If he (Wisconsin's governor) were governor of Michigan, he'd find out some things he doesn't know."

Gov. Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin had said in a speech in Chicago last night: "You've got to use strong methods. I would like to be the governor of Michigan today. They have no right to have strikes there."

Taking time out from his farm chores here, Gov. Luren D. Dickinson of Michigan indicated today he was amused at Gov. Heil's remarks. He said Heil "apparently doesn't know that I can use strong methods, too, if I want to" and pointed to his use of state police in several strikes.

Regarding the labor dispute at Chrysler corporation, Gov. Dickinson said, "it is in mediation now in a way that we cannot get at it any more than we have."

Capone In Philadelphia Sanatorium, Paper Says

Philadelphia, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Evening Bulletin said today it had "learned definitely from a highly-authentic police source" that Al Capone is in Philadelphia or a nearby suburb.

The newspaper quoted the same source as saying the erstwhile Chicago gang leader is being treated at a local sanitorium for pareisis (partial paralysis affecting muscular motion.)

Two federal agents accompanied Capone to Philadelphia, the newspaper said it was told. They will leave him next Monday when his sentence for income tax evasion expires.

The gang leader served the sentence in Alcatraz prison.

The newspaper said it understood Capone's whereabouts here was being kept secret to prevent any interference from the Philadelphia underworld.

State Board Finds 'Poor Judgment' At Newberry Hospital

Ypsilanti, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—The state hospital commission decided at a hearing today that matters under investigation at the Newberry State hospital showed "poor judgment" had been displayed although nothing was found that warranted disciplinary action.

The case involved the remodeling of a building owned by Dr. Earl W. Campbell, medical superintendent of Newberry State hospital.

The commission made these rules:

(1) The time of all hospital employes shall be devoted exclusively to the state during the regular hours of employment unless the commission gives specific permission otherwise.

(2) Hospital facilities shall not be used for private commercial purposes under any circumstances.

(3) No patient labor is to be used.

(4) State-owned supplies and materials must not be used for private purposes or exchanged or loaned.

Fred C. Striffler, Caro, the commission chairman, said the preliminary inquiry disclosed no fraud or intent to defraud.

Dr. Campbell has been at the hospital since 1905 except for two years when he was at the Traverse City State hospital.

Jackson Convicts In Escape Attempt Held For Murder

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—The six convicts who figured in an escape plot fatal to a Southern Michigan prison guard Nov. 5 were bound over to circuit court today on a joint murder charge.

Several fellow inmates testified regarding the obreak, during which Fred Boucher, chief guard inspector, was shot to death. Municipal Judge Arthur W. Wiggins held court at the prison.

The six convicts, George Bodie, Samuel Sawaya, Paul Lawman, Malcolm Stokes, Leo Thifault and John L. Sullivan, kept silent although each was asked if he had anything to say.

Girl Rescues Baby From Burning Home At Rochester, Minn.

Rochester, Minn., Nov. 15 (AP)—Scornful of danger to herself, Pauline Levay, 17, ran into a burning home today to rescue three-year-old Edward Koski.

The girl had to crawl under an upstairs bed to reach the child, who had fled there from fear of the flames. The house was destroyed.

Occupying the home were Mr. and Mrs. Erney Levay, parents of Pauline, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Koski, the baby's parents. None was injured.

Vancouver Island Districts Flooded

Zeballos, B. C., Nov. 15. (Canadian Press)—More than 100 persons were homeless tonight after a torrential rainstorm which caused damage estimated at thousands of dollars and made this west coast gold-mining district the second flood center on Vancouver Island.

As 15 families fled before the rising waters of the Courtenay river on the east coast of the island, more than 100 persons were removed from the settlement of Privateer Flats four miles from here.

ACTION DELAYED ON WARDENSHIP

Elmer Swanson, Escanaba, Among 4 Mentioned for Marquette Post

Lansing, Nov. 15. (AP) — Although the skids still were greased for Warden Marvin L. Coon of the Marquette branch prison, informed quarters said there was not much prospect that decisive action would be taken in his case at a corrections commission meeting in Jackson tomorrow because Upper Peninsula Republican leaders have not agreed on a successor to him.

Emerson R. Boyles, Governor Dickinson's legal adviser, was among those predicting there would be no action Thursday on Attorney General Thomas Read's recommendation that the warden be fired. Read contends that the recent short-lived escape in which four Marquette convicts abducted Coon and three other officials has "destroyed the warden's usefulness" at the prison.

The plans to fire Coon, a Democratic holdover employe, subsequently were complicated by an escape from the state prison of southern Michigan in which Fred Boucher, inspector of guards, was shot and killed. Read investigated that escape but attached no blame to Republican Warden Harry H. Jackson.

Four men have been mentioned prominently for the Marquette wardenship, and each has the written endorsement of county Republican committees. They are William Newcomb, Coon's deputy; Alvin E. Richards, state tax commissioner; Elmer Swanson, Escanaba, a former sheriff, and Howard Boyd, Grand Rapids, former member of the prison staff. Richards' friends said he no longer was interested in obtaining the appointment.

Submarine Squalus Is Decommissioned For Year Of Repair

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 15 (AP)—Her commission pennant fluttered down today and the submarine Squalus, which carried 26 men to their deaths in a faulty dive last May, was removed from the navy's active list.

Her commander, Lieut. Oliver F. Naquin, and 31 other navy survivors—first ever rescued with a diving bell—stood on the deck of the underseas craft during the brief formality which marked decommissioning.

Navy yard experts estimated a year might be required to complete reconditioning and return the Squalus to the nation's fighting forces.

Highways In Hawaii Planted In Colors

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Color schemes, familiar in interior decoration and women's clothing, have been applied to landscaping of streets and highways in Hawaii, a delegate to the annual convention of the American Automobile association reported today.

Miss Robert Clark said the outdoor Circle of Honolulu, a 27-year-old organization of women, had succeeded in having one thoroughfare planted in red flowers, for example, another in blue, and so on through the spectrum.

Also as a result of the circle's efforts, she said, no billboards appear on any highways.

HUNTERS SHOT IN DOWNSTATE WOODS REGION

BATTLE CREEK MAN WOUNDED NEAR BIG BAY

(By The Associated Press)

Two men were killed Wednesday within a few hours after the opening of the Michigan deer hunting season as tens of thousands of men and women roamed the woods in the northern part of the state.

The victims were Augustus Altvatter, 67, of Fowler, and Ray Morris, 42, of Detroit. Both were shot by other hunters.

The fatal accidents occurred in the Lower Peninsula. Morris, first victim of the season, was hunting at Buck Creek, 10 miles from East Tawas, and was struck by a bullet from the rifle of Ray McFeely, Detroit, his brother-in-law. Morris died shortly before 10 a. m.

Hit In Forehead

Altvatter was struck across the forehead by a shot fired by Henry Bousseau of Alpena. The accident happened nine miles north of Glennie in Alcona county. He was treated by a physician at Harrisville and then taken southward by ambulance to Mercy hospital at Bay City. He died about 2:45 p. m., three hours after the mishap.

In another accident near Free Soil, Ray Dole of Kalamazoo was injured by a shot from his own gun. He was not badly hurt.

In the Upper Peninsula Charles Petersen, 45, Battle Creek, was mistaken for a buck in the underbrush and wounded by Charles Vandezande, of Big Bay, in Marquette county. Vandezande told state police he had wounded a buck and was pursuing it. Believing he had spotted the animal again he shot and struck Petersen.

Condition Not Serious

Vandezande and Petersen walked three-quarters of a mile to camp and then drove 35 miles to Marquette where the victim was taken to St. Mary's hospital. He was wounded in the abdomen. His condition, the attending physician said last night, was not serious. The accident occurred at Ives Lake, near Big Bay.

Warm weather hampered hunters considerably but scattered reports indicated that several bagged deer quickly. Harry Richardson of Traverse City took to the field in the Kalkaska district at 7 a. m. and brought down a buck five minutes later.

Ray Balluff of White Cloud got a 10-pointer before 9 a. m.

Near Manistee, Bob Swanson, 15, shot a four-point buck and claimed honors among the younger hunters.

Joe Adamczak, Manistee, had quick results.

He ran into a deer with his automobile and killed it. Conservation officers took the carcass, however. It was a 200-pound buck.

Straits Records Broken

Scores of persons were arrested for various violations of the game laws.

At the Straits of Mackinac it was reported that the total number of persons crossing northward had broken all records at this stage of the deer hunting season.

Temperatures ranged from 35 to 40 degrees in the deer hunting counties, an unseasonable state of affairs.

At Beulah Thursday night the women of Benzie county whose husbands are hunting will stage a "widows' feast" with plans for making it an annual event.

ANTI-GAMBLING MAYOR IS SLAIN

Fusillade of Gunshots Greets Reformer At Long Beach, N. Y.

Long Beach, N. Y., Nov. 15. (AP) —Death in a fusillade of five gunshots today ended the anti-gambling crusade of Louis F. Edwards, 40, reform mayor of this seaside resort on the south shore of Long Island.

His bodyguard, Police Sergeant James Walsh, was perhaps fatally wounded before he could draw his gun.

A stray bullet also nipped the hand of a passing postman, Fred Schratweiser.

The shooting took place in front of the mayor's home as he was leaving for his office.

A few minutes later, a figure with bloodshot eyes lurched into the Long Beach police station, slammed a revolver on the desk and shouted:

"I killed the mayor!"

The slayer, according to police, was Patrolman Alvin Dooley, 45, father of four children, who was recently demoted from the Long Beach motorcycle police squad and who was defeated last week by the wounded Sergeant Walsh in an election for president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent association.

Officials said Mayor Edwards supported Walsh for the post which Dooley formerly held.

Dooley was charged with homicide and taken to the jail at nearby Mineola as a crowd of 1,000 milled outside the local police station raising cries of "Lynch him!"

Courtroom Fugitive Held At Mishawaka For Michigan Trial

Lansing, Nov. 15 (AP) — The Ingham county sheriff's department today prepared extradition proceedings to obtain the return of Guy Vander West, 35, of Grand Rapids, who was accused of escaping from a courtroom here Monday and fleeing to Mishawaka, Ind.

Deputy Sheriff Jerry Allen said Vander West had been captured in a Mishawaka hotel, but refused to waive extradition to Michigan. He said a chance remark dropped by Vander West's parents led to the recapture.

In addition to the charge of contempt of court which had faced him when he escaped, Vander West today also was charged with resisting an officer. A warrant accused him of resisting Court Officer Arthur Kisace. The contempt charge was based on a non-support case.

Vander West's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Vander West, of Muskegon, are at liberty on $1,000 bonds awaiting examination on charges of assisting in the escape.

Holdups Admitted By Saginaw Youths With Guns In Car

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Two Saginaw youths were held on robbery armed charges tonight by police after being apprehended in an automobile carrying three revolvers, two rifles and 2,000 rounds of ammunition. While the pair was being questioned by a police radio car crew, the report of a gasoline station holdup was picked up and the officers said the youths admitted the crime.

The two held are Julius Wascavage, 18, and William Sauver, 20. Sauver also confessed looting a safe of $650 on October 31 at the offices of the Associated Truck Line, officers said.

The guns and ammunition came from the Breen Hardware at Bay City, police said.

In connection with that theft, Edward Sauver, 18, a brother of William, was jailed at Grayling on a breaking and entering charge.

New Constitution Planned For Cuba

Havana, Nov. 15 (AP)—Cubans today elected 76 members of a constituent assembly which will meet December 15 to begin drafting a new constitution to replace that drawn up 11 years ago by former President Gerardo Machado.

The election passed quietly and police, army and marine detachments on duty in cities and rural areas found little to do.

The polls closed at 3 p. m. and the slow process of vote-counting started immediately. It will be two or three days before the final results will be determined.

Eduardo Chibas, Cuban Revolutionary party candidate who was shot yesterday by unidentified assailants, was reported improving. His party is opposed to the present regime, headed by Colonel F·lgencio Batista, Cuba's strong man.

DETROIT ARTIST DIES

Detroit, Nov. 15 (AP)—Percy W. Cromwell, 61, a Detroit newspaper cartoonist for a quarter of a century, died last night. From 1922 to 1929 he was employed by the Detroit Times. Later he worked for the Detroit Saturday Night.

New Finance System Recommended For Northern Michigan Episcopal Diocese

Negaunee, Mich., Nov. 15. (AP)—After they had elected the Rt. Rev. Herman Page, of Detroit, provisional bishop of the Diocese of Northern Michigan, 44 delegates attending the reconvened diocesan convention here today adopted, by unanimous vote, the report of a ways and means committee which recommended a new diocesan finance system under which all funds will be handled by a finance committee of five members elected by and responsible to the convention.

Under the old set-up some of the funds were under the control of the diocesan department of finance, some under the control of the bishop and some held by a trust association. Under the new plan the trust association and department of finance will be dissolved and no funds will be controlled by the bishop.

In order to effect this change it will be necessary to amend some of the diocesan canons and this matter was turned over to the committee on canons with instructions to report at the next diocesan convention, which will be held in May or June.

In behalf of the trust association of the diocese, S. R. Elliott, of Ishpeming, one of the trustees, made an informal report in which he denied that the trustees had any personal responsibility for shortages discovered in assets of the association.

Elliott's report, regarded as an answer to the civil suit brought against the trustees by St. James' church parish, of Sault Ste. Marie, in which that parish demands an accounting and restitution of approximately $76,000 found to be missing from the Episcopal endowment fund after the death, last January, of A. E. Miller, secretary-treasurer of the fund for 30 years, was presented to the convention in executive session.

Elliott stated that none of the trustees had the slightest knowledge that there were any defalcations or anything out of order until January 30, 1939, when the former Bishop Hayward S. Ablewhite, now serving time in prison for his part in the embezzlements, attended a meeting of the trust association, of which he was president, and read a statement telling of a confession made by Miller or relatives to the theft of certain funds.

Elliott pointed out that it appeared that Miller had covered, by payments out of his own pocket, all the income that would have accrued from the securities over all the years they were missing. For this season, he said, there was no reason for the trustees to suspect that the securities did not exist.

In substance, Elliott's report contended:

That bonds stolen from the Episcopal endowment fund were taken before 1925 and that only a small part of the embezzling occurred during the period of service of the present trustees.

That false statements presented to the trustees by Miller and Bishop Ablewhite, and Miller's "covering-up" by producing from his own pocket the amounts of money the stolen securities would have earned, prevented the trustees from suspecting or discovering that anything was wrong.

That after the embezzlement was discovered they started an investigation as promptly as possible, and that the investigation could not be completed sooner than it was because of the unusual complications encountered (loss of records by fire).

ILLNESS FATAL TO GUGGENHEIM

Metal Expert of Mine and Smelting Firm Dies At 81

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Murry Guggenheim, 81, partner in the Guggenheim brothers mining and smelting film and a leading philanthropodist, died after a short illness today in his Fifth Avenue home.

One of seven sons of the late Meyer Guggenheim of Philadelphia, who turned from importing embroidery and lace to found a fortune in western mining ventures, Murry was credited with being the expert of the family on the metal markets.

When these interests were merged in the American smelting and Refining company in 1901, he headed the finance committee and later the sales department.

His philanthropies included donations of millions of dollars to Mount Sinai hospital in New York, establishment of a free dental clinic here, a students' dormitory in Paris, greenhouses in the Bronx Botonical Gardens and the financing of free band concerts here.

He is survived by his widow, a son, a daughter, and three brothers, Simon, the former U. S. Senator from Colorado; William, an author and scientist, and Solomon. Daniel, a brother who died in 1930, was succeeded in the firm by his son, Harry, the former ambassador to Cuba.

Another nephew of Murry Guggenheim, George Denver Guggenheim, shot and killed himself here last week.

Mass Meeting Held To Assail Chrysler By CIO Unionists

Detroit, Nov. 15 (AP)—CIO unionists staged a mass meeting in downtown Detroit today as a prediction was made that their contract dispute with Chrysler corporation, now reported in its final stages, would continue for another week.

James F. Dewey, United States labor department conciliator, who has been aiding in negotiations between Chrysler officials and leaders of the CIO United Automobile Workers, said:

"We ought to get somewhere on a settlement in the next five or six days."

A crowd estimated by police at from 15,000 to 20,000 and by UAW-CIO officers at 40,000 assembled late today in Cadillac Square, scene of previous union rallies, to hear CIO leaders assail Chrysler corporation's stand in the dispute that has made nearly 100,000 workers idle.

R. J. Thomas, UAW-CIO president, accused the corporation of responsibility for what he termed "an inspired back-to-work move."

Following a call yesterday by Homer Martin, president of the AFL division of the UAW, for his members to report at the Plymouth plant today to show they are ready to work, approximately 650 workers appeared this morning and remained in the plant an hour. The plant normally employes 10,000.

A corporation spokesman said that when employes are called back to work by the management they are paid but added that in this case the company did not summon the men and so they were not being paid.

Martin said their action would support their claims to unemployment benefits. The Michigan unemployment compensation commission ruled recently that none of the 58,000 Chrysler employes who are idle are eligible for benefits.

University Assets Gain By $6,193,060

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15. (AP) —The University of Michigan disclosed today that its assets for the year ending June 30 had increased $6,193,060 to $75,741,702.

The new assets included newly constructed buildings and real estate purchased.

Income of the university for the year was listed at $10,022,028 with operating expenditures totalling $10,004,908.

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

German reports of sharp minor actions on the West front which ousted French poilus from hilltop lookout positions aroused military interest because of the potential importance of the scene of operations.

A vital sector of the Franco-German frontier from a military standpoint, the Bitche - Lauterbourg-Strasbourg salient, is involved in these brief flurries of fighting southwest of Pirmasens on an otherwise slumbering battle front.

Sparring for Position

That front runs from Switzerland to Luxemburg, 200 miles or more. It forms a huge salient thrust into the flank of post-World war Germany by allied map makers. And the Bitche-Lauterbourg-Strasbourg, tip of that salient, is the most sensitive sector of the 1939 war battle line as long as Belgian neutrality masks its North sea flank.

There is nothing about the report attacks and counter attacks by small units to suggest that they are more than tactical sparring for possession of these observation and fire control high points of the terrain. From these points intensified harrassing fire, grooved by visual observation rather than fire-map co-ordination, can be directed against road junctions behind the lines.

A ceaseless winter-long succession of such skirmishes is to be anticipated, even if both sides are now merely digging in for the winter, as neutral military opinion believes. Yet if a major attack is to come next year by either side along the line of the Franco-German frontier, it is virtually certain that it must come with the Bitche - Lauterbourg - Strasbourg salient as its center of gravity, its vital sector.

Designed By French

That salient thrusts its way through the great potential gateway afforded by the long gap between the Hardt mountains on the German side and the Vosges mountains on the French. Even to non-military eyes, a glance at the map reveals it for what it is, a design of French military strategists who dominated the World-war peace table to keep a gun at Germany's head even after the allies released the protective Rhine bridgeheads which they had occupied to enforce the peace terms.

Nazi German realization that this salient, around which virtually the only military action of the new war has turned, is aimed at the industrial heart of the fatherland is sharply emphasized by the depth of "westwall" defenses about it.

Its right flank rests along the Rhine, with outer works of the rival Maginot and Siegfried lines in sight of each other in spots. Its left and more vulnerable flank, from Lauterbourg to Bitche, is fitted to terrain contours like a tailor-made suit, but with a wide no-man's land, studded with foothills that spring up a thousand feet or more, between the French and German advance positions.

Pirmasens, on the German side, lies in a hill pocket with such high ground all about it. Virtually all the made roads and single track railways that are the supply life lines for the light troops and guns in front of that sector of the Siegfried line itself, center in the town. It is a natual target for allied bombardment.

Bitche on the French side is a similar rail and road center feeding the forces that hold the salient. It also is fronted along the frontier and beyond, over the line in Germany, with numerous hilltop positions in that virtual no-man's land. It is over possession of these hill-top lookouts that the only land battles of the new war since the German conquest of Poland have been fought.

Those operations now are almost certainly viewed by both German and French general staffs as merely efforts to ease the position of their own troops and add to the strain on enemy morale by harassing gun-fire through a winter of probably inaction in any major sense. Yet the first real symptoms of an attempted break-through by either side next spring or summer to force a military decision of the war will be heralded by just such skirmishes, involving larger forces, if judgment of neutral observers is sound.

A die-hard effort to take or retain any of these minute dots on the map by either side would come as a certain harbinger of such an offensive; but there is no sign of that yet.

Frances' voluntary surrender of the jump-off positions on German soil around the edges of the Saar basin or around the Bitche-Lauterbourg - Strasbourg salient was a key to allied preparations for a winter of military stalemate on the West front. Their retention against any determined German effort to retake them was not worth the price in blood, obviously.

Nor are the various heights southwest of Pirmasens worth enough to the French at this stage, apparently, to risk major forces. That will come only when the opening of a real German effort to pinch off the salent can be detected, or when allied strategy calls for an onslaught on the Siegfried line.

Famous Trowel Used

The address concluded, Mr. Roosevelt stepped over to the huge shiny marble cornerstone, which hung suspended over its position by one of the derricks.

"I'm afraid I'm going to be sloppy with the mortar," he said to his attendants and members of the commission in charge of the memorial, who stood nearby.

The trowel which George Washington used to lay the cornerstone of the capitol was handed to him. He turned it in his hands, studying it and remarked that it was "a lovely little trowel."

Inside the stone was placed a box containing copies of the Declaration of Independence, and other things of which Jefferson was the author.

A deep controversy attended the selection of the site for the memorial, since some feared it involved the destruction of many of the famous cherry trees which rim the tidal basin. The dispute was settled when the president said that while 83 trees would be uprooted, 912 new ones would be planted.

Racing News Cuts Off All Bookmakers

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP)—Bookmakers in all sections of the nation were cut off M. L. Annenberg's vast racing news network tonight.

The personnel of the nationwide news service, which for years had transmitted race entries, odds, running accounts, results and payoff prices from tracks to thousands of betting rooms, was instructed to cease operations after the final flash on the final race of the day had been dispatched over the farflung wires of the system.

Abandonment of the business was ordered by Annenberg, dominant figure in the turf information empire, because of government opposition.

Hammond Chaffetz, one of his attorneys, reported officials of the concern had been told to stop sending racing data at the close of the day's traffic and that the Western Union and the American Telephone and Telegraph company had been notified that their facilities would not be needed after tomorrow noon.

He estimated that not more than 500 employes of nationwide news would be affected by the stoppage.

ANTI-GAMBLING MAYOR IS SLAIN

Fusillade of Gunshots Greets Reformer At Long Beach, N. Y.

Long Beach, N. Y., Nov. 15. (AP)—Death in a fusillade of five gunshots today ended the anti-gambling crusade of Louis F. Edwards, 40, reform mayor of this seaside resort on the south shore of Long Island.

His bodyguard, Police Sergeant James Walsh, was perhaps fatally wounded before he could draw his gun.

A stray bullet also nipped the hand of a passing postman, Fred Schratweiser.

The shooting took place in front of the mayor's home as he was leaving for his office.

A few minutes later, a figure with bloodshot eyes lurched into the Long Beach police station, slammed a revolver on the desk and shouted:

"I killed the mayor!"

The slayer, according to police, was Patrolman Alvin Dooley, 45, father of four children, who was recently demoted from the Long Beach motorcycle police squad and who was defeated last week by the wounded Sergeant Walsh in an election for president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent association.

Officials said Mayor Edwards supported Walsh for the post which Dooley formerly held.

Dooley was charged with homicide and taken to the jail at nearby Mineola as a crowd of 1,000 milled outside the local police station raising cries of "Lynch him!"

Courtroom Fugitive Held At Mishawaka For Michigan Trial

Lansing, Nov. 15 (AP) — The Ingham county sheriff's department today prepared extradition proceedings to obtain the return of Guy Vander West, 35, of Grand Rapids, who was accused of escapingfrom a courtroom here Monday and fleeing to Mishawaka, Ind.

Deputy Sheriff Jerry Allen said Vander West had been captured in a Mishawaka hotel, but refused to waive extradition to Michigan. He said a chance remark dropped by Vander West's parents led to the recapture.

In addition to the charge of contempt of court which had faced him when he escaped, Vander West today also was charged with resisting an officer. A warrant accused him of resisting Court Officer Arthur Kissee. The contempt charge was based on a nonsupport case.

Vander West's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Vander West, of Muskegon, are at liberty on $1,000 bonds awaiting examination on charges of assisting in the escape.

Holdups Admitted By Saginaw Youths With Guns In Car

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Two Saginaw youths were held on robbery armed charges tonight by police after being apprehended in an automobile carrying three revolvers, two rifles and 2,000 rounds of ammunition. While the pair was being questioned by a police radio car crew, the report of a gasoline station holdup was picked up and the officers said the youths admitted the crime.

The two held are Julius Wascavage, 18, and William Sauver, 20. Sauver also confessed looting a safe of $650 on October 31 at the offices of the Associated Truck Line, officers said.

The guns and ammunition came from the Breen Hardware at Bay City, police said.

New Constitution Planned For Cuba

Havana, Nov. 15 (AP)—Cubans today elected 76 members of a constituent assembly which will meet December 15 to begin drafting a new constitution to replace that drawn up 11 years ago by former President Gerardo Machado.

The election passed quietly and police, army and marine detachments on duty in cities and rural areas found little to do.

The polls closed at 3 p. m. and the slow process of vote-counting started immediately. It will be two or three days before the final results will be determined.

Eduardo Chibas, Cuban Revolutionary party candidate who was shot yesterday by unidentified assailants, was reported improving. His party is opposed to the present regime, headed by Colonel Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's strong man.

New Finance System Recommended For Northern Michigan Episcopal Diocese

Negaunee, Mich., Nov. 15. (AP)—After they had elected the Rt. Rev. Herman Page, of Detroit, provisional bishop of the Diocese of Northern Michigan, 44 delegates attending the reconvened diocesan convention here today adopted, by unanimous vote, the report of a ways and means committee which recommended a new diocesan finance system under which all funds will be handled by a finance committee of five members elected by and responsible to the convention.

Under the old set-up some of the funds were under the control of the diocesan department of finance, some under the control of the bishop and some held by a trust association. Under the new plan the trust association and department of finance will be dissolved and no funds will be controlled by the bishop.

In order to effect this change it will be necessary to amend some of the diocesan canons and this matter was turned over to the committee on canons with instructions to report at the next diocesan convention, which will be held in May or June.

In behalf of the trust association of the diocese, S. R. Elliott, of Ishpeming, one of the trustees, made an informal report in which he denied that the trustees had any personal responsibility for shortages discovered in assets of the association.

Elliott's report, regarded as an answer to the civil suit brought against the trustees by St. James' church parish, of Sault Ste. Marie, in which that parish demands an accounting and restitution of approximately $76,000 found to be missing from the Episcopal endowment fund after the death, last January, of A. E. Miller, secretary-treasurer of the fund for 30 years, was presented to the convention in executive session.

Elliott stated that none of the trustees had the slightest knowledge that there were any defalcations or anything out of order until January 30, 1939, when the former Bishop Hayward S. Ablewhite, now serving time in prison for his part in the embezzlements, attended a meeting of the trust association, of which he was president, and read a statement telling of a confession made by Miller relatives to the theft of certain funds.

Elliott pointed out that it appeared that Miller had covered, by payments out of his own pocket, all the income that would have accrued from the securities over all the years they were missing. For this season, he said, there was no reason for the trustees to suspect that the securities did not exist.

In substance, Elliott's report contended:

That bonds stolen from the Episcopal endowment fund were taken before 1925 and that only a small part of the embezzling occurred during the period of service of the present trustees.

That false statements presented to the trustees by Miller and Bishop Ablewhite, and Miller's "covering-up" by producing from his own pocket the amounts of money the stolen securities would have earned, prevented the trustees from suspecting or discovering that anything was wrong.

That after the embezzlement was discovered they started an investigation as promptly as possible, and that the investigation could not be completed sooner than it was because of the unusual complications encountered (loss of records by fire).

ILLNESS FATAL TO GUGGENHEIM

Metal Expert of Mine and Smelting Firm Dies At 81

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Murry Guggenheim, 81, partner in the Guggenheim brothers mining and smelting film and a leading philanthropodist, died after a short illness today in his Fifth Avenue home.

One of seven sons of the late Meyer Guggenheim of Philadelphia, who turned from importing embroidery and lace to found a fortune in western mining ventures, Murry was credited with being the expert of the family on the metal markets.

When these interests were merged in the American smelting and Refining company in 1901, he headed the finance committee and later the sales department.

His philanthropies included donations of millions of dollars to Mount Sinai hospital in New York, establishment of a free dental clinic here, a students' dormitory in Paris, greenhouses in the Bronx Botonical Gardens and the financing of free band concerts here.

He is survived by his widow, a son, a daughter, and three brothers, Simon, the former U. S. Senator from Colorado; William, an author and scientist, and Solomon. Daniel, a brother who died in 1930, was succeeded in the firm by his son, Harry, the former ambassador to Cuba.

Another nephew of Murry Guggenheim, George Denver Guggenheim, shot and killed himself here last week.

Mass Meeting Held To Assail Chrysler By CIO Unionists

Detroit, Nov. 15 (AP)—CIO unionists staged a mass meeting in downtown Detroit today as a prediction was made that their contract dispute with Chrysler corporation, now reported in its final stages, would continue for another week.

James F. Dewey, United States labor department conciliator, who has been aiding in negotiations between Chrysler officials and leaders of the CIO United Automobile Workers, said:

"We ought to get somewhere on a settlement in the next five or six days."

A crowd estimated by police at from 15,000 to 20,000 and by UAW-CIO officers at 40,000 assembled late today in Cadillac Square, scene of previous union rallies, to hear CIO leaders assail Chrysler corporation's stand in the dispute that has made nearly 100,000 workers idle.

R. J. Thomas, UAW-CIO president, accused the corporation of responsibility for what he termed "an inspired back-to-work move."

Following a call yesterday by Homer Martin, president of the AFL division of the UAW, for his members to report at the Plymouth plant today to show they are ready to work, approximately 650 workers appeared this morning and remained in the plant an hour. The plant normally employes 10,000.

A corporation spokesman said that when employes are called back to work by the management they are paid but added that in this case the company did not summon the men and so they were not being paid.

Martin said their action would support their claims to unemployment benefits. The Michigan unemployment compensation commission ruled recently that none of the 58,000 Chrysler employes who are idle are eligible for benefits.

University Assets Gain By $6,193,060

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15. (AP)—The University of Michigan disclosed today that its assets for the year ending June 30 had increased $6,193,060 to $75,741,702.

The new assets included newly constructed buildings and real estate purchased.

Income of the university for the year was listed at $10,022,028 with operating expenditures totalling $10,004,908.

ATTACK AIMED AT FINLAND IN SOVIET PRESS

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

German reports of sharp minor actions on the West front which ousted French poilus from hilltop lookout positions aroused military interest because of the potential importance of the scene of operations.

A vital sector of the Franco-German frontier from a military standpoint, the Bitche-Lauterbourg-Strasbourg salient, is involved in these brief flurries of fighting southwest of Pirmasens on an otherwise slumbering battle front.

Sparring for Position

That front runs from Switzerland to Luxembourg, 200 miles or more. It forms a huge salient thrust into the flank of post-World war Germany by allied map makers. And the Bitche-Lauterbourg-Strasbourg, tip of that salient, is the most sensitive sector of the 1939 war battle line as long as Belgian neutrality masks its North sea flank.

There is nothing about the report attacks and counter attacks by small units to suggest that they are more than tactical sparring for possession of these observation and fire control high points of the terrain. From these points intensified harrassing fire, grooved by visual observation rather than fire-map co-ordination, can be directed against road junctions behind the lines.

A ceaseless winter-long succession of such skirmishes is to be anticipated, even if both sides are now merely digging in for the winter, as neutral military opinion believes. Yet if a major attack is to come next year by either side along the line of the Franco-German frontier, it is virtually certain that it must come with the Bitche - Lauterbourg - Strasbourg salient as its center of gravity, its vital sector.

Designed By French

That salient thrusts its way through the great potential gateway afforded by the long gap between the Hardt mountains on the German side and the Vosges mountains on the French. Even to non-military eyes, a glance at the map reveals it for what it is, a design of French military strategists who dominated the World-war peace table to keep a gun at Germany's head even after the allies released the protective Rhine bridgeheads which they had occupied to enforce the peace terms.

Nazi German realization that this salient, around which virtually the only military action of the new war has turned, is aimed at the industrial heart of the fatherland is sharply emphasized by the depth of "westwall" defenses about it.

Its right flank rests along the Rhine, with outer works of the rival Maginot and Siegfried lines in sight of each other in spots. Its left and more vulnerable flank, from Lauterbourg to Bitche, is fitted to terrain contours like a tailor-made suit, but with a wide no-man's land, studded with foothills that spring up a thousand feet or more, between the French and German advance positions.

Piramasens, on the German side, lies in a hill pocket with such high ground all about it. Virtually all the made roads and single track railways that are the supply life lines for the light troops and guns in front of that sector of the Siegfried line itself, center in the town. It is a natual target for allied bombardment.

Bitche on the French side is a similar rail and road center feeding the forces that hold the salient. It also is fronted along the frontier and beyond, over the line in Germany, with numerous hilltop positions in that virtual noman's land. It is over possession of these hill-top lookouts that the only land battles of the new war since the German conquest of Poland have been fought.

Those operations now are almost certainly viewed by both German and French general staffs as merely efforts to ease the position of their own troops and add to the strain on enemy morale by harassing gun-fire through a winter of probably inaction in any major sense. Yet the first real symptoms of an attempted break-through by either side next spring or summer to force a military decision of the war will be heralded by just such skirmishes, involving larger forces, if judgment of neutral observers is sound.

A die-hard effort to take or retain any of these minute dots on the map by either side would come as a certain harbinger of such an offensive; but there is no sign of that yet.

Frances' voluntary surrender of the jump-off positions on German soil around the edges of the Saar basin or around the Bitche-Lauterbourg - Strasbourg salient was a key to allied preparations for a winter of military stalemate on the West front. Their retention against any determined German effort to retake them was not worth the price in blood, obviously.

Nor are the various heights southwest of Pirmasens worth enough to the French at this stage, apparently, to risk major forces. That will come only when the opening of a real German effort to pinch off the salent can be detected, or when allied strategy calls for an onslaught on the Siegfried line.

WARM WEATHER HURTS NIMRODS

Several Hunters Report Kills; Violators Are Arrested

Mild autumn weather with no snow was anything but a pleasing prospect to one of the largest armies of deer hunters in the Upper Peninsula history on the opening day of season yesterday. In spite of that fact, however, many persons reported filling their licenses.

Lack of snow hinders hunters from tracking the elusive deer while warm weather is anything but conducive to keeping the meat in good condi[illegible] once it is dressed.

Forest service officials reported several deer being checked through the station at the Whitefish hill near Rapid River and several persons reported filling their licenses.

Conservation officers said sale of licenses indicated an unusually large number of hunters in the woods this year.

Conservation department officials continued their drive on game law violators, hailing four men into court. Warner Palmquist of Gladstone paid a fine of $25 and court costs of $9.50 when he pleaded guilty in Justice Alger Strom's court in Gladstone to a charge of carrying a gun in game area without a permit. He was arrested by Officers Allan Tweedy and Oscar Sundquist.

Trio Arrested

Paul F. Happ of Waucedah was sentenced to 50 days in jail and Mike Falk and William Sieman of Menominee assessed fines of $50 and costs of $6.85 when pleaded guilty in Justice Hector Landerville's court in Hermansville on a charge of carrying a loaded rifle in deer area before season. They were arrested by Officers John Shemky and Charles Koehn.

Lester Gascon of Wells is one of the first hunters to fill his license this season. Mr. Gascon brought down a 200 pound buck Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, the opening day of season, in the Mashek Branch district.

Felix Mattson and Edwin Anderson of North Escanaba were back home at noon yesterday, with their deer hunting licenses filled. They went hunting in the vicinity of the Laing camp on the Haymeadow and each shot a large sized buck before 9 a. m.

Drilling For Oil In Mackinac Co.

A prominent downstate oil operator has resumed drilling activities near Gilchrist, Mackinac county, and is putting down the second well in that vicinity in the search for petroleum.

A well drilled two years ago on lands owned by the Hiawatha Sportsmen's club of Lansing and Engadine showed favorable indications, but oil or gas was not secured in commercial quantities. The new drilling is expected to be completed this month to a depth of about 1,400 feet, at which point it is hoped that a flow of oil can be secured.

According to researches by the geological division of the Michigan Department of Conservation, the possible oil belt in the Upper Peninsula extends from Drummond Island, Chippewa county, through Mackinac and Schoolcraft counties into Delta county. There are numerous outcrops of limestone on this "back-bone" of the eastern Upper Peninsula, and at other points the limestone is known to exist at comparatively slight depth. Hot Lunch Garden

A co-operative project, financed by the School Board, and undertaken by pupils of the Agriculture Class of High School under the supervision of Albert Tatrow, recreational director and Mrs. John Valiquette was very successful despite the poor season. A garden spot, donated by Philip Chandanois, worked by Albert Tatrow, and another at Kate's Bay on the farm of Senator James Dotsch, tended by Mrs. John Valiquette, produced many vegetables which are being used for the hot lunches served to bus students, during the school year. The produce included 55 bu. potatoes, 23 bu. carrots, 20 bu. beets, 9 bu. string beans, 12 bu. ripe tomatoes; and 5 bu. rutabagas. These were harvested by the help of the students and taken to the hotlunch kitchen in the Town Hall and canned by Mrs. Mary McPhee and Mrs. John Valiquette. The shelves show 76 qts. string beans, 40 qts. beets, 96 qts. carrots, 250 qts. tomatoes and 55 of cucumber pickles. Fred Beaudre loaned a tractor and potato digger and Albert Tatrow his team of horses. The school board paid for the plowing, dragging and seeding. 15 boys helped Albert Tatrow harvest the patch of potatoes near his home and both boys and girls helped in the Kate's Bay patch.

Everyone concerned is happy about the venture, especially as they observe the evident enpoyment of the pupils as they stow away the delicious hot soups prepared by Mrs. Mc Phee and Mrs. Valiquette.

Vacation School Is Highly Praised By Anne Campbell

BY EDRIE VAN DORE

Detroit, Mich.—"The discovery and encouragement of local talent is one of the most important and interesting developments of the Nahma Vacation School, I think," state Anne Campbell, Detroit News poet, during an interview at her home in Detroit by a correspondent of the Escanaba Press.

"For instance I had in my class one girl named Clara Laidlaw whom I considered brilliant. She brought me some very fine work, quite equal to much of the poetry being published now in newspapers and magazines. It seems to me that the local newspaper ought to encourage and develop a poet like that in addition to running its syndicated verses. Such recognition would mean a great deal to a young poet, and the paper too ought to gain from an innovation of this sort. I think that more people like and read poetry than newspapers editors realize. And a community ought to be proud of its own writers.

"Of course such a talent is not wasted, even if it never finds its way into print. I made that a point in my class. Writing poetry can be a personal delight, an absorbing hobby. It can give charm and color to one's life. It doesn't need to be and except in cases of real genius it cannot be, all of life. But even a smaller gift can make life more interesting.

"Living does come first, I think." Anne Campbell paused, and the room about us spoke eloquently of living. The friendly dog stretched asleep on the rug, the fireplace, the open piano, books that looked read, magazines, flowers. A home room. The telephone ringing in the hall, young people in and out. As anyone might guess from her work, Anne Campbell is a mother—two sons and a daughter supply in her home the note of youth so often felt in her verses.

"Without living there can be no real poetry or art of any kind. We know that some of the world's greatest music and poetry comes in spite of great personal tragedy or poverty."

Writing As a Career

We asked a question. "Would you encourage young people to try to make a living at writing?"

"No, I would not," answered Anne Campbell without hesitation. "It should be only an avocation. Unless of course the person has so much ability that he is a real genius—and then nothing will stop him." We suggested Robert Frost. "Now there is a real poet!" she flashed warmly. "Sacrifice and hardship are worthwhile when they can produce work like his, but for many young people who dream of being great musicians and artists, life becomes only a disappointment. I believe that we should realize our ability, use it for all its worth in its own place, and be happy. There is a place for every degree of work.

"Newspaper work, for instance, is based on life, common experiences. It must be understood by people who read the newspapers. Newspaper poets emphasize life rather than art, they are newspaper reporters in verse."

Likes Upper Peninsula

What about the Nahma Vacation School as a whole, we asked—did she think it sucessful?

"Oh, yes! It is a fine way to spend a vacation and enlarge the scope of a hobby or learn more about something you're interested in, at the same time. It means meeting new people and sharing your ideas. It's valuable to the people who come there as well as to those living in that part of the country. We liked the people we met—Upper Peninsula folks are real and unaffected and hearty. And of course the country is beautiful. We drove up along Lake Superior, saw the Pictured Rocks and sand dunes. At the school we swam and walked when there weren't classes. We enjoyed the young people too—many of the people enrolled in the school were young, and enthusiastic. I think the young people today are perfectly grand anyway—they are intelligent and realistic and sensible."

Other instructors on the Vacation School staff were warmly praised by the poet. "Mr. De-Vries, from Poetry magazine in Chicago, gave some fine talks on poetic appreciation, which I did not touch," she remarked, "and Frank Bunce gave some practical advice on writing. I was especially interested in the artist, Mr. Thomas, who also gave practical suggestions on how to work comfortably, fix canvases, mix paints, and so forth. There are people up north who want to paint and who can paint but who need direction and lessons in technique, and the contact with other artists. Such an experience as this means everything to them, and they are so enthusiastic, so willing to work! Many people did come from the neighborhood, so to speak, and that makes the school especially valuable, for they are people who would not otherwise get, perhaps, what the school has to offer. Yet the standards are high enough and the speakers authoritative enough for anyone who wants to come."

It is fun to talk with Anne Campbell, and it must be fun too for her class at the school to share her thoughts on the writing of poetry. We were reluctant to leave, though the autumn dusk, that peculiarly mellow dusk found only on quiet city streets, was beginning to fall. It wasn't much of a formal interview, we reflected ruefully after the lady of the house had taken us to the door and said goodbye with a request to come again. We'd had too good a time, and we'd talked as much as she had about poetry and living and children. But then, that's Anne Campbell, and her ability to turn an interview around the other way is a talent shared by that other poet she admires so much. Robert Frost likes to do it too, as we know well. Perhaps they are not so far apart as they would seem to some who know only one or the other, but not both.

Polk's Directory Being Distributed

Polk's 1939 Escanaba and Gladstone city directory, estimating a new high for Escanaba's population and containing one entirely new feature, is now off the press and being delivered to subscribers.

The directory is a handy volume of 383 pages listing 11,656 names in Escanaba, Gladstone, Wells, Nahma and Rapid River. Eighteen was continued as the minimum listing age.

On the basis of the number of names listed in the Escanaba section of the directory, the publishers estimate the present total population of the city at 15,839, which compares with their estimate of 15,264 in 1937.

In the street (pink) section of the directory the publishers have inaugurated a symbol to designate homes and places of business having telephone connection. No doubt this innovation will prove very convenient for directory users.

The combined classified of the new directory reveals this as a diversified community having 247 different groups of commercial, industrial and professional enterprises, catalogued from "abstracts of title" to "wood dealers."

Special features of the directory are the designation of tenant-owned homes, rosters of government officials, and a story of Escanaba.

There will be the customary distribution of the latest Escanaba and Gladstone city directory to the free-reference directory libraries of other cities, the publishers announced. R. L. Polk & Co. maintain a branch of the directory libraries, with late outside directories on file for public reference, at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Andy Aatrow and Erwin F. Zuehlke are first and last on the Escanaba roll-call. Johnson is much the largest "family," occupying four full pages in the directory. Following are the Andersons, with two and a half pages, and the Olsons, Petersons, Nelsons, Carlsons and Ericksons, with two pages each.

DRIVER INJURED IN HEAVY FOG

Dave Wiltsie Has Lacerated Scalp After Truck Crashes

Dave Wiltsie of Escanaba R-1, was reported recovering satisfactorily last night at St. Francis hospital from severe laceration of the scalp and other injuries sustained when the panel truck he was driving overturned in a dense fog at Twenty Third street and Lake Shore Drive at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Paul LaPorte of 2318 Ludington street, his companion, suffered a cut over one eye as the truck struck the curb of the V-parkway at the intersection, careened and overturned, coming to a stop on its roof.

A passing taxicab took the injured man to the hospital. Besides the scalp wound, he suffered a burned knee and bruises.

Police received two other reports of accidents in the fog and the sheriff's office had one, but no one was hurt. A Mr. Lee of 806 South Fourteenth street, reported that his car was struck while it was parked at 613 South Tenth street by a large dark colored car which did not stop and Henry Gustafson of Perkins told police that his car and one driven by Robert T. Hanley sideswiped on Third avenue north near Stephenson avenue.

"Rented the first day" said Smith. Try a For Rent Ad today.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

WARM WEATHER HURTS NIMRODS

Several Hunters Report Kills; Violators Are Arrested

Mild autumn weather with no snow was anything but a pleasing prospect to one of the largest armies of deer hunters in the Upper Peninsula history on the opening day of season yesterday. In spite of that fact, however, many persons reported filling their licenses.

Lack of snow hinders hunters from tracking the elusive deer while warm weather is anything but conducive to keeping the meat in good condi[illegible] once it is dressed.

Forest service officials reported several deer being checked through the station at the Whitefish hill near Rapid River and several persons reported filling their licenses.

Conservation officers said sale of licenses indicated an unusually large number of hunters in the woods this year.

Conservation department officials continued their drive on game law violators, hailing four men into court. Warner Palmquist of Gladstone paid a fine of $25 and court costs of $9.50 when he pleaded guilty in Justice Alger Strom's court in Gladstone to a charge of carrying a gun in game area without a permit. He was arrested by Officers Allan Tweedy and Oscar Sundquist.

Trio Arrested

Paul F. Happ of Waucedah was sentenced to 50 days in jail and Mike Falk and William Sieman of Menominee assessed fines of $50 and costs of $6.85 when pleaded guilty in Justice Hector Landerville's court in Hermansville on a charge of carrying a loaded rifle in deer area before season. They were arrested by Officers John Shemky and Charles Koehn.

Lester Gascon of Wells is one of the first hunters to fill his license this season. Mr. Gascon brought down a 200 pound buck Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, the opening day of season, in the Mashek Branch district.

Felix Mattson and Edwin Anderson of North Escanaba were back home at noon yesterday, with their deer hunting licenses filled. They went hunting in the vicinity of the Laing camp on the Haymeadow and each shot a large sized buck before 9 a. m.

Drilling For Oil In Mackinac Co.

A prominent downstate oil operator has resumed drilling activities near Gilchrist, Mackinac county, and is putting down the second well in that vicinity in the search for petroleum.

A well drilled two years ago on lands owned by the Hiawatha Sportsmen's club of Lansing and Engadine showed favorable indications, but oil or gas was not secured in commercial quantities. The new drilling is expected to be completed this month to a depth of about 1,400 feet, at which point it is hoped that a flow of oil can be secured.

According to researches by the geological division of the Michigan Department of Conservation, the possible oil belt in the Upper Peninsula extends from Drummond Island, Chippewa county, through Mackinac and Schoolcraft counties into Delta county. There are numerous outcrops of limestone on this "back-bone" of the eastern Upper Peninsula, and at other points the limestone is known to exist at comparatively slight depth. Vacation School Is Highly Praised By Anne Campbell

Detroit, Mich.—"The discovery and encouragement of local talent is one of the most important and interesting developments of the Nahma Vacation School, I think," state Anne Campbell, Detroit News poet, during an interview at her home in Detroit by a correspondent of the Escanaba Press.

"For instance I had in my class one girl named Clara Laidlaw whom I considered brilliant. She brought me some very fine work, quite equal to much of the poetry being published now in newspapers and magazines. It seems to me that the local newspaper ought to encourage and develop a poet like that in addition to running its syndicated verses. Such recognition would mean a great deal to a young poet, and the paper too ought to gain from an innovation of this sort. I think that more people like and read poetry than newspapers editors realize. And a community ought to be proud of its own writers.

"Of course such a talent is not wasted, even if it never finds its way into print. I made that a point in my class. Writing poetry can be a personal delight, an absorbing hobby. It can give charm and color to one's life. It doesn't need to be and except in cases of real genius it cannot be, all of life. But even a smaller gift can make life more interesting.

"Living does come first, I think." Anne Campbell paused, and the room about us spoke eloquently of living. The friendly dog stretched asleep on the rug, the fireplace, the open piano, books that looked read, magazines, flowers. A home room. The telephone ringing in the hall, young people in and out. As anyone might guess from her work, Anne Campbell is a mother—two sons and a daughter supply in her home the note of youth so often felt in her verses.

"Without living there can be no real poetry or art of any kind. We know that some of the world's greatest music and poetry comes in spite of great personal tragedy or poverty."

Writing As a Career

We asked a question. "Would you encourage young people to try to make a living at writing?"

"No, I would not," answered Anne Campbell without hesitation. "It should be only an avocation. Unless of course the person has so much ability that he is a real genius—and then nothing will stop him." We suggested Robert Frost. "Now there is a real poet!" she flashed warmly. "Sacrifice and hardship are worthwhile when they can produce work like his, but for many young people who dream of being great musicians and artists, life becomes only a disappointment. I believe that we should realize our ability, use it for all its worth in its own place, and be happy. There is a place for every degree of work.

"Newspaper work, for instance, is based on life, common experiences. It must be understood by people who read the newspapers. Newspaper poets emphasize life rather than art, they are newspaper reporters in verse."

Likes Upper Peninsula

What about the Nahma Vacation School as a whole, we asked—did she think it sucessful?

"Oh, yes! It is a fine way to spend a vacation and enlarge the scope of a hobby or learn more about something you're interested in, at the same time. It means meeting new people and sharing your ideas. It's valuable to the people who come there as well as to those living in that part of the country. We liked the people we met—Upper Peninsula folks are real and unaffected and hearty. And of course the country is beautiful. We drove up along Lake Superior, saw the Pictured Rocks and sand dunes. At the school we swam and walked when there weren't classes. We enjoyed the young people too—many of the people enrolled in the school were young, and enthusiastic. I think the young people today are perfectly grand anyway—they are intelligent and realistic and sensible."

Other instructors on the Vacation School staff were warmly praised by the poet. "Mr. DeVries, from Poetry magazine in Chicago, gave some fine talks on poetic appreciation, which I did not touch," she remarked, "and Frank Bunce gave some practical advice on writing. I was especially interested in the artist, Mr. Thomas, who also gave practical suggestions on how to work comfortably, fix canvases, mix paints, and so forth. There are people up north who want to paint and who can paint but who need direction and lessons in technique, and the contact with other artists. Such an experience as this means everything to them, and they are so enthusiastic, so willing to work! Many people did come from the neighborhood, so to speak, and that makes the school especially valuable, for they are people who would not otherwise get, perhaps, what the school has to offer. Yet the standards are high enough and the speakers authoritative enough for anyone who wants to come."

It is fun to talk with Anne Campbell, and it must be fun too for her class at the school to share her thoughts on the writing of poetry. We were reluctant to leave, though the autumn dusk, that peculiarly mellow dusk found only on quiet city streets, was beginning to fall. It wasn't much of a formal interview, we reflected ruefully after the lady of the house had taken us to the door and said goodbye with a request to come again. We'd had too good a time, and we'd talked as much as she had about poetry and living and children. But then, that's Anne Campbell, and her ability to turn an interview around the other way is a talent shared by that other poet she admires so much. Robert Frost likes to do it too, as we know well. Perhaps they are not so far apart as they would seem to some who know only one or the other, but not both.

Polk's Directory Being Distributed

Polk's 1939 Escanaba and Gladstone city directory, estimating a new high for Escanaba's population and containing one entirely new feature, is now off the press and being delivered to subscribers.

The directory is a handy volume of 383 pages listing 11,656 names in Escanaba, Gladstone, Wells, Nahma and Rapid River. Eighteen was continued as the minimum listing age.

On the basis of the number of names listed in the Escanaba section of the directory, the publishers estimate the present total population of the city at 15,839, which compares with their estimate of 15,264 in 1937.

In the street (pink) section of the directory the publishers have inaugurated a symbol to designate homes and places of business having telephone connection. No doubt this innovation will prove very convenient for directory users.

The combined classified of the new directory reveals this as a diversified community having 247 different groups of commercial, industrial and professional enterprises, catalogued from "abstracts of title" to "wood dealers."

Special features of the directory are the designation of tenant-owned homes, rosters of government officials, and a story of Escanaba.

There will be the customary distribution of the latest Escanaba and Gladstone city directory to the free-reference directory libraries of other cities, the publishers announced. R. L. Polk & Co. maintain a branch of the directory libraries, with late outside directories on file for public reference, at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Andy Aatrow and Erwin F. Zuehlke are first and last on the Escanaba roll-call. Johnson is much the largest "family," occupying four full pages in the directory. Following are the Andersons, with two and a half pages, and the Olsons, Petersons, Nelsons, Carlsons and Ericksons, with two pages each.

DRIVER INJURED IN HEAVY FOG

Dave Wiltsie Has Lacerated Scalp After Truck Crashes

Dave Wiltsie of Escanaba R-1, was reported recovering satisfactorily last night at St. Francis hospital from severe laceration of the scalp and other injuries sustained when the panel truck he was driving overturned in a dense fog at Twenty Third street and Lake Shore Drive at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Paul LaPorte of 2318 Ludington street, his companion, suffered a cut over one eye as the truck struck the curb of the V-parkway at the intersection, careened and overturned, coming to a stop on its roof.

A passing taxicab took the injured man to the hospital. Besides the scalp wound, he suffered a burned knee and bruises.

Police received two other reports of accidents in the fog and the sheriff's office had one, but no one was hurt. A Mr. Lee of 806 South Fourteenth street, reported that his car was struck while it was parked at 613 South Tenth street by a large dark colored car which did not stop and Henry Gustafson of Perkins told police that his car and one driven by Robert T. Hanley sideswiped on Third avenue north near Stephenson avenue.

"Rented the first day" said Smith. Try a For Rent Ad today.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

America Self-Sufficient

AMERICA learned a lot of things from the first World War. Generally they were things that the people of this country could have learned without the terrific expense in lives and money, if they had just taken the trouble to tackle some of the war problems in peace time.

One of the things the people of this country discovered was that the United States was far more nearly self-sufficient than had been commonly believed. When trade routes were cut off in 1914 and warring nations couldn't afford to export materials they needed badly at home, the brows of industry were creased with worry lines. Many needed materials and the benefit from many valuable manufacturing secrets were rapidly becoming unavailable, and the United States looked sadly toward the day when certain industries, particularly chemicals, would have to close and the public would have to do without commodities to which they had become accustomed.

Then the laboratories got busy. They learned how to make optical equipment and they produced dyes which had suddenly become unobtainable. New chemical formulae for manufacturing processes were evolved and industry as a whole began gradually to understand that American genius was equal to the new problems.

The problems we looked at with horror in 1914 we approach today with calm self-assurance. The shock of the first World War was not quickly forgotten, and scientists have been ceexperimenting constantly since then in an effort to find new substitutes for standard processes.

It was once believed we could obtain rubber only from distant tropical places. Stoppage of this supply would have been serious enough to sprout gray hairs on the heads of all automobile executives and industrialists who need rubber for their products. But today, concern over this situation is only slight. Laboratories have produced synthetic rubber. It is not yet generally in use, and it probably has not been fully developed; but threat of a shortage of the natural product would hasten research in this field.

Minerals which this country now imports are probably lying imbedded in the rocks of America or Alaska, geologists believe. If certain ores cannot be found, scientists will probably find a way to get along without them.

Self-sufficiency is not a healthful state of affairs for the United States. Economic intercourse among the nations of the world is necessary, and the United States should share in this commerce.

But it is comforting to know that this country is not helplessly dependent on other nations to supply materials in times of emergency.

Chance to Expand

FARMERS of Delta and other counties of the Upper Peninsula are finding that it is profitable business to raise high grade potatoes, and are having little difficulty in selling their quality products to the Chicago market. A number of farmers in this county, in particular, have done well in the raising of tubers.

We have heard so much about agricultural overproduction in recent years that we are sometimes inclined to believe that it is fallacy to urge farmers of the Upper Peninsula to raise more crops. However, it has been demonstrated that those farmers who have produced more quality potatoes also have increased their incomes.

We might arrive at the conclusion, therefore, that there is money to be made in potatoes, but that our farmers must produce high quality products that will compete successfully with those being marketed by Maine, Idaho and other sections. The Upper Peninsula has the great Middle West for its near market. It offers an opportunity for developing an agricultural industry that will bring much new wealth.

The extension department of Michigan State College has been conducting educational programs for years to show farmers how to raise the right kind of potatoes. The nub of the problem is that the expansion has been too slow to satisfy even the county agents and extension specialists.

Cooperation from chambers of commerce and other agencies, it is felt, would help in developing a greater appreciation of the opportunities that are offered to Upper Peninsula communities through assistance to the agricultural industry. It is something that undoubtedly would be more certain to bring real results than a frantic search for new smokestack industries, which seldom can be found.

Waltonians to Act

LACK of uniform fishing laws and regulations between the states of Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, New York and Pennsylvania spell ruin to the future of commercial fishing on the Great Lakes, according to the Izaak Walton League of America.

While commercial fishermen are holding meetings to protest the new Wisconsin law making fishing regulations on Lake Michigan in conformity with those of Michigan, the Izaak Walton League announces it will launch a campaign to secure uniform legislation.

According to Dr. John Van Oosten of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, the wholesale seining during spawning periods in the past has reduced the stock of trout, walleye pike, perch, whitefish and other species to the danger point of extinction. He predicts that unless immediate steps are taken to restrict commercial seining on the international waters, the taking of herring will be a thing of the past.

Conservationists are greatly concerned over the Great Lakes fishing problem. Commercial fishing is an important industry, furnishing employment to many families. It is also important to the consumers for about 75 per cent of the 150 million pounds of fresh water fish used in the nation each year are produced by the fishermen on the Great Lakes.

The Izaak Walton League points out in a bulletin that selfish commercial interests have blocked the efforts to negotiate interstate compacts to uniformly regulate fishing on Great Lakes waters. It expresses the fear that if the states cannot settle their petty differences, the federal government will have to step in. The League looks upon the situation as a challenge to the advocates of states' rights.

Feeding Civil Servants

NO shoestring industry is the United States government. The management of federal affairs has become one of the largest single enterprises in the nation. Its roster of employes is larger now than it was during the emergency days of the World War.

Uncle Sam today has a staff of 939,876 men and women on his payroll. In September, this army collected $141,629,881 in salary. During the World War, the highest number of employes in the federal service at one time was 917,000. Before that, it had been around 500,000, and after the war it dropped back to that average — until New Deal centralization got going.

One out of every 40 workers in the United States is now drawing a government check, participating in all the benefits of employment security. The average federal salary is $1870, although in Washington the average runs to $2066. These are nice, comfortable figures. Whether an expenditure of more than 1½ billions a year to run the government is justified will be a matter for debate as soon as 1940 campaigners get their bearings.

Teaching the Trades

CONNECTICUT has decided to do something about its unemployment problem. Gov. Raymond E. Baldwin announced the propects of immediate jobs for those unemployed who successfully complete 200 hours of intensive training in some one of the trades.

This state, like most of the others, was faced with the problems of young men and women who have never had any experience and never held any jobs and who are today trying vainly to find work. The governor also took into consideration the fact that many older workers, out of work for months or years, may need a little brushing up. The general idea is to cut down the unemployment list by asking the jobless to go to school for a few weeks.

It is expected between 2000 and 3000 new jobs in the Hartford area alone will open by the time the first classes are ready to step out of "school." Any effort to tackle the unemployment problem is a step in the right direction and should be watched by other states with keen interest.

AROUND THE PENINSULA
(Ironwood Globe)

To avoid the embarrassing situation of having the state become the owner of its attractive beach park, Menominee sent Mayor Michael C. Olsen to Lansing to confer with state authorities. Technically, ownership of the park reverted to the state November 3 because of taxes due before the land was purchased by the city in 1932. A gentlemen's agreement was reached that the park would not be placed on sale until the difficulty could be discussed and some solution of the problem reached. More than $5,000 in taxes are due, and that's a great deal more than Mayor Olsen cares to have paid out of the city treasury at this time. Menominee, like numerous other cities, is hard pressed for funds.

"Officials have been advised that no more sewer projects in the cities of Stambaugh or Iron River will be approved unless a disposal plant is constructed." That paragraph on the end of a news story again tells how the stream control commission of Michigan is blubbing cities into the building of disposal plants. It may be a coincidence, but every time a city is served with such an ultimatum, it is immediately contacted by an engineering firm that is ready to undertake the job. A matter of $80,000 is all that stands between Stambaugh and Iron River and a jointly operated sewage disposal plan, but "all" is hardly the word for it.

A reduction in rates of $800 a month was put into effect by Escanaba's electric light plant in September, and another cut in rates is due before long if the present trend continues, says City Manager George E. Bean. He points out that revenues for September and October, in the face of the reduction were about $3,000 in excess of the revenue for the same period a year ago. This will tickle some of the municipal ownership crowds of the Peninsula who are constantly agitating for their cities to own their utility plants.

Sault Ste. Marie lost a booster for its Straits bridge the other day, but it was only natural. Capt. James H. Gallagher of Escanaba received notice of his appointment as a pilot of one of the state owned ferries at the Straits of Mackinac and has already assumed his new duties. The veteran skipper, who has sailed on the Great Lakes for 40 years, is not in favor of a bridge for purely personal reasons, of course. He can't sail a bridge.

Congressman Frank E. Hook of the twelfth Michigan district seems to be on the spot so far as residents of Kingsford are concerned. They have been whooping it up for a postoffice of their own, instead of being required to get their mail at Iron Mountain, but W. W. Howe, first assistant postmaster general, says the request has been turned down because "there have been no complaints against the present service." No complaints? inquires Claude Howard, leading advocate of the change. He points out that 400 persons petitioned for the change. Kingsford folks still look to the congressman for assistance, remembering he is one of the most loyal New Dealers in Washington and is therefore entitled to consideration, which in this instance means a postoffice for Kingsford.

• • •

Another Michigan congressman, Fred Bradley who serves the eastern part of the Peninsula, is also on the spot but in quite a different manner. He has introduced a bill to authorize the federal purchase of forest lands that fringe highways, roads and trails which are wholly or partially built with Uncle Sam's money. The Peninsula is particularly interested in a measure of this nature because of the fact it is rapidly losing much of its roadside beauty through cutting of timber. So this part of Michigan will look for Congressman Bradley to press for passage of the measure.

World Affairs Reviewed

An influx of Soviet sailors, soldiers and workers into Estonia's seaport of Tallinn, following the recent agreement between the U. S. S. R. and the smaller nation, focusses attention on the position of this important Baltic capital in the European political drama.

Tallinn is situated on the northwest shoulder of Estonia, about 70 miles from the west-coast islands of Osel and Dago, now occupied by Soviet forces, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It is a little less than twice that far from the Soviet border to the east. Between Tallinn and Leningrad, vital port of the Soviet Union, the distance is only 200 miles. By airplane ,therefore, these two key cities are about one hour apart.

—ESTONIA'S NUMBER ONE PORT—

Through Tallinn passes roughly three-quarters of all Estonia's commerce. Outgoing traffic consists largely of textiles, timber, paper, flax, potatoes, meat and dairy products. Imports,include raw cotton, sugar, coal, agricultural machinery, iron and steel.

The Unitsd Kingdom has been Estonia's best customer, with Germany not far behind. In the import field, however, Germany is well in the lead, with the United Kingdom normally second, the United States third, and Soviet Russia fourth.

Tallinn is strategically located. Guarding the southern entrance of the Gulf of Finland, it is set in an almost direct line 50 miles across from Finland's capital of Helsinki (Helsingfors).

With a deep harbor, equipped with floating docks, repairing stations, modern warehouses and electric loading machinery, the port is ice-free most of the year, a great advantage in this part of the world. When it is frozen over, icebreakers are available to open up the way.

Rails link Tallinn with all the important cities of northern Europe, including Riga, Latvia; Kaaunas, Lithuanian, Konigsberg, East Prussia; and Soviet Russia's Leningrad and Moscow. There are three airlines to Helsinki, Konigsberg, and Riga, as well as one to Warsaw, in normal times.

—A BLOODY AND VARIED HISTORY—

As a result of its location and history, Tallinn is a mixture of varied national influences. Under the name Reval, it was founded in the 13th century by the Danish King Valdemar, on the site of an old Danish settlement and the still earlier Estonian village that had crowned the steep hill of Toompea.

From the beginning Tallinn's life story has been a violent one. It was conquered and reconquered by Baltic tribes, Germans, Swedes, Danes and Russians. In the Russian Revolution of 1905, Tallinn played its part—a part which ended in the mass executions of the revolutionists. During the World War it was occupied by German troops and later threatened by the Russian Red Army. Even after the formation of the new republic there were internal troubles, culminating in 1924 with a communist revolt.

The city now has a population approaching 150,000. It still shows the effects of its history in all the Danish, Swedish, German and Russian buildings that add color and variety to its streets.

Within its medieval walls may be seen, along with efficient office buildings, such oddly assorted structures as an Italian baroque palace, a simple Dutch home, a medieval fortress, and even a minaretlike steeple on a Gothic city hall.

Q. How much did Somerset Maugham receive for the story from which "Rain" was dramatized? E. M. H.

A. George Jean Nathan, one of the editors of the Smart Set, purchased the story from the author's agent for $200.

Q. What is the origin of the platinum fox fur that is so expensive? W. B. D.

A. The progenitor of the platinum foxes was a male born in 1933 on a silver fox farm in Norway. He was the only light fox in the litter and was rejected by most of the breeders. One of them, however, took the animal and mated him with straight silver foxes. In the litters were hybrids showing the light color of their father. In 1936 the first platinum furs were sold at auction at Oslo for good prices. Next year two particularly light' pelts brought $1000 and there was an immediate demand for breeding animals. Pairs have been sold for as high as $7,500.

Q. Who is Doctor I. Q. on the radio? H. M. S.

A. Dr. I. Q. is Walter Lewis whose professional name is Lew Valentine.

Q. Is it true that the houses built for Admiral Byrd's expedition are made of Southern pine? W. H. F.

A. Prefabricated houses made of longleaf Southern pine lumber at Shamrock, Florida, will be erected at the two bases in the Antarctic. The buildings were designed by Major A. L. Violante, Quartermaster Corps of the U. S. Army, who selected the material because of its great strength and durability. The houses are said to be strong enough to stand up under a weight of 300 pounds to the square foot, or more than 15 feet of snow.

Q. What are some of the largest magnets in the United States? W. R.

A. There is an 80-ton magnet at the University of California radiation laboratory at Berkeley which generates 4,500,000-volt neutron rays, 14 times more lethal than x-rays. This power is so great it is not safe to approach closer than 50 feet. One of the largest magnets of its kind is one weighing 10 tons recently built in the laboratories of the University of Chicago. It develops 6 tons of pulling power in the 7¼ inch space between its poles.

Q. For what do the initials R. I. P. stand? J. S. H.

A. They are an abbreviation of the Latin phrase requiescat in pace, may he rest in peace.

Q. What did it cost to remove the hulk of the Maine from Habana Harbor? W. E. P.

A. The total cost of removing the wreck of the U.S.S. Maine from the Harbor at Habana was $785,740.33. The work was done by the Army Engineers.

Q. Where is Ascension Island? T. M. B.

A. Ascension Island is an isolated island located 700 miles northwest of St. Helena in the south Atlantic Ocean. It is approximately 35 square miles and has about 200 inhabitants, most of whom are government employees and their families. It is owned by Great Britain and was discovered on Ascension Day in 1502 by the Portuguese.

Q. How much cheese is manufactured by farm cooperatives? H. S. R.

A. Farm cooperatives manufacture nearly 150,000,000 pounds in a year. Of the 651 cheese-making cooperatives, Wisconsin has 480.

Q. Where is the largest single canvas in the United States? T. J. D.

A. What is said to be the largest single canvas in the world is the mural by Tom Loftin Johnson at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. Entitled "Decisive Battles of the World," the mural covers an area of 2450 square feet at one end of the Mess Hall.

Q. Do the various contest editors receive much crank mail? L. J. G.

A. Printers' Ink says that crank mail from contestants is a feature of any contest and usually runs to about one-tenth of 1 per cent of total returns.

Attacked by a man wearing a black mast and robbed of ten dollars by force was the unusual experience of Mildred Erickson, 17 years old, shortly after six o'clock last night as she was on her way to this city from her home near Butcher's Creek.

Miss Erickson had just crossed Butcher's Creek bridge when a man wearing a black mask approached her from the rear, shoved her off the road into the ditch and took a ten dollar bill from her coat pocket. This is one of the boldest affairs of its kind occurring here for two years. At that time a similar holdup was staged at about the same place, but police were able to trail the hold-up man by his tracks in the snow. There was no snow last night.

Urbana, Nov. 15—Illinois' hard playing, superb football team won a decisive victory from Michigan today, 29-7, and earned the right to meet Ohio State for the conference championship Saturday.

After holding the Illini in check for one period, the Wolverines went to pieces and the Illinois machine ran brilliantly thereafter. The first Illinois touchdown came in the second quarter. Crangle taking the ball through center to the one yard line. Walquist went over for the marker. Michigan's only score came in the last period, when Vick picked up a fumble and ran 50 yards for a touchdown.

GAGS ACROSS THE SEA

Johnny Green, who is lobbying in Washington for a George Gershwin Memorial postage stamp was recalling a yarn the other night about Gershwin's exchange of letters with the great composer, Igor Stravinsky.

A great admirer of Igor's, Gershwin once cabled him in Paris and asked how much he would charge for piano lessons. Stravinsky cabled back and asked how much Gershwin earned a year. "Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars," replied Gershwin.

"In that case," cabled back Stravinsky, "how much will you charge me to become YOUR pupil?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Reports on the Dutch crisis which the State Department has been laying on the White House desk are that the Nazis want Holland not as an air-raiding base against Britain but as a submarine base.

The Dutch coast is indented with some of the best harbors of northern Europe, strategically located along the bottle-neck of the greatest shipping lane in the world—the English Channel.

Moreover, secret German strategy is to bring new submarines down the river Rhine into Holland. Hitler is reported dickering with the Russians for new submarines, and if the deal goes through, they probably would come from Russia by rail and the Rhine.

—QUEEN WILHELMINA—

The split between Queen Wilhelmina and her cabinet over whether to resist German invasion has been serious. The Queen leaned toward a compromise with Hitler, chiefly because she felt sure her country could not withstand the German onslaught and she wanted to save her people from the same fate as Poland.

The Dutch cabinet, on the other hand, was emphatically opposed. Sentiment in Holland is running so strong against Hitler that any compromise would have meant the resignation of the cabinet.

Another fear in Queen Wilhelmina's mind, according to diplomatic reports cabled here, is the danger of a Japanese attack upon the Dutch East Indies simultaneous with the German march across the Dutch border.

This always has been the strategy planned by the Japanese war lords, but it has been shaken recently by Roosevelt's sudden transfer of the U. S. fleet to Hawaii and by the straight-from-thee-shoulder diplomacy of Ambassador Grew.

—CHARLEY DAWES—

Ex-Vice President Charley Dawes, now 74, slipped into Washington the other day without letting his old friends know it, and had a private dinner at the Metropolitan Club.

Chief guests were not the big politicos, nor the Senators, but his old friends the army officers. Dawes has seen experience in almost every branch of government, from vice president and ambassador down to budget director and comptroller of the currency, but the part of his service he seems to have enjoyed most was as an army officer.

Note—Dawes is reported to be in the political camp of Senator Bob Taft for 1940.

—CAPITAL CHAFF—

Extreme precautions have been taken to guard the secrecy of the report submitted to the President by the shelved War Industries Board. Only four copies were made: one for the President, one for the Secretary of War, a third for the Acting Secretary of the Navy, and the fourth for Board Chairman Stettinius . . . . . Postmaster General Farley, one of the best dressed men in public life, always wears double-breasted, subdued but colored suits . . . . . Highest ranking unionite nabbed in Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold's monopoly and racketeering clean-up of the building industry is William Hutcheson, president of the carpenters and first vice president of the AFL. He was indicted.

—F. D. R. AND J. L. L.—

It wasn't supposed to be known, but while the rest of Washington was vacationing on Armistice Day, John L. Lewis had a private White House luncheon with the President.

This meeting was more fruitful than their conversation earlier in the week, when William Green and Lewis both called at the White House.

Conversation at the luncheon revolved around the idea of one big union for the entire country, which would wipe out CIO and AFL differences. The details are still to be worked out and the AFL moguls still are to be weaned over to the plan. So far they are anything but enthusiastic.

Most significant part of the luncheon conversation was the cordiality between the two men. Roosevelt's crack of "a plague o' both your houses" was forgotten; also Lewis' recent blast against the Western Progressive conference and the third term.

The President emphasized that there must be peace within the ranks of labor, and he is following this up with plans that negotiations between the CIO and AFL shall continue indefinitely, if necessary. This time, furthermore, they will not be conducted by Miss Perkins.

She may act as chairman of a conciliation committee purely for face-saving purposes, but the actual peace negotiating will be done by some of the President's closest cabinet friends.

A Pacific coast town has announced no local taxes will be levied for next year. The townspeople may soon expect a lot of new neighbors.

Lines for Living

THE OLD BARN

There's the old barn where we played—
And the old horse lived dismayed—
Unsteady now on uncertain legs,
Like a mendicant, it leans and begs;
With hand outstretched it pleads for kids,
But jobs and money and age outbids,
So he gets no gifts of childish shouts
From boys in pants and roundabouts;
They make no kites, they give no shows—
What the old barn suffers, nobody knows.

But what we suffer is known full well,
If only the hearts of the boys would tell—
We'd like to go back to the days outworn,
To dirty faces and overalls torn,
To the big "fire runs" our "department" made
And the lemonade stand built in its shade;
Backward, O backward memory spins
To the shows we did for ten straight pins—
It's within our wish, O barn, to give
You again the boys that made you live.

America Self-Sufficient

AMERICA learned a lot of things from the first World War. Generally they were things that the people of this country could have learned without the terrific expense in lives and money, if they had just taken the trouble to tackle some of the war problems in peace time.

One of the things the people of this country discovered was that the United States was far more nearly self-sufficient than had been commonly believed. When trade routes were cut off in 1914 and warring nations couldn't afford to export materials they needed badly at home, the brows of industry were creased with worry lines. Many needed materials and the benefit from many valuable manufacturing secrets were rapidly becoming unavailable, and the United States looked sadly toward the day when certain industries, particularly chemicals, would have to close and the public would have to do without commodities to which they had become accustomed.

Then the laboratories got busy. They learned how to make optical equipment and they produced dyes which had suddenly become unobtainable. New chemical formulae for manufacturing processes were evolved and industry as a whole began gradually to understand that American genius was equal to the new problems.

The problems we looked at with horror in 1914 we approach today with calm self-assurance. The shock of the first World War was not quickly forgotten, and scientists have been eexperimenting constantly since then in an effort to find new substitutes for standard processes.

It was once believed we could obtain rubber only from distant tropical places. Stoppage of this supply would have been serious enough to sprout gray hairs on the heads of all automobile executives and industrialists who need rubber for their products. But today, concern over this situation is only slight. Laboratories have produced synthetic rubber. It is not yet generally in use, and it probably has not been fully developed; but threat of a shortage of the natural product would hasten research in this field.

Minerals which this country now imports are probably lying imbedded in the rocks of America or Alaska, geologists believe. If certain ores cannot be found, scientists will probably find a way to get along without them.

Self-sufficiency is not a healthful state of affairs for the United States. Economic intercourse among the nations of the world is necessary, and the United States should share in this commerce.

But it is comforting to know that this country is not helplessly dependent on other nations to supply materials in times of emergency.

Chance to Expand

FARMERS of Delta and other counties of the Upper Peninsula are finding that it is profitable business to raise high grade potatoes, and are having little difficulty in selling their quality products to the Chicago market. A number of farmers in this county, in particular, have done well in the raising of tubers.

We have heard so much about agricultural overproduction in recent years that we are sometimes inclined to believe that it is fallacy to urge farmers of the Upper Peninsula to raise more crops. However, it has been demonstrated that those farmers who have produced more quality potatoes also have increased their incomes.

We might arrive at the conclusion, therefore, that there is money to be made in potatoes, but that our farmers must produce high quality products that will compete successfully with those being marketed by Maine, Idaho and other sections. The Upper Peninsula has the great Middle West for its near market. It offers an opportunity for developing an agricultural industry that will bring much new wealth.

The extension department of Michigan State College has been conducting educational programs for years to show farmers how to raise the right kind of potatoes. The nub of the problem is that the expansion has been too slow to satisfy even the county agents and extension specialists.

Cooperation from chambers of commerce and other agencies, it is felt, would help in developing a greater appreciation of the opportunities that are offered to Upper Peninsula communities through assistance to the agricultural industry. It is something that undoubtedly would be more certain to bring real results than a frantic search for new smokestack industries, which seldom can be found.

Waltonians to Act

LACK of uniform fishing laws and regulations between the states of Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, New York and Pennsylvania spell ruin to the future of commercial fishing on the Great Lakes, according to the Izaak Walton League of America.

While commercial fishermen are holding meetings to protest the new Wisconsin law making fishing regulations on Lake Michigan in conformity with those of Michigan, the Izaak Walton League announces it will launch a campaign to secure uniform legislation.

According to Dr. John Van Oosten of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, the wholesale seining during spawning periods in the past has reduced the stock of trout, walleye pike, perch, whitefish and other species to the danger point of extinction. He predicts that unless immediate steps are taken to restrict commercial seining on the international waters, the taking of herring will be a thing of the past.

Conservationists are greatly concerned over the Great Lakes fishing problem. Commercial fishing is an important industry, furnishing employment to many families. It is also important to the consumers for about 75 per cent of the 150 million pounds of fresh water fish used in the nation each year are produced by the fishermen on the Great Lakes.

The Izaak Walton League points out in a bulletin that selfish commercial interests have blocked the efforts to negotiate interstate compacts to uniformly regulate fishing on Great Lakes waters. It expresses the fear that if the states cannot settle their petty differences, the federal government will have to step in. The League looks upon the situation as a challenge to the advocates of states' rights.

Feeding Civil Servants

NO shoestring industry is the United States government. The management of federal affairs has become one of the largest single enterprises in the nation. Its roster of employes is larger now than it was during the emergency days of the World War.

Uncle Sam today has a staff of 939,876 men and women on his payroll. In September, this army collected $141,629,881 in salary. During the World War, the highest number of employes in the federal service at one time was 917,000. Before that, it had been around 500,000, and after the war it dropped back to that average — until New Deal centralization got going.

One out of every 40 workers in the United States is now drawing a government check, participating in all the benefits of employment security. The average federal salary is $1870, although in Washington the average runs to $2066. These are nice, comfortable figures. Whether an expenditure of more than 1½ billions a year to run the government is justified will be a matter for debate as soon as 1940 campaigners get their bearings.

Teaching the Trades

CONNECTICUT has decided to do something about its unemployment problem. Gov. Raymond E. Baldwin announced the propects of immediate jobs for those unemployed who successfully complete 200 hours of intensive training in some one of the trades.

This state, like most of the others, was faced with the problems of young men and women who have never had any experience and never held any jobs and who are today trying vainly to find work. The governor also took into consideration the fact that many older workers, out of work for months or years, may need a little brushing up. The general idea is to cut down the unemployment list by asking the jobless to go to school for a few weeks.

It is expected between 2000 and 3000 new jobs in the Hartford area alone will open by the time the first classes are ready to step out of "school." Any effort to tackle the unemployment problem is a step in the right direction and should be watched by other states with keen interest.

AROUND THE PENINSULA
(Ironwood Globe)

To avoid the embarrassing situation of having the state become the owner of its attractive beach park, Menominee sent Mayor Michael C. Olsen to Lansing to confer with state authorities. Technically, ownership of the park reverted to the state November 3 because of taxes due before the land was purchased by the city in 1932. A gentlemen's agreement was reached that the park would not be placed on sale until the difficulty could be discussed and some solution of the problem reached. More than $5,000 in taxes are due, and that's a great deal more than Mayor Olsen cares to have paid out of the city treasury at this time. Menominee, like numerous other cities, is hard pressed for funds.

"Officials have been advised that no more sewer projects in the cities of Stambaugh or Iron River will be approved unless a disposal plant is constructed." That paragraph on the end of a news story again tells how the stream control commission of Michigan is blubbing cities into the building of disposal plants. It may be a coincidence, but every time a city is served with such an ultimatum, it is immediately contacted by an engineering firm that is ready to undertake the job. A matter of $80,000 is all that stands between Stambaugh and Iron River and a jointly operated sewage disposal plan, but "all" is hardly the word for it.

A reduction in rates of $800 a month was put into effect by Escanaba's electric light plant in September, and another cut in rates is due before long if the present trend continues, says City Manager George E. Bean. He points out that revenues for September and October, in the face of the reduction were about $3,000 in excess of the revenue for the same period a year ago. This will tickle some of the municipal ownership crowds of the Peninsula who are constantly agitating for their cities to own their utility plants.

Sault Ste. Marie lost a booster for its Straits bridge the other day, but it was only natural. Capt. James H. The veteran skipper, who has sailed on the Great Lakes for 40 years, is not in favor of a bridge for purely personal reasons, of course. He can't sail a bridge.

Congressman Frank E. Hook of the twelfth Michigan district seems to be on the spot so far as residents of Kingsford are concerned. They have been whooping it up for a postoffice of their own, instead of being required to get their mail at Iron Mountain, but W. W. Howe, first assistant postmaster general, says the request has been turned down because "there have been no complaints against the present service." No complaints? inquires Claude Howard, leading advocate of the change. He points out that 400 persons petitioned for the change. Kingsford folks still look to the congressman for assistance, remembering he is one of the most loyal New Dealers in Washington and is therefore entitled to consideration, which in this instance means a postoffice for Kingsford.

• • •

Another Michigan congressman, Fred Bradley who serves the eastern part of the Peninsula, is also on the spot but in quite a different manner. He has introduced a bill to authorize the federal purchase of forest lands that fringe highways, roads and trails which are wholly or partially built with Uncle Sam's money. The Peninsula is particularly interested in a measure of this nature because of the fact it is rapidly losing much of its roadside beauty through cutting of timber. So this part of Michigan will look for Congressman Bradley to press for passage of the measure.

World Affairs Reviewed

An influx of Soviet sailors, soldiers and workers into Estonia's seaport of Tallinn, following the recent agreement between the U. S. S. R. and the smaller nation, focusses attention on the position of this important Baltic capital in the European political drama.

Tallinn is situated on the northwest shoulder of Estonia, about 70 miles from the west-coast islands of Osel and Dago, now occupied by Soviet forces, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It is a little less than twice that far from the Soviet border to the east. Between Tallinn and Leningrad, vital port of the Soviet Union, the distance is only 200 miles. By airplane ,therefore, these two key cities are about one hour apart.

—ESTONIA'S NUMBER ONE PORT—

Through Tallinn passes roughly three-quarters of all Estonia's commerce. Outgoing traffic consists largely of textiles, timber, paper, flax, potatoes, meat and dairy products. Imports include raw cotton, sugar, coal, agricultural machinery, iron and steel.

The Unitcd Kingdom has been Estonia's best customer, with Germany not far behind. In the import field, however, Germany is well in the lead, with the United Kingdom normally second, the United States third, and Soviet Russia fourth.

Tallinn is strategically located. Guarding the southern entrance of the Gulf of Finland, it is set in an almost direct line 50 miles across from Finland's capital of Helsinki (Helsingfors).

With a deep harbor, equipped with floating docks, repairing stations, modern warehouses and electric loading machinery, the port is ice-free most of the year, a great advantage in this part of the world. When it is frozen over, icebreakers are available to open up the way.

Rails link Tallinn with all the important cities of northern Europe, including Riga, Latvia; Kaaunas, Lithuanian, Konigsberg, East Prussia; and Soviet Russia's Leningrad and Moscow. There are three airlines to Helsinki, Konigsberg, and Riga, as well as one to Warsaw, in normal times.

—A BLOODY AND VARIED HISTORY—

As a result of its location and history, Tallinn is a mixture of varied national influences. Under the name Reval, it was founded in the 13th century by the Danish King Valdemar, on the site of an old Danish settlement and the still earlier Estonian village that had crowned the steep hill of Toompea.

From the beginning Tallinn's life story has been a violent one. It was conquered and reconquered by Baltic tribes, Germans, Swedes, Danes and Russians. In the Russian Revolution of 1905, Tallinn played its part—a part which ended in the mass executions of the revolutionists. During the World War it was occupied by German troops and later threatened by the Russian Red Army. Even after the formation of the new republic there were internal troubles, culminating in 1924 with a communist revolt.

The city now has a population approaching 150,000. It still shows the effects of its history in all the Danish, Swedish, German and Russian buildings that add color and variety to its streets.

Within its medieval walls may be seen, along with efficient office buildings, such oddly assorted structures as an Italian baroque palace, a simple Dutch home, a medieval fortress, and even a minaretlike steeple on a Gothic city hall.

Q. How much did Somerset Maugham receive for the story from which "Rain" was dramatized? E. M. H.

A. George Jean Nathan, one of the editors of the Smart Set, purchased the story from the author's agent for $200.

Q. What is the origin of the platinum fox fur that is so expensive? W. B. D.

A. The progenitor of the platinum foxes was a male born in 1933 on a silver fox farm in Norway. He was the only light fox in the litter and was rejected by most of the breeders. One of them, however, took the animal and mated him with straight silver foxes. In the litters were hybrids showing the light color of their father. In 1936 the first platinum furs were sold at auction at Oslo for good prices. Next year two particularly light pelts brought $1000 and there was an immediate demand for breeding animals. Pairs have been sold for as high as $7,500.

Urbana, Nov. 15—Illinois' hard playing, superb football team won a decisive victory from Michigan today, 29-7, and earned the right to meet Ohio State for the conference championship Saturday.

After holding the Illini in check for one period, the Wolverines went to pieces and the Illinois machine ran brilliantly thereafter. The first Illinois touchdown came in the second quarter. Crangle taking the ball through center to the one yard line. Walquist went over for the marker. Michigan's only score came in the last period, when Vick picked up a fumble and ran 50 yards for a touchdown.

They're now passing around the one about the impoverished doctor who rushed onto the stage and bellowed, "Is there a PATIENT in the house?"

GAGS ACROSS THE SEA

Johnny Green, who is lobbying in Washington for a George Gershwin Memorial postage stamp was recalling a yarn the other night about Gershwin's exchange of letters with the great composer, Igor Stravinsky.

A great admirer of Igor's, Gershwin once cabled him in Paris and asked how much he would charge for piano lessons. Stravinsky cabled back and asked how much Gershwin earned a year. "Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars," replied Gershwin.

"In that case," cabled back Stravinsky, "how much will you charge me to become YOUR pupil?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Reports on the Dutch crisis which the State Department has been laying on the White House desk are that the Nazis want Holland not as an air-raiding base against Britain but as a submarine base.

The Dutch coast is indented with some of the best harbors of northern Europe, strategically located along the bottle-neck of the greatest shipping lane in the world —the English Channel.

Moreover, secret German strategy is to bring new submarines down the river Rhine into Holland. Hitler is reported dickering with the Russians for new submarines, and if the deal goes through, they probably would come from Russia by rail and the Rhine.

—QUEEN WILHELMINA—

The split between Queen Wilhelmina and her cabinet over whether to resist German invasion has been serious. The Queen leaned toward a compromise with Hitler, chiefly because she felt sure her country could not withstand the German onslaught and she wanted to save her people from the same fate as Poland.

The Dutch cabinet, on the other hand, was emphatically opposed. Sentiment in Holland is running so strong against Hitler that any compromise would have meant the resignation of the cabinet.

Another fear in Queen Wilhelmina's mind, according to diplomatic reports cabled here, is the danger of a Japanese attack upon the Dutch East Indies simultaneous with the German march across the Dutch border.

This always has been the strategy planned by the Japanese war lords, but it has been shaken recently by Roosevelt's sudden transfer of the U. S. fleet to Hawaii and by the straight-from-thee-shoulder diplomacy of Ambassador Grew.

—CHARLEY DAWES—

Ex-Vice President Charley Dawes, now 74, slipped into Washington the other day without letting his old friends know it, and had a private dinner at the Metropolitan Club.

Chief guests were not the big politicos, nor the Senators, but his old friends the army officers. Dawes has seen experience in almost every branch of government, from vice president and ambassador down to budget director and comptroller of the currency, but the part of his service he seems to have enjoyed most was as an army officer.

Note—Dawes is reported to be in the political camp of Senator Bob Taft for 1940.

—CAPITAL CHAFF—

Extreme precautions have been taken to guard the secrecy of the report submitted to the President by the shelved War Industries Board. Only four copies were made: one for the President, one for the Secretary of War, a third for the Acting Secretary of the Navy, and the fourth for Board Chairman Stettinius ..... Postmaster General Farley, one of the best dressed men in public life, always wears double-breasted, subdued but colored suits ..... Highest ranking unionite nabbed in Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold's monopoly and racketeering clean-up of the building industry is William Hutcheson, president of the carpenters and first vice president of the AFL. He was indicted.

—F. D. R. AND J. L. L.—

It wasn't supposed to be known, but while the rest of Washington was vacationing on Armistice Day, John L. Lewis had a private White House luncheon with the President.

This meeting was more fruitful than their conversation earlier in the week, when William Green and Lewis both called at the White House.

Conversation at the luncheon revolved around the idea of one big union for the entire country, which would wipe out CIO and AFL differences. The details are still to be worked out and the AFL moguls still are to be weaned over to the plan. So far they are anything but enthusiastic.

Most significant part of the luncheon conversation was the cordiality between the two men. Roosevelt's crack of "a plague o' both your houses" was forgotten; also Lewis' recent blast against the Western Progressive conference and the third term.

The President emphasized that there must be peace within the ranks of labor, and he is following this up with plans that negotiations between the CIO and AFL shall continue indefinitely, if necessary. This time, furthermore, they will not be conducted by Miss Perkins.

She may act as chairman of a conciliation committee purely for face-saving purposes, but the actual peace negotiating will be done by some of the President's closest cabinet friends.

A Pacific coast town has announced no local taxes will be levied for next year. The townspeople may soon expect a lot of new neighbors.

Lines for Living

THE OLD BARN

There's the old barn where we played—
And the old horse lived dismayed—
Unsteady now on uncertain legs,
Like a mendicant, it leans and begs;
With hand outstretched it pleads for kids,
But jobs and money and age outbids,
So he gets no gifts of childish shouts
From boys in pants and roundabouts;
They make no kites, they give no shows—
What the old barn suffers, nobody knows.

But what we suffer is known full well,
If only the hearts of the boys would tell—
We'd like to go back to the days outworn,
To dirty faces and overalls torn,
To the big "fire runs" our "department" made
And the lemonade stand built in its shade;
Backward, O backward memory spins
To the shows we did for ten straight pins—
It's within our wish, O barn, to give
You again the boys that made you live.

CITY IS READY FOR BIG SNOW

New Blades Added, Plows Make Ready for First Storm

City service department workers under the direction of Joe Holmes have about completed reconditioning of snow removal equipment and could be ready within two hours to handle a big snow storm, Mr. Holmes reported yesterday.

Work was nearly done yesterday on a new steel V-shaped plow, made in the city blacksmith shop here, which will take the place of the wooden blade plow that has been used for several years with a caterpillar tractor on outlying and rougher streets. The new blade is solid, of half inch boiler plate, and with an eight foot spread. Wooden plow wings on either side extend the width to 15 feet.

Steel cutting edges are being replaced or conditioned on all five of the city's plows and repairs are being made on the mechanism of the snow loader for removing snow from the streets.

The largest plow, purchased last year at a cost of $1,300 and used on a four-wheel-drive, five-ton truck is still to be installed and since this is a three day job, the work is scheduled to be done soon. This plow and another "one way" plow bought last year for $350 and used on a two ton truck, have hydraulic lifts.

The city budget allows $11,150 for snow removal this winter to cover labor, equipment, rentals and overhead. The rentals represent the rate paid by the city to itself to cover costs of the use of the trucks and plows.

The largest plow and truck costs $2.50 an hour to operate, plus a gasoline cost of about 24 cents an hour and the driver's wages. The smaller hydraulic plow and its truck rent for a dollar an hour, plus 13½ cents for gasoline and the wages of the driver. It costs $1.05 to operate the new steel V plow and tractor, plus 18 cents an hour for gasoline and the other plows cost $1.25 and $1.35, plus about 20 cents an hour each for gasoline.

The snow loader is operated for $1.50 an hour.

REPORT ON FAIR

Bessemer—The total expenditures related to the 1939 Gogebic county fair were $6,375.83, according to the report of fair board submitted to the county board yesterday.

In addition there were $1,882.07 expended by the fair board during the past year which makes that organization's expenditures for the year October 1, 1938 to September 30, 1939 a total of $8,257.90.

The fair board's total receipts for the fiscal year were $9,760.32. This includes a $5,000 appropriation from the county board. Total receipts of $9,760.32 less total expenditures of $8,257.90 left a balance from the past fiscal year of $1,502.42.

Red Cross Drive Continues; Legion Auxiliary Starts

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will start work today on the Red Cross membership drive, canvassing homes north of Ludington street, John Lemmer, roll call chairman, said yesterday.

Yesterday's receipts amounted to $114.05, the total for the first three days being $473.37 as compared with $390.36 for the corresponding period of last year.

1,160 Yards A Day Has Little Effect On Harbor Project

A cubic yard of sand is a good load for a dump truck. The narrow gauge railway cars being used in yacht harbor excavation carry one and a half cubic yards. With the six car rail train and two large shovels and the city sandsucker working a total of 32 hours 1,160 cubic yards of sand are moved daily—and yet it will be five years before the harbor and beach plan is completed.

The clamshell shovel that serves the railway has a one half yard capacity and in an eight hour day moves about 200 yards of sand, from a point in the area that will become a lagoon in the park plan, to a shoreline fill. A short distance away, a three fourths yard "drag" shovel, with a crane arm, removes about 40 yards an hour for a total of 320 yards per eight hour day, and nearby the sandsucker chugs away for at least 16 hours a day, 40 yards per hour for a total of 640 yards a day. In seven months of operation the sandsucker removes about 100,000 yards.

The three pieces of machinery have been put on the job in an effort to get as much as possible done before freezing weather.

Michigan In Washington

BY Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

Nothing but a rumor is the talk about the appointment of Edward G. Kemp to the district court bench, a justice department official states flatly. Washington papers have predicted the job for Kemp, who was brought to Washington by Attorney General Murphy, who just recently had him promoted to the position of assistant to the attorney general. Kemp, who has gone up the political ladder with Murphy, is a native of Michigan, 52 years old, and unmarried. He received his law degree from the University of Michigan, and was admitted to the Michigan bar in 1914.

• • •

Eugene Elliott, as superintendent of public instruction, does not fare as handsomely as other men in similar jobs in most states.

At least, it looks that way from the findings of the advisory committee on education, appointed by President Roosevelt to make studies and recommendations with respect to federal aid to education.

His salary of $6,000 may not seem niggardly, but twelve other states, many less wealthy, pay more. Also, several city superintendents in Michigan are paid higher salaries—Detroit, $15,000; Grand Rapids, $8,000; Flint, $8,000; Lansing, $7,600; and Pontiac, $6,750.

Furthermore, Michigan is one of the eleven states which still force their No. 1 men in education to face an election every two years. Most states have four-year terms; or still, better, in the opinion of the committee, their superintendents are appointed by a state board of education, or by the governor.

Like others, Michigan does not prohibit women from seeking election to this post. It is not one of the few states requiring educational attainments beyond a college or normal school degree.

• • •

Mrs. Roosevelt came back from her trip to Michigan with high praise for a certain educational WPA project in Ann Arbor. She told her press conference that she was impressed by an extension course offered to anyone who wanted to study certain subjects by correspondence, regardless of how little schooling the applicant might have had. She felt that two hundred examination papers received by mail per day proved the popularity and the need for the project.

The First Lady says she no longer visits federal projects that are practically the same all over the country. She likes to know about these different, more original endeavors.

The showdown on the struggle between Senator Prentiss M. Brown and WPA Director Abner Larned, over the transfer of the WPA headquarters from Lansing to Detroit, may come this week.

Regional Director George H. Field, of Chicago, having heard plenty on both sides of the argument, is going out to Michigan to take a personal look-see before the final decision is made.

Brown contends that it is a hardship on a city the size of Lansing to take away a sizeable federal pay roll by uprooting several hundred people. Besides, Brown and others urge that Lansing is the logical location, since other cooperating state agencies are located in the capital. Living costs are considered lower than in Detroit.

Larned, who has had his office all picked out in Highland Park, says he can rent for less, and that his organization can function more efficiently in the Detroit area.

Mrs. Dorothy McAllister, who heads Democratic women's activities, has just returned from a far-western trip. The former Grand Rapids leader told her press conference that the liberal west is still liberal. Also, that the west is responding to the educational program of the women's division of the national Democratic committee to "Fortify for Forty with Facts.

This means, she explained, that the women are digging around in their own communities to find out for themselves how the New Deal is working.

WINTER MINE OUTLOOK GOOD

Stockpiles In Peninsula Gone; Expect Heavy Production

Ishpeming. — No one is more weather-conscious these days than men interested in getting Marquette range iron ore to lower lake ports before winter sets in.

One of the greatest late-season "finishes" in years is expected as mines on this and other ranges work to meet contracts before navigation closes.

The Inland Steel company is near the end of its schedule, needing only four more cargoes to complete the season. One boatload of Morris mine ore will be shipped from Marquette November 18 and three from the Greenwood, to be shipped out of Escanaba, are scheduled for November 19, 22 and 23. Most of this ore is already at the Escanaba docks.

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company officials expect to carry shipping into the last days of the month. They believe it will be possible to fill all orders and clean up the season's slate.

Winter Outlook Good

In the meantime thoughts turn to the winter schedule at the mines and although it is impossible for executives to forecast accurately what the setup will be, they have reason to believe that operations can be maintained throughout the winter at present, or close to present, rates.

Stockpiles at most of the mines are gone and underground operations this winter would replenish them and make them ready for the start of 1940 navigation.

RAPID RIVER HAS DIAL TELEPHONE

System To Go Into Use Nov. 21; In State Rural Program

Rapid River, Mich.—Rapid River's new dial telephone system will go into operation at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday, Nov. 21.

At that time, all of the 75 telephones connected with the Michigan Bell Telephone Company's central office here will be cut over from the present magneto (crank type) service to the new dial system.

The cutover will follow the completion of a project involving the expenditure of more than $8,000 including a new central office building on US-2. The change will be made without interruption in service, according to O. Sundquist, of Escanaba, manager for the company in this area.

Western Electric Company, manufacturing and supply division of the Bell Telephone System, installed the new central office equipment. Michigan Bell Company crews installed the dial telephones and instructed subscribers in their use.

Initiation of dial service will introduce three new service features to customers here—the dial tone, the audible ringing signal, and the audible busy signal. After the cutover, subscribers will make all general local calls by dialing the proper numbers. To place a long distance call, obtain the time of day, or call repair service, information, or the telephone manager or business office, customers will dial "O" and ask the operator for the particular service or department desired.

A new telephone directory is being issued inasmuch as it is necessary to change the numbers of all the telephones at the time of the cutover.

The telephone plant and service project at Rapid River is part of the company's statewide rural service improvement program.

Upper Peninsula Bank Debits Gain

Bank debits in the upper peninsula continued to climb during October, registering an increase of $1,109,000 over September and an increase of $5,198,000 over October, 1938.

Ten of the 15 communities reporting to the Ninth federal reserve district showed increases for October. Those which showed decreases from the previous month were Escanaba, Hancock, Houghton, Laurium and Manistique.

Marquette At Top

Marquette maintained its position at the top with an increase of $295,000 over September and a jump of $946,000 from October, 1938. Debits for Marquette for last month totaled $4,016,000, compared to $3,721,000 the previous month and $3,070,000 in October, 1938.

While Marquette jumped to the four million bracket, Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie were in the three million class. The Soo jumped from $2,875,000 in September to $3,131,000 last month. Escanaba stayed in the three million bracket, which it achieved in September for the first time in many months, but it dropped from $3,342,000 in September to $3,150,000 last month.

Ishpeming, Negaunee Gain

With Escanaba in second place and the Soo a close third behind Marquette, fourth place was taken over by Menominee with debits of $2,779,000. Negaunee reported a gain of $31,000 to $1,033,000 for October, and Ishpeming reported a gain of $22,000 to $1,666,000, as compared to $1,644,000 in September, 1939.

Munising News

Hunters Get Slow Start In Munising

Munising, Nov. 15—Red-coated hunters, who yesterday thronged the streets of Munising, today invaded the surrounding woods in the annual bombardment of the fleet-footed buck deer. The season, which opened today, will close on November 30 at midnight.

In 1938 there were more than 44,800 bucks killed during the season and the numbers of hunters who fill their licenses this year is expected to equal, if not surpass, the total for last year. Approximately 43 out of every 100 hunters fill their licenses, according to the figures of the Michigan state department of conservation.

At noon today no one had as yet come into the city with their deer. Last year at that time several local hunters, as well as some from lower Michigan, had already filled their licenses and appeared here.

IN JUSTICE COURT

Munising, Nov. 15—Vern Blair, of Rock River township, was sentenced to 20 days in the Alger county jail by Justice T. J. Walters on Tuesday after he had failed to pay a fine of $25 and court costs of $6.85 for possession of a shotgun loaded with buckshot in a game area without a permit. Blair was arrested in Rock River township by Conservation Officer Gilbert Larson last week.

Joseph Smith, of Chatham, was fined one dollar and court costs of $3.35 here this morning when brought before Justice J. D. Leiphart on charges of operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license. He was summoned by State Trooper Harold Bliss.

Ice Sports Group Plans For Winter

Munising, Nov. 15—A meeting of the board of directors of the Munising Ice Sports club will be held in the fire hall on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Plans for the coming winter season will be discussed and activities will be arranged.

Officers of the club are: Floyd Smale, president; Emmett Levy, vice president; Edwin G. Lindquist, secretary; V. A. Floria, treasurer.

Announcement Made Of X-Ray Clinic At Mather High School

Munising, Nov. 15—The Michigan Tuberculosis association will conduct an X-ray clinic for Alger county on Tuesday, November 21, at 9 a. m. in the Mather school, according to Dr. E. J. Brenner, director of the Alger-Schoolcraft health department. Arrangements for a tuberculin test or an X-ray should be made immediately through either the local health department or family doctors.

Since tuberculosis is such a very communicable disease, the association attempts to help locate early cases by means of X-ray clinics.

It stresses the importance of tuberculin testing and X-raying persons who have come in contact with active tuberculosis, for it is only by contact that the disease is spread.

By means of the tuberculin test and X-ray, tuberculosis infection may be discovered before the usual symptoms of coughing, tiredness, and loss of weight appear. When such characteristics are present, much serious harm will already have been done to the patient himself and to his associates.

Michigan Tuberculosis association clinics are made possible through funds received in the annual sale of Christmas seals.

Munising Archers Find Bucks Wary

Munising, Nov. 15—Munising's three disciples of Diana, goddess of the hunt, A. F. Aley, Vince Martin and Edward Krajewski, failed to fill their licenses during the special season from November 1 to 15 for bow and arrow hunters. The three, all novices at the sport, have spent their spare hours during the last two weeks hunting in the woods and neighboring country surrounding Munising. Although they had the opportunity for shots, the range was too great for effectiveness.

Bow and arrow hunters have a special license and a special season, just previous to the opening of the regular deer season, for hunting.

MOTORIST JAILED

Munising, Nov. 15—Ernest C. Cox, of Au Train township, was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs of $7.80 after he was brought before Justice T. J. Walters here on Tuesday and charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. He was sent to the Alger county jail for 60 days when he was unable to pay the fine.

Cox was arrested on Monday night by city Patrolman John McPhee after he had sideswiped a truck owned by Leo Ames and parked on East Superior street and then swung across the street and struck a car owned by Lieut. F. M. Marshek, of Camp Au Train, doing damage estimated at about $75.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Nadeau and daughters, Sue, Mary Lou and Joan, of Dalhousie, New Brunswick, Canada, are visiting here with Mr. Nadeau's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Nadeau. They are enroute to Lufkin, Texas, where they will make their future home.

CITY IS READY FOR BIG SNOW

New Blades Added, Plows Make Ready for First Storm

City service department workers under the direction of Joe Holmes have about completed reconditioning of snow removal equipment and could be ready within two hours to handle a big snow storm, Mr. Holmes reported yesterday.

Work was nearly done yesterday on a new steel V-shaped plow, made in the city blacksmith shop here, which will take the place of the wooden blade plow that has been used for several years with a caterpillar tractor on outlying and rougher streets. The new blade is solid, of half inch boiler plate, and with an eight foot spread. Wooden plow wings on either side extend the width to 15 feet.

Steel cutting edges are being replaced or conditioned on all five of the city's plows and repairs are being made on the mechanism of the snow loader for removing snow from the streets.

The largest plow, purchased last year at a cost of $1,300 and used on a four-wheel-drive, five-ton truck is still to be installed and since this is a three day job, the work is scheduled to be done soon. This plow and another "one way" plow bought last year for $350 and used on a two ton truck, have hydraulic lifts.

The city budget allows $11,150 for snow removal this winter to cover labor, equipment, rentals and overhead. The rentals represent the rate paid by the city to itself to cover costs of the use of the trucks and plows.

The largest plow and truck costs $2.50 an hour to operate, plus a gasoline cost of about 24 cents an hour and the driver's wages. The smaller hydraulic plow and its truck rent for a dollar an hour, plus 13½ cents for gasoline and the wages of the driver. It costs $1.05 to operate the new steel V plow and tractor, plus 18 cents an hour for gasoline and the other plows cost $1.25 and $1.35, plus about 20 cents an hour each for gasoline. The snow loader is operated for $1.50 an hour.

REPORT ON FAIR

Bessemer—The total expenditures related to the 1939 Gogebic county fair were $6,375.83, according to the report of fair board submitted to the county board yesterday.

In addition there were $1,882.07 expended by the fair board during the past year which makes that organization's expenditures for the year October 1, 1938 to September 30, 1939 a total of $8,257.90.

The fair board's total receipts for the fiscal year were $9,760.32. This includes a $5,000 appropriation from the county board. Total receipts of $9,760.32 less total expenditures of $8,257.90 left a balance from the past fiscal year of $1,502.42.

Red Cross Drive Continues; Legion Auxiliary Starts

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will start work today on the Red Cross membership drive, canvassing homes north of Ludington street, John Lemmer, roll call chairman, said yesterday.

Yesterday's receipts amounted to $114.05, the total for the first three days being $473.37 as compared with $390.36 for the corresponding period of last year.

1,160 Yards A Day Has Little Effect On Harbor Project

A cubic yard of sand is a good load for a dump truck. The narrow gauge railway cars being used in yacht harbor excavation carry one and a half cubic yards. With the six car rail train and two large shovels and the city sandsucker working a total of 32 hours 1,160 cubic yards of sand are moved daily—and yet it will be five years before the harbor and beach plan is completed.

The clamshell shovel that serves the railway has a one half yard capacity and in an eight hour day moves about 200 yards of sand, from a point in the area that will become a lagoon in the park plan, to a shoreline fill. A short distance away, a three fourths yard "drag" shovel, with a crane arm, removes about 40 yards an hour for a total of 320 yards per eight hour day, and nearby the sandsucker chugs away for at least 16 hours a day, 40 yards per hour for a total of 640 yards a day. In seven months of operation the sandsucker removes about 100,000 yards.

The three pieces of machinery have been put on the job in an effort to get as much as possible done before freezing weather.

Michigan In Washington

BY Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

Nothing but a rumor is the talk about the appointment of Edward G. Kemp to the district court bench, a justice department official states flatly. Washington papers have predicted the job for Kemp, who was brought to Washington by Attorney General Murphy, who just recently had him promoted to the position of assistant to the attorney general. Kemp, who has gone up the political ladder with Murphy, is a native of Michigan, 52 years old, and unmarried. He received his law degree from the University of Michigan, and was admitted to the Michigan bar in 1914.

• • •

Eugene Elliott, as superintendent of public instruction, does not fare as handsomely as other men in similar jobs in most states.

At least, it looks that way from the findings of the advisory committee on education, appointed by President Roosevelt to make studies and recommendations with respect to federal aid to education.

His salary of $6,000 may not seem niggardly, but twelve other states, many less wealthy, pay more. Also, several city superintendents in Michigan are paid higher salaries—Detroit, $15,000; Grand Rapids, $8,000; Flint, $8,000; Lansing, $7,600; and Pontiac, $6,750.

Furthermore, Michigan is one of the eleven states which still force their No. 1 men in education to face an election every two years. Most states have four-year terms; or still, better, in the opinion of the committee, their superintendents are appointed by a state board of education, or by the governor.

Like others, Michigan does not prohibit women from seeking election to this post. It is not one of the few states requiring educational attainments beyond a college or normal school degree.

• • •

Mrs. Roosevelt came back from her trip to Michigan with high praise for a certain educational WPA project in Ann Arbor. She told her press conference that she was impressed by an extension course offered to anyone who wanted to study certain subjects by correspondence, regardless of how little schooling the applicant might have had. She felt that two hundred examination papers received by mail per day proved the popularity and the need for the project.

The First Lady says she no longer visits federal projects that are practically the same all over the country. She likes to know about these different, more original endeavors.

• • •

The showdown on the struggle between Senator Prentiss M. Brown and WPA Director Abner Larned, over the transfer of the WPA headquarters from Lansing to Detroit, may come this week.

Regional Director George H. Field, of Chicago, having heard plenty on both sides of the argument, is going out to Michigan to take a personal look-see before the final decision is made.

Brown contends that it is a hardship on a city the size of Lansing to take away a sizeable federal pay roll by uprooting several hundred people. Besides, Brown and others urge that Lansing is the logical location, since other cooperating state agencies are located in the capital. Living costs are considered lower than in Detroit.

Larned, who has had his office all picked out in Highland Park, says he can rent for less, and that his organization can function more efficiently in the Detroit area.

Mrs. Dorothy McAllister, who heads Democratic women's activities, has just returned from a far-western trip. The former Grand Rapids leader told her press conference that the liberal west is still liberal. Also, that the west is responding to the educational program of the women's division of the national Democratic committee to "Fortify for Forty with Facts.

This means, she explained, that the women are digging around in their own communities to find out for themselves how the New Deal is working.

WINTER MINE OUTLOOK GOOD

Stockpiles In Peninsula Gone; Expect Heavy Production

Ishpeming. — No one is more weather-conscious these days than men interested in getting Marquette range iron ore to lower lake ports before winter sets in.

One of the greatest late-season "finishes" in years is expected as mines on this and other ranges work to meet contracts before navigation closes.

The Inland Steel company is near the end of its schedule, needing only four more cargoes to complete the season. One boatload of Morris mine ore will be shipped from Marquette November 18 and three from the Greenwood, to be shipped out of Escanaba, are scheduled for November 19, 22 and 23. Most of this ore is already at the Escanaba docks.

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company officials expect to carry shipping into the last days of the month. They believe it will be possible to fill all orders and clean up the season's slate.

Winter Outlook Good

In the meantime thoughts turn to the winter schedule at the mines and although it is impossible for executives to forecast accurately what the setup will be, they have reason to believe that operations can be maintained throughout the winter at present, or close to present, rates.

Stockpiles at most of the mines are gone and underground operations this winter would replenish them and make them ready for the start of 1940 navigation.

RAPID RIVER HAS DIAL TELEPHONE

System To Go Into Use Nov. 21; In State Rural Program

Rapid River, Mich.—Rapid River's new dial telephone system will go into operation at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday, Nov. 21.

At that time, all of the 75 telephones connected with the Michigan Bell Telephone Company's central office here will be cut over from the present magneto (crank type) service to the new dial system.

The cutover will follow the completion of a project involving the expenditure of more than $8,000 including a new central office building on US-2. The change will be made without interruption in service, according to O. Sundquist, of Escanaba, manager for the company in this area.

Western Electric Company, manufacturing and supply division of the Bell Telephone System, installed the new central office equipment. Michigan Bell Company crews installed the dial telephones and instructed subscribers in their use.

Initiation of dial service will introduce three new service features to customers here—the dial tone, the audible ringing signal, and the audible busy signal. After the cutover, subscribers will make all general local calls by dialing the proper numbers. To place a long distance call, obtain the time of day, or call repair service, information, or the telephone manager or business office, customers will dial "O" and ask the operator for the particular service or department desired.

A new telephone directory is being issued inasmuch as it is necessary to change the numbers of all the telephones at the time of the cutover.

The telephone plant and service project at Rapid River is part of the company's statewide rural service improvement program.

Upper Peninsula Bank Debits Gain

Bank debits in the upper peninsula continued to climb during October, registering an increase of $1,109,000 over September and an increase of $5,198,000 over October, 1938.

Ten of the 15 communities reporting to the Ninth federal reserve district showed increases for October. Those which showed decreases from the previous month were Escanaba, Hancock, Houghton, Laurium and Manistique.

Marquette At Top

Marquette maintained its position at the top with an increase of $295,000 over September and a jump of $946,000 from October, 1938. Debits for Marquette for last month totaled $4,016,000 compared to $3,721,000 the previous month and $3,070,000 in October, 1938.

While Marquette jumped to the four million bracket, Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie were in the three million class. The Soo jumped from $2,875,000 in September to $3,131,000 last month. Escanaba stayed in the three million bracket, which it achieved in September for the first time in many months, but it dropped from $3,342,000 in September to $3,150,000 last month.

Ishpeming, Negaunee Gain

With Escanaba in second place and the Soo a close third behind Marquette, fourth place was taken over by Menominee with debits of $2,779,000. Negaunee reported a gain of $31,000 to $1,033,000 for October, and Ishpeming reported a gain of $22,000 to $1,666,000, as compared to $1,644,000 in September, 1939.

Hunters Get Slow Start In Munising

Munising, Nov. 15—Red-coated hunters, who yesterday thronged the streets of Munising, today invaded the surrounding woods in the annual bombardment of the fleet-footed buck deer. The season, which opened today, will close on November 30 at midnight.

In 1938 there were more than 44,800 bucks killed during the season and the numbers of hunters who fill their licenses this year is expected to equal, if not surpass, the total for last year. Approximately 43 out of every 100 hunters fill their licenses, according to the figures of the Michigan state department of conservation.

At noon today no one had as yet come into the city with their deer. Last year at that time several local hunters, as well as some from lower Michigan, had already filled their licenses and appeared here.

IN JUSTICE COURT

Munising, Nov. 15—Vern Blair, of Rock River township, was sentenced to 20 days in the Alger county jail by Justice T. J. Walters on Tuesday after he had failed to pay a fine of $25 and court costs of $6.85 for possession of a shotgun loaded with buckshot in a game area without a permit. Blair was arrested in Rock River township by Conservation Officer Gilbert Larson last week.

Joseph Smith, of Chatham, was fined one dollar and court costs of $3.35 here this morning when brought before Justice J. D. Leiphart on charges of operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license. He was summoned by State Trooper Harold Bliss.

Ice Sports Group Plans For Winter

Munising, Nov. 15—A meeting of the board of directors of the Munising Ice Sports club will be held in the fire hall on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Plans for the coming winter season will be discussed and activities will be arranged.

Officers of the club are: Floyd Smale, president; Emmett Levy, vice president; Edwin G. Lindquist, secretary; V. A. Floria, treasurer.

Announcement Made Of X-Ray Clinic At Mather High School

Munising, Nov. 15—The Michigan Tuberculosis association will conduct an X-ray clinic for Alger county on Tuesday, November 21, at 9 a. m. in the Mather school, according to Dr. E. J. Brenner, director of the Alger-Schoolcraft health department. Arrangements for a tuberculin test or an X-ray should be made immediately through either the local health department or family doctors.

Since tuberculosis is such a very communicable disease, the association attempts to help locate early cases by means of X-ray clinics. It stresses the importance of tuberculin testing and X-raying persons who have come in contact with active tuberculosis, for it is only by contact that the disease is spread.

By means of the tuberculin test and X-ray, tuberculosis infection may be discovered before the usual symptoms of coughing, tiredness, and loss of weight appear. When such characteristics are present, much serious harm will already have been done to the patient himself and to his associates.

Michigan Tuberculosis association clinics are made possible through funds received in the annual sale of Christmas seals.

Munising Archers Find Bucks Wary

Munising, Nov. 15—Munising's three disciples of Diana, goddess of the hunt, A. F. Aley, Vince Martin and Edward Krajewski, failed to fill their licenses during the special season from November 1 to 15 for bow and arrow hunters. All three, all novices at the sport, have spent their spare hours during the last two weeks hunting in the woods and neighboring country surrounding Munising. Although they have had the opportunity for shots, the range was too great for effectiveness.

Bow and arrow hunters have a special license and a special season, just previous to the opening of the regular deer season, for hunting.

MOTORIST JAILED

Munising, Nov. 15—Ernest C. Cox, of Au Train township, was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs of $7.80 after he was brought before Justice T. J. Walters here on Tuesday and charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. He was sent to the Alger county jail for 60 days when he was unable to pay the fine.

Cox was arrested on Monday night by city Patrolman John McPhee after he had sideswiped a truck owned by Leo Ames and parked on East Superior street and then swung across the street and struck a car owned by Lieut. F. M. Marshek, of Camp Au Train, doing damage estimated at about $75.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Nadeau and daughters, Sue, Mary Lou and Joan, of Dalhousie, New Brunswick, Canada, are visiting here with Mr. Nadeau's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Nadeau. They are enroute to Lufkin, Texas, where they will make their future home.

Robert Berube, George Stevenson, Robert Villemure and State Trooper Harold Bliss attended the Michigan-Minnesota football game at Ann Arbor on Saturday and motored to Detroit over the week-end.

John Parker, son of Mrs. Roy Brydon, Island View addition, is confined to the Munising hospital by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. William Belstrom and daughter, Jean, of Negaunee, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Belstrom of Ishpeming visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson in Shingleton on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Morrison are the parents of a son, Barry Leigh, born in the Munising hospital on November 11.

An automobile driven by Eugene Chrisman, of Munising, overturned on M-94, at the bottom of Johnson's hill, early Monday morning. No one was injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Capper and daughter, Lillian, and Miss Beulah LeVeque, of Adrian, returned to their home there on Tuesday after visiting here for several days with Mrs. Capper's and Miss LeVeque's mother, Mrs. James Bingman.

J. A. Vizena spent Wednesday in Marquette on business.

Louis A. Johnson, William C. Rasmussen, Herman Hartsuiker, Henry N. Johnson, Charles Stedman and Ralph Hoyt, all of Fennville; George Proper, of Berville; M. J. Doggendorf, of Armad; C. E. Earles and Dell Starkweather, of Adrian; C. W. Hasty, of Toledo; and Omar Camp, of Sand Creek, are hunting near here.

Copies of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, among other articles, were placed in the cornerstone of the Washington Monument.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INFORMATION

Errors in advertisements should be reported immediately. The Daily Press will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion.

All ads are restricted to their proper classification and to the regular Daily Press style of type. The publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertising copy.

Advertising ordered for irregular insertions takes the one time rate. No ad is taken for less than a basis of three lines. Count six average words to the line. An average word contains six letters.

Accounts unpaid after 20 days will not be granted further credit.

Charged ads will be received by telephone and if paid at the Daily Press office within six days from the first day of insertion cash rates will be allowed.

Ads ordered for three or six times and stopped before expiration will be charged for only the number of times the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate earned.

The Daily Press makes an earnest effort to keep its advertising columns free of deceptive and dishonest announcements. Readers are requested to report unsatisfactory dealings with any advertiser in these columns.

PLEASE DO NOT ask for information on blind ads. The Daily Press will not disclose the identity of any box number or give any information not contained in the ad itself. A flat charge of 10c will be made for each box number issued.

Shirtwaister Of Simple Lines Is Practical Style

BY MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9104

It's smart to be tailored, even on stay-at-home days. Especially when you've a style as becoming and easy to make as Marian Martin's Pattern 9104. It's a shirtwaister, carefully designed to "belittle" matronly figures. How does it do the trick? First there's that splendid yoke which comes from the back to the front in one piece and has tucks and fullness below to release all the bodice ease you need. The front panel of the skirt is cut on the bias—it's both decorative and gives nice centralized fullness. Those novel button-trimmed pockets are optional but so attractive. And the sleeves may be straight and short, flared or long.

Pattern 9104 may be ordered only in women's sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4⅜ yards 35 inch fabric.

write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Fashion is at your finger-tips . . . with a MARIAN MARTIN WINTER PATTERN BOOK in your hands! For your ten nimble fingers plus page after page of her easy patterns add up to sure style success. This book offers a fine selection of suits, dresses and coats whether you're a career woman, socialite, housewife or co-ed. There are tailoreds, day and evening frocks, cheery home styles, youngster togs and gift ideas for everyone. BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. PATTERN FIFTEEN CENTS. "Democracy" Is Topic of Dwight Dumond's Lecture

Dr. Dwight L. Dumond, associate professor of history at the University of Michigan, as guest speaker at the meeting of the Escanaba Woman's club, addressed one hundred and thirty members Wednesday afternoon at Westminster Hall, First Presbyterian church.

Professor Dumond's address, "Democracy," was intensely interesting and scholarly, and his manner of delivery so pleasant, he kept his listeners in rapt attention during the entire talk.

Our greatness as a nation arises from democratic philosophy, both political and economical," he stated. "Character counts; as the individual thinks and lives, so will the nation take hold. The essence of democracy is not alone intentions but moral thought, drawn as a whole from the nation."

The entire address centered on three points, first: the greatest piece of social engineering in history is the Constitution of the United States; second: structural elements originated are partly the result of deliberation and partly the result of chance; and third: honor, prosperity and permanence of a nation have their foundation in external principles of human rights.

Determining Factors

Dr. Dumond discussed the government of laws and not of men, reforms which must of necessity come by peaceable and legal methods, and the protection which the Consttiution gives the individual.

The four determining factors of democracy, he emphasized, are: the Constitution is the greatest piece of social legislation in history; the protection of minorities against the tryanny of majorities; reservation of ultimate power to the people, and the safeguarding of certain external human rights.

The Constitution protects the minorities by the limitation of all groups, he stated, and the exercise of autocratic power. No free government can exist on the principle that the end justifies the means. The Supreme Court and orderly processes of amendment make for orderly reform. Under dictatorships the first institution to be destroyed is the courts.

"All centralization of power in a nation," he continued, "made up of so many races, creeds, agragian and industrial classes, would ultimately make for tyranny. Regional division of a country would never achieve democracy. Pressure groups and class warfare undermine all government. The greatest cohesive power lies in love and affection of citizens for a government based on justice and equality for all."

Tea Follows Lecture

A tea of lovely appointments was served following the lecture. Yellow and white mums and deep pink American Beauty roses centered the table with its cloth of filet lace. Mrs. W. W. Oliver and Mrs. Stanley Matthews poured.

Mrs. G. R. Stegath was chairman of the meeting, and Mrs. F. W. Andrew was tea chairman, assisted by Mrs. Stegath, Mrs. Matthews, Miss Myra Mason and Mrs. Oliver.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

Cities today are filled with WAFER WOMEN. They are women who spread themselves so thin over their causes, clubs, and "connections" that they don't bear any weight anywhere.

They haven't time for their children. For instead of being mothers to their children they are off hearing a "perfectly fascinating" discussion on child psychology.

They haven't time for their husbands—for if they aren't actually at a club meeting, they are turning their own houses upside down getting ready for one.

Though they actually think they have more friends than most people, they haven't real friends. For they haven't time to enjoy friendship.

They are terribly proud of spreading themselves so thin — though that isn't what they call it. They call it "doing things", and if you want to pay them the highest of high compliments, just say, "I declare, I don't see how you do it."

• • •

THINK MOTHERHOOD IS DULL BUSINESS

That will bring forth a modest, "Really, I don't find time for half of the things I would like to do," and then a proud list of all the past week's activities.

All these women feel one way about the woman who says that she must leave the bridge table or the club meeting in time to be home when her children get home from school.

They think she is stupid and a poor, misguided "typical housewife."

It never occurs to them that perhaps she is determined to be a specialist — to concentrate on one thing and do that well.

Shirtwaister Of Simple Lines Is Practical Style

PATTERN 9104

It's smart to be tailored, even on stay-at-home days. Especially when you've a style as becoming and easy to make as Marian Martin's Pattern 9104. It's a shirtwaister, carefully designed to "belittle" matronly figures. How does it do the trick? First there's that splendid yoke which comes from the back to the front in one piece and has tucks and fullness below to release all the bodice ease you need. The front panel of the skirt is cut on the bias—it's both decorative and gives nice centralized fullness. Those novel button-trimmed pockets are optional but so attractive. And the sleeves may be straight and short, flared or long.

Pattern 9104 may be ordered only in women's sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4⅜ yards 35 inch fabric.

write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Fashion is at your finger-tips . . . with a MARIAN MARTIN WINTER PATTERN BOOK in your hands! For your ten nimble fingers plus page after page of her easy patterns add up to sure style success. This book offers a fine selection of suits, dresses and coats whether you're a career woman, socialite, housewife or co-ed. There are tailoreds, day and evening frocks, cheery home styles, youngster togs and gift ideas for everyone. BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. PATTERN FIFTEEN CENTS. "All I get is the feminine viewpoint—why aren't there some men around here?"

Germans Confident Of Victory — Villard

BY OSWALD GARRISON VILLARD

Berlin—On all sides here there is the greatest assurance that this time Germany will win the war and that it will win so quickly and completely that the British Empire will come to its end two months after the great offensive planned for next Spring begins.

The ocean by that time will be covered by German submarines, which are now being laid down in large numbers and are being built on the belt-conveyor plan in use in American automobile production. The German air-force will have reached enormous proportions after a winter during which the great airplane factories will have worked day and night to create an air armada such as no one has ever dreamed of, both in numbers and the uniform modernity of the fleet. When the hour comes there will be an attack from all sides on England which will absolutely overwhelm it and the French air-fleet, if that should come to the rescue.

On land the British army will be reached and "smashed to the last man" as an officer told me the other evening, accompanying his statement with a sadistic fury such as would justify the most extreme attacks upon the Germans. It is to be a military Schrecklichkeit of a kind never seen or imagined and once it is at an end there will be no one to dispute Germany's control of Europe, save Russia.

Attacking Neutral Ships

Presented thus it is really a terrifying picture, for it will be remembered that in the last war the submarines that brought England to the verge of disaster in 1917 never numbered more than fifteen on the firing line at one time. If it is true that several hundred have been or are to be laid down this winter and many of them launched in the next six months England will have her hands full indeed, especially if Stalin lends Germany a hundred of his submarines. In addition the Germans have taken a leaf out of England's book and are going after neutral ships with contraband just as England has. In the airfield there is no doubt that in planes the German superiority is as three to two, though this ratio may be changed when next Spring comes. Mere superiority in numbers is, however, not the controlling factor. There enters into the reckoning the personnel and the quality of the ships and their relative efficiency. Both sides today assert that their craft are faster than the enemy's; in England they believe that their bombers are speedier than German pursuit planes, while here they are certain that they have won the mastery of the air as shown by the fact that on the West front they have brought down sixty Allied airplanes in the relatively little fighting that has been going on. The truth is that no one yet knows and that who will have moral dominance of the air will not be established until after a succession of large scale fights. I cannot, however, find any neutral observer who thinks that the British air-force will be rushed off its feet in one great attack of say five thousand planes. In London they are certain that if five hundred planes reach England very few will ever return and this winter is being utilized to strengthen the defenses in every possible way.

Sees War of Nerves

Plainly it is to be a war of nerves. Whose morale will snap first? Well, I should think that it would be the German nervous system, despite all their confidence and their great military and organizational talent. It was easy to smash Poland but England is not Poland and it is not possible to compare the Polish army with that of England, and any checks will react severely here. I believe, moreover, that if this winter should be spent in military idleness the British will stand it better than either France or Germany. The latter's people are the greater sentimentalists, much more inclined to self-pity, and their men have gone to war with none of the uplift and the genuine enthusiasm of 1914. On the other hand the Germans will be better housed than their enemies and every effort will be made to entertain and amuse the men and keep them busy. On the home front, too, as the last war showed, the morale is much more likely to snap here than in England—I am not so sure about France.

In the economic field, I have not yet found one person who believes that the Germans can be starved out and this opinion is held by anti-Nazis and by foreigners. In the field of raw materials, Germany has tremendous reserve supplies, piled up during the last three years. They insist that some of their synthetic materials such as "Buna," the Ersatz rubber, is more durable than nature's product. Buna is therefore being used exclusively for military vehicles. It is true that many of the factories to be devoted to synthetic materials are not finished. Still there is supreme confidence, even, among those who wish it were otherwise, that somehow or other Germany will beg, buy or steal or get from Russia those absolutely essential raw materials which it cannot produce or find substitutes for. On the economic side the weakness is therefore in the financial field. How can the materials to be imported be paid for? The answers are always insufficient to prove the Nazi case. They talk of their barter system, of many great factories set aside exclusively for barter products, which cannot be used for military ends, whose workers cannot be drafted into the army, and of their ability to keep up a great deal of trade with south-eastern Europe and get some cash for it. There is, however, plainly a limit to this.

So the Germans prefer to talk about the stream-lined war they are going to carry on. Their military have the greatest respect for Gamelin as a fine soldier. They believe, though, that both the English and French are still thinking in terms of the war as it ended in 1918, and not of war in 1939. When I asked my fire-eating officer how they were going to get at the English army beyond the Maginot Line, he answered that there were technical ways of overcoming it and that parts of it built ten years ago were not up-to-date. When I asked him what Gamelin would be doing all this time, he said: "Fighting on other fronts." He then suggested Spain. The other front could, of course, be only the Italian. Ominous and sadistic as this man's rearing was, it is pleasant to reflect that the soldier who tells you just how great his victories are going to be by no means always wins them.

Nile Kinnick Played Baseball With Bob Feller

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

Nile Clarke Kinnick, Jr., once was battery mate of famed Bob Feller in Adel, Iowa, where he was born. . . . Now Iowa's amazing quintuple-threat pitches instead of catches, and is generally acknowledged as best passer in the Big Ten.

Kinnick is 21 years old, stands 5 feet 8 inches and weighs 170 pounds. . . . Father, who is in real estate department of Federal Land Bank of Omaha, played football and baseball at Iowa State.

A brilliant student and almost certain Phi Beta Kappa nominee, Kinnick was likely Rhodes scholar until European war temporarily concelled future appointments . . . Senior, majoring in economics and plans to enter college of law next fall. . . . Does about two hours of janitor and clerical work daily for partial self-support.

• • •

Of Scotch-Irish ancestry. . . . Member of Phi Kappa Psi, Order of Artus, honorary commerce group and senior men's honorary society. . . . Generally considered finest combination of athlete-student in modern Iowa history.

Got football start as mere lad when father kicked pigskin to him in back yard. . . . Family moved from Adel to Omaha, where Nile started in football and basketball at Benson high school. . . . Played one season of basketball as sophomore at Iowa and was team's second highest scorer. . . . Gave up cage sport to concentrate on studies.

Fairly quiet but when he speaks he has habit of making every word count. . . . Serious-minded, he is much too busy to participate in campus social affairs.

• • •

Kinnick's keen mind serves him well on gridiron as well as in classroom. . . . Like Frank Carideo, backfield tutor and former Notre Dame star, Kinnick is referred to as Hawkeyes' playing coach.

Football talent is terrific . . . Besides his passing he averages better than 40 yards as punter . . . with plenty of 'em out in the coffin corner. . . . Corking ball-carrier, averaging 4½ yards per try . . . and possibly outstanding dropkicker in college ranks. . . . Has 10 conversions this year via that method . . . also calls signals when Quarterback Al Couppee is out of lineup.

All this adds up to "quintuple-threat" label tacked onto him at start of this sketch.

DR. M. HAGELE WILL LECTURE

"How Life Begins" To Be Subject of Talk Tonight

The second of a series of free health lectures for Gladstone women will be presented this evening at 8 o'clock in the high school assembly room by Dr. Marie A. Hagele, lecturer for the Michigan Department of Health.

Tonight's lecture is entitled "How Life Begins" and in connection a film on prenatal care is shown. This film was prepared at Harper hospital, Detroit, under the supervision of the Maternal Health committee of the Michigan State Medical society.

The series of talks, the first of which was presented here two weeks ago, offers an excellent opportunity for women to gain the basic knowledge of modern maternal and child hygiene. Dr. Hagele accompanies her talks with considerable illustrative material—charts, maps and posters, in addition to either motion pictures or slides.

Dr. Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis association, will also speak at tonight's gathering, it is announced by Mrs. C. B. Fitzpatrick.

The lectures are sponsored by the Child's Welfare department cooperating with the Michigan Department of Health. Mrs. Fitzpatrick is chairman of the committee in charge and is being assisted by Miss Lorraine LaFramboise, school nurse.

WAS ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Ishpeming — Mrs. Helen Margaret Ogness and her daughter, Ann Gorlin, met death Saturday, November 4, by accidental drowning, a coroner's jury found this afternoon after an inquest in the city council chambers.

Prosecutor John D. Voelker questioned nine witnesses, the principal one being Leo Ogness, husband and father of the victims and lone survivor of the accident. He was on the stand 41 minutes.

Dr. W. A. Corcoran, first witness, who was called to the death scene, said in his opinion Mrs. Ogness, whose body had been taken from the water, was dead when he arrived. He described the vain efforts to save her life and said that in his opinion death was caused by drowning, shock being a small factor.

Obituary

MRS. LOUIS BURDICK

TB ASS'N WORK TALK SUBJECT

T. J. Werle to Address Lions Club, Other Groups Today

The health-giving educational work carried on by the Michigan Tuberculosis association with funds derived from the annual Christmas Seal sale will be described before the Lions club tonight by Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the association.

Mr. Werle will also appear before the high school assembly this afternoon to explain the relation of tuberculosis to people of high school age and will speak tonight at the high school assembly either before or following the health lecture of Dr. Marie Hagele of the Michigan Department of Health.

A marked drop in the tuberculosis death rate in Michigan, largely attributed to increased public knowledge brought about through the education efforts of the association, has been effected in the past 20 years, the period of Mr. Werle's service with the Michigan association.

Mr. Werle's appearances in Gladstone as a part of his Upper Peninsula speaking tour, were arranged by Mrs. J. D. Staple, Seal sale chairman of the Child's Welfare club.

The meeting is to be held at the Lincoln House and a wild duck dinner is to be served. Preparations for the repast were in charge of Vincent Johnson.

New Commemorative Stamp Now On Sale

A special postage stamp in 3-cent denomination to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of admission to the Union of the states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington has been issued and was placed on sale here this week.

The stamp is arranged horizontally and the central subject is an outline map in lighter color showing the four states on a background of darker shade containing the boundary lines of the bordering states. The names of the states and their respective capitals are indicated in dark Roman lettering. In the lower right center is a compass with the date 1889 at the left and 1939 at the right in white lettering.

In a narrow panel with dark ground along the top edge of the stamp is the wording "50th Anniversary of Statehood" in white Gothic. In a narrow panel at the bottom of the stamp is the wording "United States Postage."

Nile Clarke Kinnick, Jr., once was battery mate of famed Bob Feller in Adel, Iowa, where he was born. . . . Now Iowa's amazing quintuple-threat pitches instead of catches, and is generally acknowledged as best passer in the Big Ten.

Kinnick is 21 years old, stands 5 feet 8 inches and weighs 170 pounds. . . . Father, who is in real estate department of Federal Land Bank of Omaha, played football and baseball at Iowa State.

A brilliant student and almost certain Phi Beta Kappa nominee, Kinnick was likely Rhodes scholar until European war temporarily concelled future appointments . . . Senior, majoring in economics and plans to enter college of law next fall. . . . Does about two hours of janitor and clerical work daily for partial self-support.

• • •

Of Scotch-Irish ancestry. . . . Member of Phi Kappa Psi, Order of Artus, honorary commerce group and senior men's honorary society. . . . Generally considered finest combination of athlete-student in modern Iowa history.

Got football start as mere lad when father kicked pigskin to him in back yard. . . . Family moved from Adel to Omaha, where Nile started in football and basketball at Benson high school. . . . Played one season of basketball as sophomore at Iowa and was team's second highest scorer. . . . Gave up cage sport to concentrate on studies.

Fairly quiet but when he speaks he has habit of making every word count. . . . Serious-minded, he is much too busy to participate in campus social affairs.

• • •

Kinnick's keen mind serves him well on gridiron as well as in classroom. . . . Like Frank Carideo, backfield tutor and former Notre Dame star, Kinnick is referred to as Hawkeyes' playing coach.

Football talent is terrific. . . . Besides his passing he averages better than 40 yards as punter . . . with plenty of 'em out in the coffin corner. . . . Corking ball-carrier, averaging 4½ yards per try . . . and possibly outstanding dropkicker in college ranks. . . . Has 10 conversions this year via that method . . . also calls signals when Quarterback Al Couppee is out of lineup.

All this adds up to "quintuple-threat" label tacked onto him at start of this sketch.

Germans Confident Of Victory — Villard

BY OSWALD GARRISON VILLARD

Berlin—On all sides here there is the greatest assurance that this time Germany will win the war and that it will win so quickly and completely that the British Empire will come to its end two months after the great offensive planned for next Spring begins.

The ocean by that time will be covered by German submarines, which are now being laid down in large numbers and are being built on the belt-conveyor plan in use in American automobile production. The German air-force will have reached enormous proportions after a winter during which the great airplane factories will have worked day and night to create an air armada such as no one has ever dreamed of, both in numbers and the uniform modernity of the fleet. When the hour comes there will be an attack from all sides on England which will absolutely overwhelm it and the French air-fleet, if that should come to the rescue.

On land the British army will be reached and "smashed to the last man" as an officer told me the other evening, accompanying his statement with a sadistic fury such as would justify the most extreme attacks upon the Germans. It is to be a military Schrecklichkeit of a kind never seen or imagined and once it is at an end there will be no one to dispute Germany's control of Europe, save Russia.

Attacking Neutral Ships

Presented thus it is really a terrifying picture, for it will be remembered that in the last war the submarines that brought England to the verge of disaster in 1917 never numbered more than fifteen on the firing line at one time. If it is true that several hundred have been or are to be laid down this winter and many of them launched in the next six months England will have her hands full indeed, especially if Stalin lends Germany a hundred of his submarines. In addition the Germans have taken a leaf out of England's book and are going after neutral ships with contraband just as England has. In the airfield there is no doubt that in planes the German superiority is as three to two, though this ratio may be changed when next Spring comes. Mere superiority in numbers is, however, not the controlling factor. There enters into the reckoning the personnel and the quality of the ships and their relative efficiency. Both sides today assert that their craft are faster than the enemy's; in England they believe that their bombers are speedier than German pursuit planes, while here they are certain that they have won the mastery of the air as shown by the fact that on the West front they have brought down sixty Allied airplanes in the relatively little fighting that has been going on. The truth is that no one yet knows and that who will have moral dominance of the air will not be established until after a succession of large scale fights. I cannot, however, find any neutral observer who thinks that the British air-force will be rushed off its feet in one great attack of say five thousand planes. In London they are certain that if five hundred planes reach England very few will ever return and this winter is being utilized to strengthen the defenses in every possible way.

Sees War of Nerves

Plainly it is to be a war of nerves. Whose morale will snap first? Well, I should think that it would be the German nervous system, despite all their confidence and their great military and organizational talent. It was easy to smash Poland but England is not Poland and it is not possible to compare the Polish army with that of England, and any checks will react severely here. I believe, moreover, that if this winter should be spent in military idleness the British will stand it better than either France or Germany. The latter's people are the greater sentimentalists, much more inclined to self-pity, and their men have gone to war with none of the uplift and the genuine enthusiasm of 1914. On the other hand the Germans will be better housed than their enemies and every effort will be made to entertain and amuse the men and keep them busy. On the home front, too, as the last war showed, the morale is much more likely to snap here than in England—I am not so sure about France.

In the economic field, I have not yet found one person who believes that the Germans can be starved out and this opinion is held by anti-Nazis and by foreigners. In the field of raw materials, Germany has tremendous reserve supplies, piled up during the last three years. They insist that some of their synthetic materials such as "Buna," the Ersatz rubber, is more durable than nature's product. Buna is therefore being used exclusively for military vehicles. It is true that many of the factories to be devoted to synthetic materials are not finished. Still there is supreme confidence, even, among those who wish it were otherwise, that somehow or other Germany will beg, buy or steal or get from Russia those absolutely essential raw materials which it cannot produce or find substitutes for. On the economic side the weakness is therefore in the financial field. How can the materials to be imported be paid for? The answers are always insufficient to prove the Nazi case. They talk of their barter system, of many great factories set aside exclusively for barter products, which cannot be used for military ends, whose workers cannot be drafted into the army, and of their ability to keep up a great deal of trade with south-eastern Europe and get some cash for it. There is, however, plainly a limit to this.

So the Germans prefer to talk about the stream-lined war they are going to carry on. Their military have the greatest respect for Gamelin as a fine soldier. They believe, though, that both the English and French are still thinking in terms of the war as it ended in 1918, and not of war in 1939. When I asked my fire-eating officer how they were going to get at the English army beyond the Maginot Line, he answered that there were technical ways of overcoming it and that parts of it built ten years ago were not up-to-date. When I asked him what Gamelin would be doing all this time, he said: "Fighting on other fronts." He then suggested Spain. The other front could, of course, be only the Italian. Ominous and sadistic as this man's rearing was, it is pleasant to reflect that the soldier who tells you just how great his victories are going to be by no means always wins them.

DR. M. HAGELE WILL LECTURE

"How Life Begins" To Be Subject of Talk Tonight

The second of a series of free health lectures for Gladstone women will be presented this evening at 8 o'clock in the high school assembly room by Dr. Marie A. Hagele, lecturer for the Michigan Department of Health.

Tonight's lecture is entitled "How Life Begins" and in connection a film on prenatal care is shown. This film was prepared at Harper hospital, Detroit, under the supervision of the Maternal Health committee of the Michigan State Medical society.

The series of talks, the first of which was presented here two weeks ago, offers an excellent opportunity for women to gain the basic knowledge of modern maternal and child hygiene. Dr. Hagele accompanies her talks with considerable illustrative material—charts, maps and posters, in addition to either motion pictures or slides.

Dr. Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis association, will also speak at tonight's gathering, it is announced by Mrs. C. B. Fitzpatrick.

The lectures are sponsored by the Child's Welfare department cooperating with the Michigan Department of Health. Mrs. Fitzpatrick is chairman of the committee in charge and is being assisted by Miss Lorraine LaFramboise, school nurse.

WAS ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Ishpeming — Mrs. Helen Margaret Ogness and her daughter, Ann Gorlin, met death Saturday, November 4, by accidental drowning, a coroner's jury found this afternoon after an inquest in the city council chambers.

Prosecutor John D. Voelker questioned nine witnesses, the principal one being Leo Ogness, husband and father of the victims and lone survivor of the accident. He was on the stand 41 minutes.

Dr. W. A. Corcoran, first witness, who was called to the death scene, said in his opinion Mrs. Ogness, whose body had been taken from the water, was dead when he arrived. He described the vain efforts to save her life and said that in his opinion death was caused by drowning, shock being a small factor.

Obituary

MRS. LOUIS BURDICK

TB ASS'N WORK TALK SUBJECT

T. J. Werle to Address Lions Club, Other Groups Today

The health-giving educational work carried on by the Michigan Tuberculosis association with funds derived from the annual Christmas Seal sale will be described before the Lions club tonight by Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the association.

Mr. Werle will also appear before the high school assembly this afternoon to explain the relation of tuberculosis to people of high school age and will speak tonight at the high school assembly either before or following the health lecture of Dr. Marie Hagele of the Michigan Department of Health.

A marked drop in the tuberculosis death rate in Michigan, largely attributed to increased public knowledge brought about through the education efforts of the association, has been effected in the past 20 years, the period of Mr. Werle's service with the Michigan association.

Mr. Werle's appearances in Gladstone as a part of his Upper Peninsula speaking tour, were arranged by Mrs. J. D. Staple, Seal sale chairman of the Child's Welfare club.

The meeting is to be held at the Lincoln House and a wild duck dinner is to be served. Preparations for the repast were in charge of Vincent Johnson.

New Commemorative Stamp Now On Sale

A special postage stamp in 3-cent denomination to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of admission to the Union of the states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington has been issued and was placed on sale here this week.

The stamp is arranged horizontally and the central subject is an outline map in lighter color showing the four states on a background of darker shade containing the boundary lines of the bordering states. The names of the states and their respective capitals are indicated in dark Roman lettering. In the lower right center is a compass with the date 1889 at the left and 1939 at the right in white lettering.

In a narrow panel with dark ground along the top edge of the stamp is the wording "50th Anniversary of Statehood" in white Gothic. In a narrow panel at the bottom of the stamp is the wording "United States Postage."

LEGION PLANS WINTER CONFAB

National Commander Is Invited to Attend Meeting Here

Indications are that the 1940 Mid-Winter Conference of Upper Peninsula American Legion Posts to be held in Manistique on January 19, 20, and 21, will be the most outstanding ever to be held. Manistique Post No. 83, which will be host to Legion and Auxiliary members from the Eleventh and Twelfth Districts, is making preparation to take care of between 500 and 750 delegates.

Raymond J. Kelly, of Detroit, newly elected National Commander of the Legion, has been invited to attend the conference and the local post has high hopes that he will accept. This alone would make the coming meeting by far the most significant of any previously held in the Upper Peninsula. All state officers of the Legion and Auxiliary will conclude their annual visit to U. P. posts by attending the Mid-Winter Conference.

The various committees of the local post have already started their work in order that everything will be in readiness to entertain the visiting delegates. Under the guidance of Dr. A. R. Tucker, general chairman, and Fred H. Hahne, secretary, the work is off to a fine start and there will be no let down on preliminary plans until the opening day of the convention.

One of the main features of the coming conference will be the Bowling Tournament among U. P. Legion Posts. Although just getting under way a number of responses have already been received and it would appear that the tournament will attract an unusual number. Installation of a number of new alleys this year has made Manistique one of the outstanding bowling centers of the north.

A fine entertainment program for the three-day session is also in the making with a banquet, speeches and dancing as the highlights.

More Books Are Released At Local Public Library

Books to be released Thursday in the juvenile department of the Manistique Library in honor of Children's Book Week include the following titles.

The Hired Man's Elephant — Phil Stong.

Models Any Boy Can Build — Joseph Leeming.

Martin Hyde, the Duke's Messenger—John Masefield.

WOMEN'S CLUB HEARS DUMOND

History Professor Gives Address at Meeting Tuesday

"The way things are done are so much more important than what is done," said Prof. Dwight L. Dumond, associate history professor, of the University of Michigan in his lecture to members of the Manistique Women's Club at their meeting Tuesday afternoon. Professor Dumond was speaking with reference to what he terms our present serious problem, namely, how to use the state to guarantee the people sustenance against economic insecurity.

Prof. Dumond, who lectured on Communism, Fascism and Democracy traced the development of free markets from feudal times of 1400 to the modern industrial life, characteristic of which is the elaborate system of trade and the ability of the individual to utilize his talents. This world traced to the time of the World War was instrumental in drawing the nations together, the speaker said.

Professor Dumond gave his own opinion as to why we entered the World War, touching briefly on the treaty of Versailles and League of Nations.

"There can be no peace as long as we, the greatest, the strongest, the most powerful nation, economically and morally, continue to remain aloof and in isolation from the rest of the world."

In making a comparison of our democratic government and the dictatorial nationalism prevalent in both Russia and Germany, Prof. Dumond pointed out the characteristics of each.

In Communism or Nazism which are so similar, a dictator relieves the distress of the people by huge expenditures of money, gains support of the party, suppresses all dissent, issues propaganda and works for the unity of the people only for the support of his regime which amounts to economic, political, social and religious regimentation.

On the other hand, democracy is a government by law and of law, not of men, and the American principles of democracy, which have been the greatest contributions to the science of government are: Protection of minority against despotism of majority; Restrictions not against people by against government; Judiciary courts to carry out the idea of restriction and protection; Idea that proper way to change system of government is by orderly process, not revolutions.

In conclusion Mr. Dumond said, "If the democratic nations are to survive, we must solve our problem of the individual against economic insecurity; we must restore world trade; we must inaugurate a system of world cooperation and we, the democratic nation, must unite and take the offensive."

Before the lecture, Miss Theresa Barker, accompanied by her sister, Lorraine, on the piano played the following Marimba solos. Hungarian Dance No. 5, Largo, Scarf Dance.

Mrs. L. L. Musser, delegate to the U. P. district conference of Michigan Federation of Women's clubs gave an interesting report of the meetings attended.

Tea was later served from a colorful table, the centerpiece of which was a basket of fall fruits and vegetables. Mrs. R. Waddell and Mrs. D. J. Ward poured.

Hostesses were: Mrs. Russell Watson, chairman, Mrs. P. N. Tanis, Mrs. R. B. Waddell, Mrs. D. J. Ward, Mrs. Ada Watson, Mrs. O. E. Wassberg and Mrs. W. R. Fairchild.

Hunters Fined For Game Violations

Howard Parker and Charles Fox, of Manistique, were fined $25 and costs of $8.50 each in justice court here yesterday when they were arraigned on charges of hunting during the closed season in an area frequented by game.

The men were arrested along the Manistique river in Manistique township late Tuesday by Conservation Officers Mellon and Anderson.

The men made arrangements to pay the fines.

Lester Schulte and Ezra Batway, of Detroit, arrested in Hiawatha township by Conservation Officer Julius Thorson on charges of carrying a loaded gun in a game area during the closed season, were arraigned here Tuesday morning. Schulte paid a fine of $22 and $8.50 costs and Batway paid costs of $8.50. The fine was suspended.

LEGION PLANS WINTER CONFAB

National Commander Is Invited to Attend Meeting Here

Indications are that the 1940 Mid-Winter Conference of Upper Peninsula American Legion Posts to be held in Manistique on January 19, 20, and 21, will be the most outstanding ever to be held. Manistique Post No. 83, which will be host to Legion and Auxiliary members from the Eleventh and Twelfth Districts, is making preparation to take care of between 500 and 750 delegates.

Raymond J. Kelly, of Detroit, newly elected National Commander of the Legion, has been invited to attend the conference and the local post has high hopes that he will accept. This alone would make the coming meeting by far the most significant of any previously held in the Upper Peninsula. All state officers of the Legion and Auxiliary will conclude their annual visit to U. P. posts by attending the Mid-Winter Conference.

The various committees of the local post have already started their work in order that everything will be in readiness to entertain the visiting delegates. Under the guidance of Dr. A. R. Tucker, general chairman, and Fred H. Hahne, secretary, the work is off to a fine start and there will be no let down on preliminary plans until the opening day of the convention.

One of the main features of the coming conference will be the Bowling Tournament among U. P. Legion Posts. Although just getting under way a number of responses have already been received and it would appear that the tournament will attract an unusual number. Installation of a number of new alleys this year has made Manistique one of the outstanding bowling centers of the north.

A fine entertainment program for the three-day session is also in the making with a banquet, speeches and dancing as the highlights.

History Professor Gives Address at Meeting Tuesday

"The way things are done are so much more important than what is done," said Prof. Dwight L. Dumond, associate history professor, of the University of Michigan in his lecture to members of the Manistique Women's Club at their meeting Tuesday afternoon. Professor Dumond was speaking with reference to what he terms our present serious problem, namely, how to use the state to guarantee the people sustenance against economic insecurity.

Prof. Dumond, who lectured on Communism, Fascism and Democracy traced the development of free markets from feudal times of 1400 to the modern industrial life, characteristic of which is the elaborate system of trade and the ability of the individual to utilize his talents. This world traced to the time of the World War was instrumental in drawing the nations together, the speaker said.

Professor Dumond gave his own opinion as to why we entered the World War, touching briefly on the treaty of Versailles and League of Nations.

"There can be no peace as long as we, the greatest, the strongest, the most powerful nation, economically and morally, continue to remain aloof and in isolation from the rest of the world."

In making a comparison of our democratic government and the dictatorial nationalism prevalent in both Russia and Germany, Prof. Dumond pointed out the characteristics of each.

In Communism or Nazism which are so similar, a dictator relieves the distress of the people by huge expenditures of money, gains support of the party, suppresses all dissent, issues propaganda and works for the unity of the people only for the support of his regime which amounts to economic, political, social and religious regimentation.

On the other hand, democracy is a government by law and of law, not of men, and the American principles of democracy, which have been the greatest contributions to the science of government are: Protection of minority against despotism of majority; Restrictions not against people by against government; Judiciary courts to carry out the idea of restriction and protection; Idea that proper way to change system of government is by orderly process, not revolutions.

In conclusion Mr. Dumond said, "If the democratic nations are to survive, we must solve our problem of the individual against economic insecurity; we must restore world trade; we must inaugurate a system of world cooperation and we, the democratic nation, must unite and take the offensive."

Before the lecture, Miss Theresa Barker, accompanied by her sister, Lorraine, on the piano played the following Marimba solos. Hungarian Dance No. 5, Largo, Scarf Dance.

Mrs. L. L. Musser, delegate to the U. P. district conference of Michigan Federation of Women's clubs gave an interesting report of the meetings attended.

Tea was later served from a colorful table, the centerpiece of which was a basket of fall fruits and vegetables. Mrs. R. Waddell and Mrs. D. J. Ward poured.

Hostesses were: Mrs. Russell Watson, chairman, Mrs. P. N. Tanis, Mrs. R. B. Waddell, Mrs. D. J. Ward, Mrs. Ada Watson, Mrs. O. E. Wassberg and Mrs. W. R. Fairchild.

Hunters Fined For Game Violations

Howard Parker and Charles Fox, of Manistique, were fined $25 and costs of $8.50 each in justice court here yesterday when they were arraigned on charges of hunting during the closed season in an area frequented by game.

The men were arrested along the Manistique river in Manistique township late Tuesday by Conservation Officers Mellon and Anderson.

The men made arrangements to pay the fines.

Lester Schulte and Ezra Batway, of Detroit, arrested in Hiawatha township by Conservation Officer Julius Thorson on charges of carrying a loaded gun in a game area during the closed season, were arraigned here Tuesday morning. Schulte paid a fine of $22 and $8.50 costs and Batway paid costs of $8.50. The fine was suspended.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Stock prices ended slightly lower today under the weight of profit-taking which wiped out a three-hour advance.

It was a professional traders' market, with little investing operation apparent. During the morning, quotations rose timidly, with leaders gaining as much as a point or so. Still, no real money appeared and speculators took their profits and went home for the day, leaving prices sagging by fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .1 of a point at 51.5. Transactions totalled 634,980 shares compared with 775,240 yesterday. It was the smallest session since October 16.

Wall Street observers, in many cases, expressed the opinion that, in view of the lead industrial indices have assumed over market charts, there is nowhere for the market to go but up—but today's session did nothing to encourage their theory.

Some commentators saw in Europe's western front deadlock the complete analogy of the market stalemate. These pointed out that domestic industrial reports were good and insisted that only the war was holding stocks down. Others argued that the same war, however, was partially responsible for some of the industrial gains.

Bonds ran counter to the trend of stocks and closed the day fractionally improved. Commodities in general were lower, with wheat at Chicago off ½ to ¾ cent a bushel; corn lower by 1-8 to ½ cent; and cotton 30 to 55 cents a bale down.

Trading in the European markets was small, but prices were reasonably firm.

Announcement of an increased dividend boosted Pittsburgh & Lake Erie 4¼ in the curb. Massey-Harris lost a point and Gulf Oil lost nearly as much. Turnover of 150,000 shares compared with 151,000 Tuesday.

Detroit Housewife Sends In Dollar To Governor Dickinson

Lansing, Nov. 14. (AP) Governor Dickinson received a dollar today from a Detroit housewife who said she didn't "smoke, chew or drink," the sender expressing a hope the money would be used to help finance the state's welfare program.

She enclosed a newspaper clipping that indicated she had taken up the governor on his suggestion that Michigan citizens deny themselves luxuries for a couple of weeks and give at least a portion of the saving to the state for welfare purposes.

"More power to you," the writer said in praise of Dickinson's homely philosophies.

The governor said it was the first money he has received in response to his appeal.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP) After moving within a very narrow and slightly lower price range today wheat futures developed weakness in the closing minutes and lost as much as 3-4 cent a bushel.

Firmness in securities and continued drought in the hard winter wheat belt encouraged a little buying early, but this melted before forecasts of light rains for parts of the belt. Trade was the lightest in some time, despite crop reports which, generally, continued to be very bullish.

Similar conditions prevailed at other North American markets as traders preferred to mark time.

Wheat closed ½ to 3-4 down, December 87 1-8 to 87, May 85 3-8 to 85¼; corn 1-8 to ½ down, December 49 7-8, May 52 to 51 7-8; oats unchanged to 1-8 lower; soy beans ½ to 3-4 down; rye 7-8 to 1 1-8 lower; lard unchanged to 2 cents a hundredweight lower.

No rains fell overnight, but showers were predicted tomorrow for parts of the hard winter wheat belt and the weekly forecast indicated some rains the latter half of the period.

The government's weekly summary said rains in eastern Kansas, northwestern and extreme western Oklahoma and extreme southeast Nebraska had benefitted the new crop, but that conditions in general continued serious. Private reports from the southwest were mixed, but poor prospects were indicated for large important areas and the Nebraska winter wheat crop condition was termed the worst in history at this time.

There was no improvement in export business and the weekly flour sales report of Northwestern Miller, trade journal, said southwest mills booked 28 percent of milling capacity against 59 percent the previous week, while northwest mills booked 36 percent, equalling that of the previous period.

Corn followed wheat in a very light trade. Sales by shippers were estimated at only 13,000 bushels and bookings to arrive totalled only 28,000 bushels.

Oats were little changed, but rye declined under moderate liquidation.

x—New high.

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—A good rise in U. S. government issues helped give the bond market a build-up today in the face of general softness in stocks.

Treasury bonds acted as if the moderate number of bids present exceeded the available supply. The move was slow but the best prices were recorded at the close, with the gains running to as much as 17-32 of a point.

The continued rally in the federals naturally tended to broaden buying interest in the general run of low yield corporation loans and some of the leaders were bid up fractions to around a point.

For other ratings demand was more selective, yet the Associated Press averages for rail, industrial and utility groups all ended higher.

Easing of the recent scare over a possible German invasion of Holland and Belgium was again reflected in a better demand and some good sized gains in bonds of various neutral nations of Europe.

Finland 6s were prominent in the foreign sector with a 6-point rise. Up 1 to around 4 were Queensland 7s, Norway 4⅛s, Rome 6½s, Belgium 6½s and Denmark 6s.

Transactions totalled $7,581,300, face value, against $7,046,100 Tuesday.

CRUISE TO SAULT

Sault Ste. Marie—Daniel N. Casey, secretary of the Harrisburg, Pa., Chamber of Commerce, is going to be sure the 170 Harrisburg businessmen have a good time when they visit the Sault on their annual cruise June 18, 1940.

The Sault Chamber of Commerce has received notice of the Harrisburg chamber's plans for the cruise on the passenger steamer "South American," flagship of the Georgian Bay Line.

Casey wanted to know just what kind of a program could be arranged here for the reception of the Pennsylvania group. He would like to have a general idea of a program for the Sault to be presented to the Harrisburg board of directors in January.

● SERIAL STORY

5 WOULD KILL

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER I

"I will be killed tonight!

"My luck has run out. I have been warned. That anonymous telephone call. The black cat that ran across the driveway tonight. Third light on a match.

"I've had special police posted all around the house but they can't save me. But before I die—

"There are five persons who would rather see me dead than alive. My wife, Helen Benthorne; William Alston, my father-in-law and former partner; Joey di Torio, the gangster; a woman named Ara and an old prospector, known as 'Big Red.'

"I hate all of them and I know they hate me. I leave this list that the police may know one of these five would kill me—"

• • •

Arnold Benthorne smiled—a bitter, twisted smile— as he read the words he had just written.

They would pay—all of them—for hating Arnold Benthorne. In life he had ruled them all. In death he would still retain his power over them. They would suffer. Only Benthorne could have conceived such a vengeance.

Deliberately he folded the paper, then rising quickly from his chair, he hurried across the study, pulled a bookcase away from the wall and knelt beside a small safe. He twisted the knob and in a moment the door swung open. Light from the desk lamp glistened on the metal.

Benthorne paused, undecided.

"First place Helen and Joey would look," he said, half aloud.

He stepped to the window, pulled back the drawn shade. Rain drummed unceasingly against the panes. A fresh, cool draft swept into the room as he raised the sash a few inches.

A flash of lightning revealed the dark-coated figure of a policeman, huddled against the gate. There was another in the garage, a third at the rear driveway, Benthorne knew. Thunder shook the house, rattled the window.

The ticking of the clock above the fireplace echoed throughout the ensuing silence.

Only a few minutes more, Benthorne thought.

There was yet one chance—only one—but he would take it. Quickly he returned to the desk, turned the lamp shade so that the light fell more upon the closed door. He crumpled the paper in his hand, tossed it into the wastebasket. He opened a desk drawer, took out a revolver. The safety clicked. He replaced it, carefully leaving the drawer open.

Pulling his chair back from the circle of light, yet still within reach of the gun in the drawer, Arnold Benthorne sat down, waited for his murderer.

He could see the headlines—

"BLOODY BENTHORNE MURDERED." That would be old Parker's sheet. They hated him, too. Fought his methods, tried to trap him. But never quite succeeded.

"BENTHORNE, FINANCIER, FOUND DEAD." Good old conservative Carter Smith. Wishy-washy. Afraid to call a spade a spade. Benthorne admitted he liked the Parker's paper better than the Smith's sheet. That gang over at Parker's had courage. That's what it takes. That's what it took to make Arnold Benthorne.

He saw a lad of 10, thin, clothed in castoffs, crying in a doorway. He saw an older boy, heavier, stronger, taunting the weeping lad.

Funny that he should remember now. The older boy, Billy Watson, had challenged his right to sell papers on that corner. Arnold—his name was not Benthorne then—had refused to fight, had run away in terror.

Another picture came to mind. Billy's face, disappearing beneath the waters of the river. Arnold had run screaming to the nearest policeman; men had dived into the river for Billy's body. The crowd praised Arnold—he had done all he could. Even Billy's mother was nice to him, after her hysterical crying had stopped.

They never found Billy's body. It was just as well. Someone might have wondered about those bruised knuckles—bruised as Arnold pounded Billy's fingers as he clung to the dock.

The papers would not tell that story tomorrow.

No—there would be columns about Arnold Benthorne's phenomenal rise in the business world. They would tell how dying stocks revived under his magical touch, how he pyramided his wealth into millions. There would be the story of his vast factories, his thousands of employes. His charities would be mentioned, and the scholarships his wealth had made possible.

There would be pictures, too, of Benthorne—dark-haired, fiftyish, his cold, piercing eyes staring out from the lean hardness of his face. He hoped they would use that picture he had had made last month—the one the photographer said made him llik like a dictator.

Helen's picture would be back in the papers again, too. The society editors would see that his marriage to Helen Alston, daughter of one of America's greatest motor truck manufacturers, would not be forgotten.

The gossip columnists had enjoyed a field day guessing the real facts behind the Alston-Benthorne wedding—wondering how one of society's favorite debutantes could marry a man almost as old as her father. Only one reporter—and Benthorne recalled grimly that he had soon lost his job—had hit the real reason. He had hinted that Benthorne had threatened to wreck Alston Motors and that old man Alston thought more of his trucks than of his daughter.

There was one mystery about Benthorne that no newspaperman would ever solve. For years they had been speculating as to where Arnold Benthorne got his stake. No one knew him when he first came to New York, armed with $50,000 and the determination to turn it into a million. No one knew—nor would ever know—the story of "Big Red."

They had met in Alaska. "Big Red" had come in with the Klondike rush, hunted his strike for 20 years. And he had found it—far inland, among unmapped mountains, "Big Red" had found his gold. Benthorne—his name had been Benson then—learned of the mine when "Big Red" filed his claim. He had followed. "Big Red" northward. He remembered "Big Red's' piteous cries as he left him, blind and dying in that forgotten valley.

He had taken "Big Red's" name—John Douglas—as well as his claim title and ore samples, until he had sold out to a mining company.

He had listed "Big Red" as one of the five—and "Big Red" was dead. He'd scratch off the name. No use blaming a murder on a dead man. Queer that he had imagined, even for an instant, that "Big Red" was alive.

He reached for the wastebasket.

• • •

"Don't move, Benthorne!"

The soft voice, almost a whisper, came from the half-opened door.

"YOU!" Benthorne gasped.

The muzzle of a revolver shone in the light. The round, black hole held Benthorne's hynotized gaze.

"Bring your hands up. Keep away from the desk. You've been expecting me?"

Benthorne did not answer. His head was still above the level of the desk. If he could fall forward, suddenly, he might beat the shot, reach his own gun. One more second—

Flame spouted from that black circle as Arnold Benthorne took his last chance.

FIRE TRAPS BABIES

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 14 (AP)—Four small children of William Taylor, Royal Canadian air force member stationed at Ottawa, burned to death today in a fire which trapped them in their home at Cataraquie, a village three miles from Kingston. Mrs. Taylor was buying groceries in the village when the fire started.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By Bruce Catton

Wahhington — A little-noticed angle of the Third U. S. Circuit Court's decision on the Republic Steel case is that it leaves Republic owing some money to WPA.

Down in the lengthy Labor Board finding which the court upheld was a section dealing with back pay for employes whom the Board ordered Republic to reinstate.

Since the original unpleasantness on which the whole row was based took place back in the spring of 1937, some of these men had been out of work a long time and had gone on relief; so the Labor Board, in ordering the company to give them their back pay, stipulated that it deduct therefrom any sums which they might have received from WPA and pay those sums direct to WPA.

That isn't entirely unprecedented. WPA authorities say there have been a few similar cases, involving small sums, in which they have received payment. They haven't yet figured out how much they have coming from Republic.

• • •

DECISION COMFORTS LABOR BOARD

The Republic decision, incidentally, heartened the Labor Board more than anything that has happened in months. For it was this case which the Board withdrew in the spring of 1938, after it had already got into court with it, because of the Supreme Court's famous ruling against Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in the Kansas City stockyards case.

Wallace had set maximum rates for livestock sales commissions in the Kansas City yards. The Supreme Court threw these rates out on April 25, 1938, holding that Wallace had simply taken as his own the findings of "active presecutors for the government" and that the packers had been denied a full and fair hearing.

By unmistakable implication, the decision critizized any and all quasi-judicial agencies which failed to "act in accordance with the cherished tradition embodying the basic concepts of fair play."

• • •

FORSAW COLLAPSE OF REPUBLIC CASE

The Labor Board's finding against Republic Steel was before the Third Circuit Court at the time. Since the Board's procedure in reaching this finding had been analogous to that followed by Secretary Wallace in the stockyards case, it was almost a foregone conclusion that the Republic finding would collapse in the same way as soon as the Supreme Court got at it.

Consequently, the Board asked permission to withdraw its case from the Circuit Court and to vacate its order. Republic Steel contested this plea, which eventually went to the Supreme Court. Last spring the Supreme Court ruled that the Board might do this.

The order was vacated, and the Board carefully went through its routine afresh, issuing proposed findings of fact, inviting both parties to the case to file exceptions and briefs, and taking pains to make its procedure jibe with the ruling in the stockyards case.

With the Circuit Court upholding the finding and order which resulted, the Board now feels that it has got over one of the most serious threats ever made to its authority.

Someone—labor people here don't know who, though they'd like to—is trying to organize a brand new textile union in the south, separate from both the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. Organizational work has begun in North Carolina, according to reports received here, with indications that plenty of money is available. Leaders of the existing textile unions would like to know what it's all about.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Stock prices ended slightly lower today under the weight of profit-taking which wiped out a three-hour advance.

It was a professional traders' market, with little investing operation apparent. During the morning, quotations rose timidly, with leaders gaining as much as a point or so. Still, no real money appeared and speculators took their profits and went home for the day, leaving prices sagging by fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .1 of a point at 51.5. Transactions totalled 634,980 shares compared with 775,240 yesterday. It was the smallest session since October 16.

Wall Street observers, in many cases, expressed the opinion that, in view of the lead industrial indices have assumed over market charts, there is nowhere for the market to go but up—but today's session did nothing to encourage their theory.

Some commentators saw in Europe's western front deadlock the complete analogy of the market stalemate. These pointed out that domestic industrial reports were good and insisted that only the war was holding stocks down. Others argued that the same war, however, was partially responsible for some of the industrial gains.

Bonds ran counter to the trend of stocks and closed the day fractionally improved. Commodities in general were lower, with wheat at Chicago off ½ to ¾ cent a bushel; corn lower by 1-8 to ½ cent; and cotton 30 to 55 cents a bale down.

Trading in the European markets was small, but prices were reasonably firm.

Announcement of an increased dividend boosted Pittsburgh & Lake Erie 4¼ in the curb. Massey-Harris lost a point and Gulf Oil lost nearly as much. Turnover of 150,000 shares compared with 151,000 Tuesday.

Detroit Housewife Sends In Dollar To Governor Dickinson

Lansing, Nov. 14. (AP)—Governor Dickinson received a dollar today from a Detroit housewife who said she didn't "smoke, chew or drink," the sender expressing a hope the money would be used to help finance the state's welfare program.

She enclosed a newspaper clipping that indicated she had taken up the governor on his suggestion that Michigan citizens deny themselves luxuries for a couple of weeks and give at least a portion of the saving to the state for welfare purposes.

"More power to you," the writer said in praise of Dickinson's homely philosophies.

The governor said it was the first money he has received in response to his appeal.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP)—After moving within a very narrow and slightly lower price range today wheat futures developed weakness in the closing minutes and lost as much as 3-4 cent a bushel.

Firmness in securities and continued drought in the hard winter wheat belt encouraged a little buying early, but this melted before forecasts of light rains for parts of the belt. Trade was the lightest in some time, despite crop reports which, generally, continued to be very bullish.

Similar conditions prevailed at other North American markets as traders preferred to mark time.

Wheat closed ½ to 3-4 down, December 87 1-8 to 87, May 85 3-8 to 85¼; corn 1-8 to ½ down, December 49 7-8, May 52 to 51 7-8; oats unchanged to 1-8 lower; soy beans ½ to 3-4 down; rye 7-8 to 1 1-8 lower; lard unchanged to 2 cents a hundredweight lower.

No rains fell overnight, but showers were predicted tomorrow for parts of the hard winter wheat belt and the weekly forecast indicated some rains the latter half of the period.

The government's weekly summary said rains in eastern Kansas, northwestern and extreme western Oklahoma and extreme southeast Nebraska had benefitted the new crop, but that conditions in general continued serious. Private reports from the southwest were mixed, but poor prospects were indicated for large important areas and the Nebraska winter wheat crop condition was termed the worst in history at this time.

There was no improvement in export business and the weekly flour sales report of Northwestern Miller, trade journal, said southwest mills booked 28 percent of milling capacity against 59 percent the previous week, while northwest mills booked 36 percent, equalling that of the previous period.

Corn followed wheat in a very light trade. Sales by shippers were estimated at only 43,000 bushels and bookings to arrive totalled only 28,000 bushels.

Oats were little changed, but rye declined under moderate liquidation.

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—A good rise in U. S. government issues helped give the bond market a build-up today in the face of general softness in stocks.

Treasury bonds acted as if the moderate number of bids present exceeded the available supply. The move was slow but the best prices were recorded at the close, with the gains running to as much as 17-32 of a point.

The continued rally in the federals naturally tended to broaden buying interest in the general run of low yield corporation loans and some of the leaders were bid up fractions to around a point.

For other ratings demand was more selective, yet the Associated Press averages for rail, industrial and utility groups all ended higher.

Easing of the recent scare over a possible German invasion of Holland and Belgium was again reflected in a better demand and some good sized gains in bonds of various neutral nations of Europe.

Finland 6s were prominent in the foreign sector with a 6-point rise. Up 1 to around 4 were Queensland 7s, Norway 4¼s, Rome 6½s, Belgium 6½s and Denmark 6s.

Transactions totalled $7,581,300, face value, against $7,046,100 Tuesday.

CRUISE TO SAULT

Sault Ste. Marie—Daniel N. Casey, secretary of the Harrisburg, Pa., Chamber of Commerce, is going to be sure the 170 Harrisburg businessmen have a good time when they visit the Sault on their annual cruise June 18, 1940.

The Sault Chamber of Commerce has received notice of the Harrisburg chamber's plans for the cruise on the passenger steamer "South American," flagship of the Georgian Bay Line.

Casey wanted to know just what kind of a program could be arranged here for the reception of the Pennsylvania group. He would like to have a general idea of a program for the Sault to be presented to the Harrisburg board of directors in January.

• SERIAL STORY

5 WOULD KILL

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER I

"I will be killed tonight!

"My luck has run out. I have been warned. That anonymous telephone call. The black cat that ran across the driveway tonight. Third light on a match.

"I've had special police posted all around the house but they can't save me. But before I die—

"There are five persons who would rather see me dead than alive. My wife, Helen Benthorne; William Alston, my father-in-law and former partner; Joey di Torio, the gangster; a woman named Ara and an old prospector, known as 'Big Red.'

"I hate all of them and I know they hate me. I leave this list that the police may know one of these five would kill me—"

• • •

Arnold Benthorne smiled—a bitter, twisted smile—as he read the words he had just written.

They would pay—all of them—for hating Arnold Benthorne. In life he had ruled them all. In death he would still retain his power over them. They would suffer. Only Benthorne could have conceived such a vengeance.

Deliberately he folded the paper, then rising quickly from his chair, he hurried across the study, pulled a bookcase away from the wall and knelt beside a small safe. He twisted the knob and in a moment the door swung open. Light from the desk lamp glistened on the metal.

Benthorne paused, undecided.

"First place Helen and Joey would look," he said, half aloud.

He stepped to the window, pulled back the drawn shade. Rain drummed unceasingly against the panes. A fresh, cool draft swept into the room as he raised the sash a few inches.

A flash of lightning revealed the dark-coated figure of a policeman, huddled against the gate. There was another in the garage, a third at the rear driveway, Benthorne knew. Thunder shook the house, rattled the window.

The ticking of the clock above the fireplace echoed throughout the ensuing silence.

Only a few minutes more, Benthorne thought.

There was yet one chance—only one—but he would take it. Quickly he returned to the desk, turned the lamp shade so that the light fell more upon the closed door. He crumpled the paper in his hand, tossed it into the wastebasket. He opened a desk drawer, took out a revolver. The safety clicked. He replaced it, carefully leaving the drawer open.

Pulling his chair back from the circle of light, yet still within reach of the gun in the drawer, Arnold Benthorne sat down, waited for his murderer.

He could see the headlines—

"BLOODY BENTHORNE MURDERED." That would be old Parker's sheet. They hated him, too. Fought his methods, tried to trap him. But never quite succeeded.

"BENTHORNE, FINANCIER, FOUND DEAD." Good old conservative Carter Smith. Wishy-washy. Afraid to call a spade a spade. Benthorne admitted he liked the Parker's paper better than the Smith's sheet. That gang over at Parker's had courage. That's what it takes. That's what it took to make Arnold Benthorne.

He saw a lad of 10, thin, clothed in castoffs, crying in a doorway. He saw an older boy, heavier, stronger, taunting the weeping lad.

Funny that he should remember now. The older boy, Billy Watson, had challenged his right to sell papers on that corner. Arnold—his name was not Benthorne then—had refused to fight, had run away in terror.

Another picture came to mind. Billy's face, disappearing beneath the waters of the river. Arnold had run screaming to the nearest policeman; men had dived into the river for Billy's body. The crowd praised Arnold—he had done all he could. Even Billy's mother was nice to him, after her hysterical crying had stopped.

They never found Billy's body. It was just as well. Someone might have wondered about those bruised knuckles—bruised as Arnold pounded Billy's fingers as he clung to the dock.

The papers would not tell that story tomorrow.

No—there would be columns about Arnold Benthorne's phenomenal rise in the business world. They would tell how dying stocks revived under his magical touch, how he pyramided his wealth into millions. There would be the story of his vast factories, his thousands of employes. His charities would be mentioned, and the scholarships his wealth had made possible.

There would be pictures, too, of Benthorne—dark-haired, fiftyish, his cold, piercing eyes staring out from the lean hardness of his face. He hoped they would use that picture he had had made last month—the one the photographer said made him liik like a dictator.

Helen's picture would be back in the papers again, too. The society editors would see that his marriage to Helen Alston, daughter of one of America's greatest motor truck manufacturers, would not be forgotten.

The gossip columnists had enjoyed a field day guessing the real facts behind the Alston-Benthorne wedding—wondering how one of society's favorite debutantes could marry a man almost as old as her father. Only one reporter—and Benthorne recalled grimly that he had soon lost his job—had hit the real reason. He had hinted that Benthorne had threatened to wreck Alston Motors and that old man Alston thought more of his trucks than of his daughter.

There was one mystery about Benthorne that no newspaperman would ever solve. For years they had been speculating as to where Arnold Benthorne got his stake. No one knew him when he first came to New York, armed with $50,000 and the determination to turn it into a million. No one knew—nor would ever know—the story of "Big Red."

They had met in Alaska. "Big Red" had come in with the Klondike rush, hunted his strike for 20 years. And he had found it—far inland, among unmapped mountains, "Big Red" had found his gold. Benthorne—his name had been Benson then—learned of the mine when "Big Red" filed his claim. He had followed. "Big Red" northward. He remembered "Big Red's" piteous cries as he left him, blind and dying in that forgotten valley.

He had taken "Big Red's" name—John Douglas—as well as his claim title and ore samples, until he had sold out to a mining company.

He had listed "Big Red" as one of the five—and "Big Red" was dead. He'd scratch off the name. No use blaming a murder on a dead man. Queer that he had imagined, even for an instant, that "Big Red" was alive.

He reached for the wastebasket.

"Don't move, Benthorne!"

The soft voice, almost a whisper, came from the half-opened door.

"YOU!" Benthorne gasped.

The muzzle of a revolver shone in the light. The round, black hole held Benthorne's hynotized gaze.

"Bring your hands up. Keep away from the desk. You've been expecting me?"

Benthorne did not answer. His head was still above the level of the desk. If he could fall forward, suddenly, he might beat the shot, reach his own gun. One more second—

Flame spouted from that black circle as Arnold Benthorne took his last chance.

FIRE TRAPS BABIES

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 14 (AP)—Four small children of William Taylor, Royal Canadian air force member stationed at Ottawa, burned to death today in a fire which trapped them in their home at Cataraqui, a village three miles from Kingston. Mrs. Taylor was buying groceries in the village when the fire started.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By Bruce Catton

Wahhington — A little-noticed angle of the Third U. S. Circuit Court's decision on the Republic Steel case is that it leaves Republic owing some money to WPA.

Down in the lengthy Labor Board finding which the court upheld was a section dealing with back pay for employes whom the Board ordered Republic to reinstate.

Since the original unpleasantness on which the whole row was based took place back in the spring of 1937, some of these men had been out of work a long time and had gone on relief; so the Labor Board, in ordering the company to give them their back pay, stipulated that it deduct therefrom any sums which they might have received from WPA and pay those sums direct to WPA.

That isn't entirely unprecedented. WPA authorities say there have been a few similar cases, involving small sums, in which they have received payment. They haven't yet figured out how much they have coming from Republic.

• • •

DECISION COMFORTS LABOR BOARD

The Republic decision, incidentally, heartened the Labor Board more than anything that has happened in months. For it was this case which the Board withdrew in the spring of 1938, after it had already got into court with it, because of the Supreme Court's famous ruling against Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in the Kansas City stockyards case.

Wallace had set maximum rates for livestock sales commissions in the Kansas City yards. The Supreme Court threw these rates out on April 25, 1938, holding that Wallace had simply taken as his own the findings of "active presecutors for the government" and that the packers had been denied a full and fair hearing.

By unmistakable implication, the decision critizized any and all quasi-judicial agencies which failed to "act in accordance with the cherished tradition embodying the basic concepts of fair play."

• • •

FORSAW COLLAPSE OF REPUBLIC CASE

The Labor Board's finding against Republic Steel was before the Third Circuit Court at the time. Since the Board's procedure in reaching this finding had been analogous to that followed by Secretary Wallace in the stockyards case, it was almost a foregone conclusion that the Republic finding would collapse in the same way as soon as the Supreme Court got at it.

Consequently, the Board asked permission to withdraw its case from the Circuit Court and to vacate its order. Republic Steel contested this plea, which eventually went to the Supreme Court. Last spring the Supreme Court ruled that the Board might do this.

The order was vacated, and the Board carefully went through its routine afresh, issuing proposed findings of fact, inviting both parties to the case to file exceptions and briefs, and taking pains to make its procedure jibe with the ruling in the stockyards case.

With the Circuit Court upholding the finding and order which resulted, the Board now feels that it has got over one of the most serious threats ever made to its authority.

Someone—labor people here don't know who, though they'd like to—is trying to organize a brand new textile union in the south, separate from both the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. Organizational work has begun in North Carolina, according to reports received here, with indications that plenty of money is available. Leaders of the existing textile unions would like to know what it's all about.

Professional Golfers Have New Deal In Election

WHOLE OFFICIAL SLATE CHANGED

Tom Walsh of Chicago PGA Prexy; Shute Mixup Muzzled

BY EARL HILLIGAN

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Professional Golfers Association, in a surprisingly speedy and harmonious session, dealt itself a "new deal" today.

Meeting, appropriately enough, in the Roosevelt room of a downtown hotel, delegates installed an entirely new slate of major officers, choosing Tom Walsh of Chicago as president, succeeding George Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J.; electing Capt. Charles Clarke of Willoughby, O., secretary; and naming as treasurer William Maguire, Houston, Tex.

But where one of the stormiest elective sessions in P. G. A. history was anticipated, the direct opposite situation materialized. Jacobus, finishing his seventh term as president, formally announced his decision against running again and this was followed by the quick nomination of Walsh and Ed Dudley of Philadelphia as the only candidates.

Hatchet Buried

The count was 45 votes for Walsh, national secretary for several years, to 22 for Dudley, a vice president of the organization and chairman of its tournament committee. The "Denny Shute incident" did not produce the expected fireworks, but some observers saw traces of its influence in Walsh's election. Walsh was on the executive committee which last summer ruled Shute ineligible for the P. G. A. championship, a ruling which Jacobus overrode.

The contest for secretary was three-cornered, Capt. Clarke polling 45 ballots to 16 for Frank Sprogell of Grand Rapids, Mich., and six for John Budd, Tallahassee, Fla. Maguire was given 36 ballots for treasurer to 31 for Jack Mackie of New York, who had held the post for 15 years. Jacobus was named honorary president and will retain a place on the executive committee.

The harmonious elective session, it was learned, was no accident. Apparently realizing the Shute case came dangerously close to wrecking their championship last summer, the teaching pros and tournament players did a quick job of burying the hatchet. At least three delegates expressed "regret" over the incident in preelection talks.

Amateur Boxers To Stage Show Tonight

The Escanaba Amateur Boxing club will stage another of its popular shows at the City Recreation Center tonight beginning at 8 o'clock. Seven bouts are on the program.

All of the matches will be between boys who have been training in the boxing center located at North First and 14th street, with John Pennings and Lachapple billed for the windup.

Other matches are as follows: Dick Pryal vs. B. Sayklly; F. DeMars vs. Delare; W. Jacka vs. D. Wollet; Soull vs. B. Taylor; B. Jereau vs. W. Hirn; Ferrari vs. Holmes.

Because of the limited space, a very small charge will be made for those wishing to attend the show. The proceeds will be used to purchase additional equipment which may be used by anyone in the city. The boxing center is open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30 and from 7 to 10, and on Saturday from 9 to 12, and 1:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

Free Room, Board Tuition Proposed For Football Men

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 15 (AP)—Roy O. Pike of Bloomington, member of the Indiana University athletic board, today advocated free room, board and tuition for varsity football squads of colleges and universities.

Pike, former I. U. football player and one-time assistant coach, is president of the citizens loan and trust company of Bloomington.

He would limit the benefits to 36 players, excluding freshmen and sophomores, and would allow only junior and seniors to play on the varsity.

"This program," Pike said, "would be an incentive for students to get on the university squad. Students would take more interest in football. Junior standing would insure scholastic eligibility."

Frank (Poison) Ivy, Oklahoma's Great End, Part Indian; One of Nine Married Men On Squad; Relaxes at Billiards

NEA Service Sports Writer

Frank Ivy is a colorful mixture of Swedish and Indian ancestry . . . With Osage and Cherokee blood constituting the latter . . . Senior in Oklahoma College of arts and sciences, majoring in physical education and hopes to coach after graduation. Is 23 years old, stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 197.

Ivy (Poison Ivy to opposition) is one of nine married men on Sooner squad . . . Married pretty Inez Daniel from home town, who is also part Osage Indian . . . They live in apartment in Norman, and teammates say reason Ivy is one of best ends in land is because of home cooking.

• • •

Hails from little town of Skiatook, Okla., where he was chosen all-state scholastic fullback in 1935 . . . Father is farmer, living four miles west of Skiatook in Osage Hills, where he grows the tallest corn in the country . . . Frank grew up doing farm work and toughnecking in oil wells during summer.

Quiet, level-headed, temperate youth with mild disposition . . . Favorite diversions are golf and billiards, both of which he plays moderately well . . . Nick-named "Pop" by teammates because of bald spot . . . Average student who has never flunked single hour of college work.

• • •

Tom Stidham converted him into end, and last year he played both right and left wings . . . In Oklahoma's Orange Bowl defeat by Tennessee he was Sooners' outstanding flanker, looking much better than All-America Waddy Young . . . This year he took up where Young left off.

He's a great play-smasher and rushes passers fiercely . . . Dangerous as punt blocker, is good pass receiver and is Oklahoma's key blocker . . . Ivy's job is to block opposing left tackle . . . If he fails Sooners' running game won't go . . . Ivy tossed Bill deCorrevont for seven-yard loss in Northwestern sophomore's first play in college football . . . Hasn't missed a minute of play because of injuries this year.

Herber and Hutson of Packers Lead In Air Gains

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Individuals are keeping pace with teams as record breakers as the National Pro Football league continues its passing and scoring orgies from week to week.

Last Sunday saw one mark broken and another tied as Davey O'Brien completed 19 passes in one game to better the previous record by four, and Andy Farkas boosted his season's touchdown total to nine to equal the best performance in that department.

O'Brien set his record for the Philadelphia Eagles against Green Bay. The previous mark, set by Pat Coffee of the Cardinals in 1937 and tied this year by Ace Parker of Brooklyn, was 15. Don Hutson of Green Bay set the touchdown mark of nine in 1936, and tied it in 1938.

Bill Osmanski, Chicago Bear rookie, jumped into the lead in the ground gaining department as he boosted his total to 603 yards, a total which betters that made by Whizzer White in winning the title last year. Joe Maniaci, also of the Bears is in second place with 501 yards. However, Maniaci's average of 7.1 per try is the best in the circuit.

Hall has the most pass completions, with 60, but he has thrown more, and O'Brien has the best efficiency average, completing 43 of 91 for .471. Arnie Herber of Green Bay has gained the most ground via air, accounting for 879 yards with his 48 completions.

In the pass receiving department Perry Schwartz of Brooklyn leads with 25, but Hutson, receiving only 22, has gained the most ground—565 yards—and leads in touchdowns scored on passes with five. Farkas leads the loop in scoring with 55 points, with John Drake of Cleveland second with 48 and Osmanski third with 42.

EDUCATED TOE

Chicago—In six seasons in the National Football League, Jack Manders of the Chicago Bears has scored 302 points. He kicked 36 field goals, 104 points after touchdowns and scored 15 touchdowns.

'STOP INDIANA' DRIVE STARTED

Michigan State Loses No Time Getting Ready for Next Battle

BY JACK I. GREEN

East Lansing, Nov. 15. (AP)—Michigan State's football uniforms were out of the bags today almost before the squad alighted from the train and inside of an hour the Spartans had started their "Stop Indiana" campaign in earnest.

On their return trip from Santa Clara, the Spartans heard little but plans to overcome the Hoosiers' passing game, as focused around Hal Hursh, the Indiana aerial leader. Hursh is reported to be one of the best passers in the Big Ten.

Coach Charley Bachman put the squad on old College Field immediately upon arrival home with instructions to get the feel of the pass defense he had worked out enroute.

The Spartan coaches reported Indiana, despite its in and out season this fall, has a deceptive attack and the Spartans have not always escaped being fooled by deception this year.

The Hoosiers tied Nebraska 7 to 7; lost to Iowa 32 to 29; whipped Wisconsin 14 to 0; lost to Ohio State 24 to 0; defeated the giant-killing Illinois 7 to 6; and lost last week to Fordham 13 to 0.

Twin Bill Booked By Munising Squad

Munising, Mich., Nov. 15.—The Harry's Super Service five will open their 1939-40 basketball season here on November 25 when they play a twin bill against the Munising CYO and the Grand Marais Aces in the Mather high school gymnasium. The Super Service squad last year played under the banner of the Lew's Store. They will be managed again this year by Frank Fleming.

The Rock Independent quintet will come here on December 2. This year the village's two squads, the Herb's and Frank's, have combined under the banner of the Herb's, and a stronger team than last year will be put on the floor by the Delta county aggregation in the battle here.

Attempts are being made at the present to book a Chinese all-star aggregation on tour of the country. The group are being managed by Saperstein, known for his affiliation with the Harlem Globe-Trotters, colored basketball experts. The game, if scheduled, would probably be played here on December 9.

DART BALL CHANGED

The league dart ball between St. Stephens Episcopal and Bethany Lutheran originally scheduled at Bethany Lutheran will be played at St. Stephens beginning at 7:30 tonight.

Screwy News Honors Go To Jim Crowley

BY BILL BONI

New York, Nov. 15. (AP)—Being another four-star edition of football's "screwy news," with at least three and a half stars and an honorary appointment as head screwball to Fordham's Jim Crowley for the following lead-off anecdote:

With about two minutes to go in the Indiana game, Fordham had the ball down on the Hoosier 20-yard line. His third team was in the game, so Crowley had told the quarterback not to kick, even on fourth down. It might be blocked, and Indiana might run it back for a score.

But a few plays later, with a bad center pass and some penalties, the Rams were back near mid-field. Crowley had just sent in his last few subs, and was turning back toward the bench, when one of the Indiana boys on the field sang out:

"Hi, Jimmy, how're things back home in Green Bay?"

"Okay," said Crowley. "Say, go over and tell my quarterback to kick now, will you?"

"Right," said the Indiana boy, who ran into the Fordham huddle, whispered to Crowley's quarterback, then went back to his place at left tackle—and darned near blocked the punt which, sure enough, the quarterback called.

This really must be a tough season for those Yales. Last Saturday cheerleader Ed Tolland, to hail an Eli gain against Brown, turned an enthusiastic cartwheel. Result—it was so enthusiastic he sprained his ankle. He'll probably be out for the Princeton game.

Diamond Joe Paglia, who used to punt 'em into the coffin corner for Santa Clara and now coaches St. Martin's college of Lacey, Wash., probably is the first coach on record to lose a player in an earthquake.

Sunday night Nig Jundel, one of his best ends, was sitting in on a dormitory bull session complaining about a charley horse in his right leg. The building started to shake in the grip of an earthquake. Jundel, in spite of that charley horse, was the first man out of the room and headed for the stairs. Suddenly there was a dull thud, and there was Jundel at the foot of the stairs, with a badly-wrenched left knee to match his right leg's charley horse.

Tad Wieman, Princeton's towering coach, objects to being called "scholarly"—so much so that he no longer wears his Phi Beta Kappa key.

Wilby high, city champions of Waterbury, Conn., last year, lost almost all of the team through graduation, and Coach Jimmy Lee has been hard pressed for subs. Against Gilbert high of Winsted, he sent in a green kid who'd never played in a school game.

The boy went in at end, and the first play was a pass. But officials ruled offside—offside by 35 yards, for our hero was that far downfield, in his anxiety to catch the pass, even before the ball was snapped.

P. S.—After a thorough talking-to from his captain the youngster did the same thing five minutes later. Only this time he wound up 25 yards beyond the enemy safety man.

We're back at Gilbert high of Windsted, a town which, on good authority, has had its share of screwy incidents. Two high school teams were playing on a field that, because rains had swelled an adjoining brook, was under two feet (honest measure) of water. The teams insisted on playing, and the officials couldn't very well stop them.

In came a sub wearing a nice, fresh uniform. Advised by the referee that it wouldn't stay that way long, the kid said:

"Well, I might as well get used to these conditions," took a header into the water and came up with:

"Okay, now let's go."

Missouri's Paul Christman gave 30,000 New York customers a great display of his football prowess last Saturday, and gave the New York U.'ers, slap 'em on the back, and say:

"Great day for a game, isn't it, fellas? Boy, what a day!"

It probably was—for Paul. N. Y. U.'s still wondering.

PASS DEFENSE HOLES PLUGGED

Crisler Expects Quakers to Spring Air Attack Next Saturday

BY GEORGE A. STAUTER

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15. (AP)—Fundamentals and pass defense took up a major portion of the practice session today as Michigan's gridders hurried preparations for their intersectional game with the University of Pennsylvania.

That Coach Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler expects the Quakers to spring an aerial attack against the Wolverines was indicated by the way in which he had the reserves pepper the varsity with passes.

Michigan's pass defense has had wide holes in it at times this season and Penn, in Frank Reagan, triple-threat quarterback, has a passer whose arm has played a prominent part in the four victories his team has scored this season.

At the same time, the Wolverines' own passing game, which accounted for their only score in the loss to Minnesota, also came in for some attention. Crisler sought particularly to obtain protection for his marksmen.

Saturday's meeting between Michigan and Penn at Philadelphia will be the seventeenth since 1899. The Quakers are one of the few teams to hold an edge over the Wolverines with eight victories as against seven defeats and two ties.

Last year Michigan won, 19 to 8, after a last period rally that netted Penn two touchdowns.

Crisler chose a 35 man squad for the trip which will be made by special train leaving here at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

The squad:

Ends, Joseph Bosza, Joe Rogers, Ed Czak, Paul Nielsen, John Nicholson and Harlan Fraumann; tackles, Roland Savilla, Bill Smith, Reuben Kelto, Jack Butler, Robert Flora and Dennis Kuhn; guards, Ralph Fritz, Milo Sukup, Bill Melzow, Frederic Olds, Forrest Jordan and Arthur Paddy; centers, Capt. Archie Kodros, Horace Tinker and Ted Kennedy.

Backs, Paul Kromer, Fred Trosko, Dave Strong, Tom Harmon, Norman Call, Bill Luther, Dave Nelson, Bob Westfall, Bob Zimmerman, Larry Wichter, Bob Ingalls, Forest Evashevski, Walter Kitti and James Grissen.

TRENARY TRIMS ALUMNI

The Trenary high school regulars trimmed the Alumni 26 to 23 last night in the first basketball game of the season at Trenary. In the Alumni lineup were L. Latzola, D. Quarfoot, D. Hill, Seppanen, Webber, Hytinen, Mills, Maki and Seppanen.

H'VILLE CAGERS START DEC. 12

Coach Kleimola Directs Drills; Several Vets On Redskin Crew

Hermansville, Nov. 15—Anxious to retain the Menominee county league championship, the Hermansville high school basketball team has been working out under the supervision of Coach Jack Kleimola in the community club gym for the past month. The Redskins started practice earlier this year because football was not sponsored and all the concentration was put on basketball.

The school can also play three more basketball games with dropping of the pigskin sport and the fans will have better chance to watch them in action with the longer season.

A full Menominee county league slate is contracted for besides games with Channing, Vulcan, and Daggett. Two games will be played this year with Channing as compared to only one last year.

Graduation has taken several regulars from the team of last year. Among those who will be missing are John Parish, a veteran center who saw four years of service, as well as Eval St. Juliana, another four-year man, George Earle who also saw much service at guard was also lost by the graduation route.

Twins Are Back

The returning letter winners are the Machalk twins, Steve and Mike, Bruna Maull, Walter Peterson, Howard Schwartz, and Frank Miketinac. Most of this group had considerable experience last year. Frank Kure, a lanky senior, is also out again this year after being out most of last season with a knee injury. Several of last year's undefeated reserve team are expected to break into the lineup. Among them are John Pierpont, John St. Juliana, and John Beadoin.

Due to the state raising the requirements of a class D school up to 125 students the sawmill boys will return to class D competition after a year or two in class C, where the team did very well except when they had to encounter Norway in their district tournament.

The tentative schedule for the school for the coming year is:

Dec. 12—Harris at Hermansville.
Dec. 15—Powers at Powers.
Dec. 29—Channing at Channing.
Jan. 10—Daggett at Hermansville.
Jan. 12—Channing at Hermansville.
Jan. 19—Stephenson at Stephenson.
Jan. 24—Daggett at Daggett.
Jan. 26—Felch at Hermansville.
Feb. 2—Harris at Harris.
Feb. 9—Vulcan at Vulcan.
Feb. 16—Powers at Hermansville.
Feb. 23—Felch at Felch.
Mar. 1—Stephenson at Hermansville.

One game with Vulcan yet to be scheduled.

Professional Golfers Have New Deal In Election

WHOLE OFFICIAL SLATE CHANGED

Tom Walsh of Chicago PGA Prexy; Shute Mixup Muzzled

BY EARL HILLIGAN

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Professional Golfers Association, in a surprisingly speedy and harmonious session, dealt itself a "new deal" today.

Meeting, appropriately enough, in the Roosevelt room of a downtown hotel, delegates installed an entirely new slate of major officers, choosing Tom Walsh of Chicago as president, succeeding George Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J.; electing Capt. Charles Clarke of Willoughby, O., secretary; and naming as treasurer William Maguire, Houston, Tex.

But where one of the stormiest elective sessions in P. G. A. history was anticipated, the direct opposite situation materialized. Jacobus, finishing his seventh term as president, formally announced his decision against running again and this was followed by the quick nomination of Walsh and Ed Dudley of Philadelphia as the only candidates.

Hatchet Buried

The count was 45 votes for Walsh, national secretary for several years, to 22 for Dudley, a vice president of the organization and chairman of its tournament committee. The "Denny Shute incident" did not produce the expected fireworks, but some observers saw traces of its influence in Walsh's election. Walsh was on the executive committee which last summer ruled Shute ineligible for the P. G. A. championship, a ruling which Jacobus overrode.

The contest for secretary was three-cornered, Capt. Clarke polling 45 ballots to 16 for Frank Sprogell of Grand Rapids, Mich., and six for John Budd, Tallahasee, Fla. Maguire was given 36 ballots for treasurer to 31 for Jack Mackie of New York, who had held the post for 15 years. Jacobus was named honorary president and will retain a place on the executive committee.

The harmonious elective session, it was learned, was no accident. Apparently realizing the Shute case came dangerously close to wrecking their championship last summer, the teaching pros and tournament players did a quick job of burying the hatchet. At least three delegates expressed "regret" over the incident in pre-election talks.

Amateur Boxers To Stage Show Tonight

The Escanaba Amateur Boxing club will stage another of its popular shows at the City Recreation Center tonight beginning at 8 o'clock. Seven bouts are on the program.

All of the matches will be between boys who have been training in the boxing center located at North First and 14th street, with John Pennings and Lachapple billed for the wind-up.

Other matches are as follows: Dick Pryal vs. B. Sayklly; F. DeMars vs. Delare; W. Jacks vs. D. Willet; Scull vs. B. Taylor; B. Jereau vs. W. Hirn; Ferrari vs. Holmes.

Because of the limited space, a very small charge will be made for those wishing to attend the show. The proceeds will be used to purchase additional equipment which may be used by anyone in the city. The boxing center is open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30 and from 7 to 10, and on Saturday from 9 to 12, and 1:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

Free Room, Board Tuition Proposed For Football Men

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 15 (AP)—Roy O. Pike of Bloomington, member of the Indiana University athletic board, today advocated free room, board and tuition for varsity football squads of colleges and universities.

Pike, former I. U. football player and one-time assistant coach, is president of the citizens loan and trust company of Bloomington.

He would limit the benefits to 36 players, excluding freshmen and sophomores, and would allow only junior and seniors to play on the varsity.

"This program," Pike said, "would be an incentive for students to get on the university squad. Students would take more interest in football. Junior standing would insure scholastic eligibility."

Herber and Hutson of Packers Lead In Air Gains

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Individuals are keeping pace with teams as record breakers as the National Pro Football league continues its passing and scoring orgies from week to week.

Last Sunday saw one mark broken and another tied as Davey O'Brien completed 19 passes in one game to better the previous record by four, and Andy Farkas boosted his season's touchdown total to nine to equal the best performance in that department.

O'Brien set his record for the Philadelphia Eagles against Green Bay. The previous mark, set by Pat Coffee of the Cardinals in 1937 and tied this year by Ace Parker of Brooklyn, was 15. Don Hutson of Green Bay set the touchdown mark of nine in 1936, and tied it in 1938.

Bill Osmanski, Chicago Bear rookie, jumped into the lead in the ground gaining department as he boosted his total to 603 yards, a total which betters that made by Whizzer White in winning the title last year. Joe Maniaci, also of the Bears is in second place with 501 yards. However, Maniaci's average of 7.1 per try is the best in the circuit.

Hall has the most pass completions, with 60, but he has thrown more, and O'Brien has the best efficiency average, completing 43 of 91 for .471. Arnie Herber of Green Bay has gained the most ground via air, accounting for 879 yards with his 48 completions.

In the pass receiving department Perry Schwartz of Brooklyn leads with 25, but Hutson, receiving only 22, has gained the most ground—565 yards—and leads in touchdowns scored on passes with five. Farkas leads the loop in scoring with 55 points, with John Drake of Cleveland second with 48 and Osmanski third with 42.

EDUCATED TOE

Chicago—In six seasons in the National Football League, Jack Manders of the Chicago Bears has scored 302 points. He kicked 36 field goals, 104 points after touchdowns and scored 15 touchdowns.

'STOP INDIANA' DRIVE STARTED

Michigan State Loses No Time Getting Ready for Next Battle

BY JACK I. GREEN

East Lansing, Nov. 15. (AP)—Michigan State's football uniforms were out of the bags today almost before the squad alighted from the train and inside of an hour the Spartans had started their "Stop Indiana" campaign in earnest.

On their return trip from Santa Clara, the Spartans heard little but plans to overcome the Hoosiers' passing game, as focused around Hal Hursh, the Indiana aerial leader. Hursh is reported to be one of the best passers in the Big Ten.

Coach Charley Bachman put the squad on old College Field immediately upon arrival home with instructions to get the feel of the pass defense he had worked out enroute.

The Spartan coaches reported Indiana, despite its in and out season this fall, has a deceptive attack and the Spartans have not always escaped being fooled by deception this year.

The Hoosiers tied Nebraska 7 to 7; lost to Iowa 32 to 29; whipped Wisconsin 14 to 0; lost to Ohio State 24 to 0; defeated the giant-killing Illinois 7 to 6; and lost last week to Fordham 13 to 0.

Twin Bill Booked By Munising Squad

Munising, Mich., Nov. 15.—The Harry's Super Service five will open their 1939-40 basketball season here on November 25 when they play a twin bill against the Munising CYO and the Grand Marais Aces in the Mather high school gymnasium. The Super Service squad last year played under the banner of the Lew's Store. This year the village's two squads, the Herb's and Frank's, have combined under the banner of the Herb's, and a stronger team than last year will be put on the floor by the Delta county aggregation in the battle here.

The Rock Independent quintet will come here on December 2. The group are being managed by the Herb's.

Attempts are being made at the present to book a Chinese all-star aggregation on tour of the country. The group are being managed by Saperstein, known for his affiliation with the Harlem Globe-Trotters, colored basketball experts. The game, if scheduled, would probably be played here on December 9.

Screwy News Honors Go To Jim Crowley

BY BILL BONI

New York, Nov. 15. (AP)—Being another four-star edition of football's "screwy news," with at least three and a half stars and an honorary appointment as head screwball to Fordham's Jim Crowley for the following lead-off anecdote:

With about two minutes to go in the Indiana game, Fordham had the ball down on the Hoosier 20-yard line. His third team was in the game, so Crowley had told the quarterback not to kick, even on fourth down. It might be blocked, and Indiana might run it back for a score.

But a few plays later, with a bad center pass and some penalties, the Rams were back near mid-field. Crowley had just sent in his last few subs, and was turning back toward the bench, when one of the Indiana boys on the field sang out:

"Hi, Jimmy, how're things back home in Green Bay?"

"Okay," said Crowley. "Say, go over and tell my quarterback to kick now, will you?"

"Right," said the Indiana boy, who ran into the Fordham huddle, whispered to Crowley's quarterback, then went back to his place at left tackle—and darned near blocked the punt which, sure enough, the quarterback called.

This really must be a tough season for those Yales. Last Saturday cheerleader Ed Tolland, to hail an Eli gain against Brown, turned an enthusiastic cartwheel. Result—it was so enthusiastic he sprained his ankle. He'll probably be out for the Princeton game.

Diamond Joe Paglia, who used to punt 'em into the coffin corner for Santa Clara and now coaches St. Martin's college of Lacey, Wash., probably is the first coach on record to lose a player in an earthquake.

Sunday night Nig Jundel, one of his best ends, was sitting in a dormitory bull session complaining about a charley horse in his right leg. The building started to shake in the grip of an earthquake. Jundel, in spite of that charley horse, was the first man out of the room and headed for the stairs. Suddenly there was a dull thud, and there was Jundel at the foot of the stairs, with a badly-wrenched left knee to match his right leg's charley horse.

Tad Wieman, Princeton's towering coach, objects to being called "scholarly"—so much so that he no longer wears his Phi Beta Kappa key.

Wilby high, city champions of Waterbury, Conn., last year, lost almost all of the team through graduation, and Coach Jimmy Lee has been hard pressed for subs. Against Gilbert high of Winsted, he sent in a green kid who'd never played in a school game.

The boy went in at end, and the first play was a pass. But officials ruled offside—offside by 35 yards, for our hero was that far downfield, in his anxiety to catch the pass, even before the ball was snapped.

P. S.—After a thorough talking-to from his captain the youngster did the same thing five minutes later. Only this time he wound up 25 yards beyond the enemy safety man.

We're back at Gilbert high of Windsted, a town which, on good authority, has had its share of screwy incidents. Two high school teams were playing on a field that, because rains had swelled an adjoining brook, was under two feet (honest men) of water. The teams insisted on playing, and the officials couldn't very well stop them.

In came a sub wearing a nice, fresh uniform. Advised by the referee that it wouldn't stay that way long, the kid said:

"Well, I might as well get used to these conditions," took a header into the water and came up with:

"Okay, now let's go."

Missouri's Paul Christman gave 30,000 New York customers a great display of his football prowess last Saturday, and gave the New York U. Players a good idea of why the folks call the gridiron's Dizzy Dean. On almost every time out, Pitchin' Paul would walk over to the N. Y. U.'ers, slap 'em on the back, and say:

"Great day for a game, isn't it, fellas? Boy, what a day!"

It probably was—for Paul. N. Y. U.'s still wondering.

PASS DEFENSE HOLES PLUGGED

BY GEORGE A. STAUTER

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15. (AP)—Fundamentals and pass defense took up a major portion of the practice session today as Michigan's gridders hurried preparations for their intersectional game with the University of Pennsylvania.

That Coach Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler expects the Quakers to spring an aerial attack against the Wolverines was indicated by the way in which he had the reserves pepper the varsity with passes.

Michigan's pass defense has had wide holes in it at times this season and Penn, in Frank Reagan, triple-threat quarterback, has a passer whose arm has played a prominent part in the four victories his team has scored this season.

At the same time, the Wolverines' own passing game, which accounted for their only score in the loss to Minnesota, also came in for some attention. Crisler sought particularly to obtain protection for his marksmen.

Saturday's meeting between Michigan and Penn at Philadelphia will be the seventeenth since 1899. The Quakers are one of the few teams to hold an edge over the Wolverines with eight victories as against seven defeats and two ties.

Last year Michigan won, 19 to 3, after a last period rally that netted Penn two touchdowns.

Crisler chose a 35 man squad for the trip which will be made by special train leaving here at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

The squad:

Ends, Joseph Bosza, Joe Rogers, Ed Czak, Paul Nielsen, John Nicholson and Harlan Fraumann; tackles, Roland Savilla, Bill Smith, Reuben Kelto, Jack Butler, Robert Flora and Dennis Kuhn; guards, Ralph Fritz, Milo Sukup, Bill Melzow, Frederic Olds, Forrest Jordan and Archie Paddy; centers, Capt. Archie Kodros, Horace Tinker and Ted Kennedy.

Backs, Paul Kromer, Fred Trosko, Dave Strong, Tom Harmon, Norman Call, Bill Luther, Dave Nelson, Bob Westfall, Bob Zimmerman, Larry Wichter, Bob Ingalls, Forest Evashevski, Walter Kitti and James Grissen.

TRENARY TRIMS ALUMNI

The Trenary high school regulars trimmed the Alumni 26 to 23 last night in the first basketball game of the season at Trenary. In the Alumni lineup were L. Latzola, D. Quarfoot, D. Hill, Seppanen, Webber, Hytinen, Mills, Maki and Seppanen.

DART BALL CHANGED

The league dart ball between St. Stephens Episcopal and Bethany Lutheran originally scheduled at Bethany Lutheran will be played at St. Stephens beginning at 7:30 tonight.

H'VILLE CAGERS START DEC. 12

Coach Kleimola Directs Drills; Several Vets On Redskin Crew

Hermansville, Nov. 14—Anxious to retain the Menominee county league championship, the Hermansville high school basketball team has been working out under the supervision of Coach Jack Kleimola in the community club gym for the past month. The Redskins started practice earlier this year because football was not sponsored and all the concentration was put on basketball.

The school can also play three more basketball games with dropping of the pigskin sport and the fans will have better chance to watch them in action with the longer season.

A full Menominee county league slate is contracted for besides games with Channing, Vulcan, and Daggett. Two games will be played this year with Channing as compared to only one last year.

Graduation has taken several regulars from the team of last year. Among those who will be missing are John Parish, a veteran center who saw four years of service, as well as Eval St. Juliana, another four-year man, George Earle who also saw much service at guard was also lost by the graduation route.

Twins Are Back

The returning letter winners are the Machalk twins, Steve and Mike, Bruna Mauli, Walter Peterson, Howard Schwartz, and Frank Miketinac. Most of this group had considerable experience last year. Frank Kure, a lanky senior, is also out again this year after being out most of last season with a knee injury. Several of last year's undefeated reserve team are expected to break into the lineup. Among them are John Pierpont, John St. Julianа, and John Beadoin.

Due to the state raising the requirements of a class D school up to 125 students the sawmill boys will return to class D competition after a year or two in class C, where the team did very well except when they had to encounter Norway in their district tournament.

The tentative schedule for the school for the coming year is:

Dec. 12—Harris at Hermansville.
Dec. 15—Powers at Powers.
Dec. 29—Channing at Channing.
Jan. 10—Daggett at Hermansville.
Jan. 12—Channing at Hermansville.
Jan. 19—Stephenson at Stephenson.
Jan. 24—Daggett at Daggett.
Jan. 26—Felch at Hermansville.
Feb. 2—Harris at Harris.
Feb. 9—Vulcan at Vulcan.
Feb. 16—Powers at Hermansville.
Feb. 23—Felch at Felch.
Mar. 1—Stephenson at Hermansville.

One game with Vulcan yet to be scheduled.

RICHARD PATEK IS TRANSFERRED

'Assitant At Weather Bureau Will Go To Albuquerque, N. M.

Richard Patek, assistant to W. T. Lathrop, local weather bureau meteorologist, for the past two years, has been notified of his transfer to the Albuquerque, New Mexico, station within the next few weeks, it was learned at the local office yesterday.

Patek's transfer is a promotion, the local assistant being assigned as an observer at the Albuquerque station where there is a wider variety of work with a corresponding increase in opportunity. Albuquerque, a city of approximately 30,000 people, is important in weather bureau work, being a section center. Because of the heavy air traffic, the bureau there is important in forecasting for aviation.

Patek, who is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, came to Escanaba two years ago today, his assignment here being his first in weather bureau service. He came here from Milwaukee, having been selected through competitive civil service examination.

"Mr. Patek has done excellent work on his first assignment with the bureau." Meteorologist Lathrop said yesterday, "and his promotion is well deserved. He has shown a great interest for the work as well as an aptitude for it and I feel that he is capable of greater responsibilities than are offered in his present position."

No successor has been named as yet but the new assistant here will be designated from Washington on the basis of civil service eligibility lists. Definite date of Patek's transfer is dependent upon arrival of his successor.

Hunting Parties In U. P. Camps

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Shinar and son, Robert, are spending several days hunting at their camp at Ralph.

William French, 323 North Nineteenth street, got a 180 pound buck north of Watson early yesterday morning. He reported deer plentiful.

Father, son and uncle of the Charles Johnston family, Escanaba, had their deer apiece by noon the first day. Charles Johnston got the largest, weighing nearly 200 pounds; his son, Craig, of Detroit, had one weighing 175 pounds shortly afterward, and Loren Johnston, Escanaba, got his shortly before noon. It weighed about 150 pounds. The party was hunting out of Gaynor's camp at Old Kates.

Charles Neumeier, 212 South Ninth street, left qesterday for Menominee county to join the members of the Chalk Hills Hunting club.

Half of the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence were college bred; 16 had "classical" educations; two were instructed entirely by tutors, and 16 had very little learning.

Relieved of Awful Muscular Pains

So Sore and Stiff He was Hindered Greatly In His Work Before KruGon Accomplished the Almost Unhoped For

"I now understand why so many are praising KruGon," said Mr. Herman Brommerick, 565 E. 9th St., Winona, Minnesota. "The clogging of intestinal impurities from faulty elimination had allowed such dreadful aches and pains to develop in my muscles and joints I felt I could not stand it at times. My back was so sore and stiff my work was terribly hard for me to do. Frequent bladder action caused me no end of trouble and I could not get sufficient rest and sleep which caused me to be worn-out at all times. Everything I tried for relief was a complete failure . . . until I started using KruGon."

"Since I have been taking KruGon regularly every day I am now getting proper elimination of those clogged impurities," continued Mr. Brommerick. "Those awful aches and pains, soreness and stiffness does not bother me and I can do my work with ease. I get full nights of restful, strength giving sleep, get up of a morning refreshed and feeling fine. KruGon proved to be the very medicine I should have had years ago and it is indeed a pleasure to recommend it to other sufferers with like afflictions."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

Pastoral Simplicity—With Spike

The peaceful lowlands of Holland have been scored with trenches as the Dutch await a possible German attack. This scene is near Blerick and Venlo on the Holland-German border, where German customs guards and Dutch civilians clashed.

Population, Expenses Rise; Taxes Are Down

So you think taxes are always too high! Well, probably few city officials would deny that it would be nice to have them lower if possible, but one of the points made in City Manager George Bean's recently published municipal report is that despite increased population and years of heavy financial drain, the city's tax rate, tax levy and assessed valuation have gone down.

The report traces various developments in the city administration from 1922 to 1938, with many graphs to illustrate trends.

One of these graphs indicates that in 1922, when the city manager form of government was started here, the tax rate was a little more than $15.50; the tax levy, about $131,000 and the assessed valuation, nearly eight and a half million dollars. For 1939, the graph indicates, the rate was slightly under $15; the tax levy, $120,000 and the assessed valuation, about $8,150,000.

Whereas the population was only slightly over 13,000 in 1922, it is now more than 15,500, according to the graph, with a gradual increase shown through the years.

The levy, rate and valuation all hit a peak in 1927, when the rate reached more than $16, the levy got to $140,000 and the valuation $8,600,000.

In 1928 the rate dropped to $14, the levy to $119,000 and the valuation to $8,500,000. Then came partial recovery until 1930 when another drop began that hit bottom in 1932, with the rate at $12.75 and the levy at $108,000. The valuation did not drop in proportion in 1932, but tumbled in 1935 to a low of eight million dollars, while the rate jumped to $15.60 and the levy to $130,000.

Since then the valuation has risen slightly while the rate and levy have dropped again.

The next chart in the report shows Escanaba third to the lowest in the state among cities of 10,000 to 50,000 population with regard to tax levy per capita, with only Marquette and Muskegon Heights having lower levies.

Five Civil Service Exams To Be Held

Five state civil service examinations have been announced to be held in the Escanaba Junior high school Saturday, December 2. Applications are due in Lansing postmarked not later than November 17 and November 19.

The examinations will be for highway engineering draftsman, escheats field representative and highway landscape engineer, with applications due November 19 and liquor store clerk and occupational therapist, applications due November 17.

UMPIRE TURNS TO REFEREEING

Bill Stewart Admits That Hockey Job Is Little Tougher

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—He sizzles all summer and goes on ice during the winter, so it all evens up for Bill Stewart, although he'll admit with a little prodding that the wear and tear of hockey officiating is a little greater than in baseball umpiring.

Bill Stewart umpires in the National baseball league during the summer, and this year, after a couple of years as a team manager, is back refereeing in the National ice hockey league.

He's quite a chunk of a man—5 feet 6 inches tall and weighing 182. He's baldish, his drooping eyelids have fooled many an athlete who thought he could get by with something, and he has a square jaw and nice white teeth which he grits in a "just try it once" manner. In brief, he's tough.

"In hockey," he explains, "the fans are more keyed up and rabid, and they're right on top of you. Also, you have to keep your eye on twelve men. However, when you lose eight pounds on a hot day behind the bat in St. Louis, it's no fun either."

Stewart was a baseball pitcher in his day. He was with the White Sox briefly in 1919. He hurt his arm, and was farmed to Louisville, where he played under Joe McCarthy. Bill Meyer, now Kansas City manager, was his catcher.

He managed clubs at Waterbury, Conn., and Springfield, Mass., in 1930 before taking up umpiring. He came to the National league from the New York-Penn league after brief apprenticeship, and has been in the big show six years.

Produced Puck Champs

His hockey history is more colorful. After playing a little on scrub teams, he started officiating amateur games in 1922, and in 1926 broke into pro officiating in the Canadian-American circuit. He joined the National league staff in 1929.

In 1937 he took over the manager's job with the Chicago Blackhawks, and astonished the hockey world by piloting a conglomeration of castoffs and misfits to victory in the Stanley Cup series.

"Four or five of them had been turned loose and couldn't get any other job," he explains, "but we had marvelous spirit, and were in fine physical condition."

He was fired in the middle of the next season, and the Blackhawks lost 23 of their next 27 games. This year he's back calling 'em as he sees 'em.

He worked in the 1937 World Series, and has officiated in five Stanley Cup series. He's the only American-born National league hockey manager on record, and incidentally, the only such official. He also forfeited the only league game to end that way, giving a game to the Boston Bruins in 1933 when the Blackhawks, the team he later managed, disputed a decision on a goal.

High School "Radio" Skit Is Presented

A "radio" skit, called "It Can Happen To You," emphasizing bicycle safety measures was presented by students of J. H. Shipman's speech class and broadcast through the school's sound system Monday.

In the cast were Norbert Hall, Earle Harris, John Colbert, Jean Stack and Bob Beaudoin, who was also author of the script. Members of the class made all the sound effects and a week of rehearsal preceded the broadcast. The Escanaba Safety commission co-operated in plans for the stunt.

Deer Season Opens With 46 Reading, But Record Is 68

Yesterday's marmer-than-usual deer season opening brought a high thermometer reading of 46 degrees, but it was not as unusual as some seemed to think, according to W. T. Lathrop, of the government weather bureau here. The average of daily high temperatures for November through the years is only 6.4 degrees lower, or 39.6.

As for the record high for the month, that was up 22 degrees over yesterday's high, with a 68 reading recorded in November, 1903.

RICHARD PATEK IS TRANSFERRED

Assitant At Weather Bureau Will Go To Albuquerque, N. M.

Richard Patek, assistant to W. T. Lathrop, local weather bureau meteorologist, for the past two years, has been notified of his transfer to the Albuquerque, New Mexico, station within the next few weeks, it was learned at the local office yesterday.

Patek's transfer is a promotion, the local assistant being assigned as an observer at the Albuquerque station where there is a wider variety of work with a corresponding increase in opportunity. Albuquerque, a city of approximately 30,000 people, is important in weather bureau work, being a section center. Because of the heavy air traffic, the bureau there is important in forecasting for aviation.

Patek, who is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, came to Escanaba two years ago today, his assignment here being his first in weather bureau service. He came here from Milwaukee, having been selected through competitive civil service examination.

"Mr. Patek has done excellent work on his first assignment with the bureau," Meteorologist Lathrop said yesterday, "and his promotion is well deserved. He has shown a great interest for the work as well as an aptitude for it and I feel that he is capable of greater responsibilities than are offered in his present position."

No successor has been named as yet but the new assistant here will be designated from Washington on the basis of civil service eligibility lists. Definite date of Patek's transfer is dependent upon arrival of his successor.

Hunting Parties In U. P. Camps

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Shinar and son, Robert, are spending several days hunting at their camp at Ralph.

William French, 323 North Nineteenth street, got a 180 pound buck north of Watson early yesterday morning. He reported deer plentiful.

Father, son and uncle of the Charles Johnston family, Escanaba, had their deer apiece by noon the first day. Charles Johnston got the largest, weighing nearly 200 pounds; his son, Craig, of Detroit, had one weighing 175 pounds shortly afterward, and Loren Johnston, Escanaba, got his shortly before noon. It weighed about 150 pounds. The party was hunting out of Gaynor's camp at Old Kates.

Charles Neumeier, 212 South Ninth street, left qesterday for Menominee county to join the members of the Chalk Hills Hunting club.

Half of the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence were college bred; 16 had "classical" educations; two were instructed entirely by tutors, and 16 had very little learning.

Relieved of Awful Muscular Pains

So Sore and Stiff He was Hindered Greatly In His Work Before KruGon Accomplished the Almost Unhoped For

"I now understand why so many are praising KruGon," said Mr. Herman Brommerick, 565 E. 9th St., Winona, Minnesota. "The clogging of intestinal impurities from faulty elimination had allowed such dreadful aches and pains to develop in my muscles and joints I felt I could not stand it at times. My back was so sore and stiff my work was terribly hard for me to do. Frequent bladder action caused me no end of trouble and I could not get sufficient rest and sleep which caused me to be worn-out at all times. Everything I tried for relief was a complete failure . . . until I started using KruGon."

"Since I have been taking KruGon regularly every day I am now getting proper elimination of those clogged impurities," continued Mr. Brommerick. "Those awful aches and pains, soreness and stiffness does not bother me and I can do my work with ease. I get full nights of restful, strength giving sleep, get up of a morning refreshed and feeling fine. KruGon proved to be the very medicine I should have had years ago and it is indeed a pleasure to recommend it to other sufferers with like afflictions."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

Pastoral Simplicity—With Spike

The peaceful lowlands of Holland have been scored with trenches as the Dutch await a possible German attack. This scene is near Blerick and Venlo on the Holland-German border, where German customs guards and Dutch civilians clashed.

Population, Expenses Rise; Taxes Are Down

So you think taxes are always too high! Well, probably few city officials would deny that it would be nice to have them lower if possible, but one of the points made in City Manager George Bean's recently published municipal report is that despite increased population and years of heavy financial drain, the city's tax rate, tax levy and assessed valuation have gone down.

The report traces various developments in the city administration from 1922 to 1938, with many graphs to illustrate trends.

One of these graphs indicates that in 1922, when the city manager form of government was started here, the tax rate was a little more than $15.50; the tax levy, about $131,000 and the assessed valuation, nearly eight and a half million dollars. For 1939, the graph indicates, the rate was slightly under $15; the tax levy, $120,000 and the assessed valuation, about $8,150,000.

Whereas the population was only slightly over 13,000 in 1922, it is now more than 15,500, according to the graph, with a gradual increase shown through the years.

The levy, rate and valuation all hit a peak in 1927, when the rate reached more than $16, the levy got to $140,000 and the valuation $8,600,000.

In 1928 the rate dropped to $14, the levy to $119,000 and the valuation to $8,500,000. Then came partial recovery until 1930 when another drop began that hit bottom in 1932, with the rate at $12.75 and the levy at $108,000. The valuation did not drop in proportion in 1932, but tumbled in 1935 to a low of eight million dollars, while the rate jumped to $15.60 and the levy to $130,000.

Since then the valuation has risen slightly while the rate and levy have dropped again.

The next chart in the report shows Escanaba third to the lowest in the state among cities of 10,000 to 50,000 population with regard to tax levy per capita, with only Marquette and Muskegon Heights having lower levies.

Five Civil Service Exams To Be Held

Five state civil service examinations have been announced to be held in the Escanaba Junior high school Saturday, December 2. Applications are due in Lansing postmarked not later than November 17 and November 19.

The examinations will be for highway engineering draftsman, escheats field representative and highway landscape engineer, with applications due November 19 and liquor store clerk and occupational therapist, applications due November 17.

UMPIRE TURNS TO REFEREEING

Bill Stewart Admits That Hockey Job Is Little Tougher

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—He sizzles all summer and goes on ice during the winter, so it all evens up for Bill Stewart, although he'll admit with a little prodding that the wear and tear of hockey officiating is a little greater than in baseball umpiring.

Bill Stewart umpires in the National baseball league during the summer, and this year, after a couple of years as a team manager, is back refereeing in the National ice hockey league.

He's quite a chunk of a man—5 feet 6 inches tall and weighing 182. He's baldish, his drooping eyelids have fooled many an athlete who thought he could get by with something, and he has a square jaw and nice white teeth which he grits in a "just try it once" manner. In brief, he's tough.

"In hockey," he explains, "the fans are more keyed up and rabid, and they're right on top of you. Also, you have to keep your eye on twelve men. However, when you lose eight pounds on a hot day behind the bat in St. Louis, it's no fun either."

Stewart was a baseball pitcher in his day. He was with the White Sox briefly in 1919. He hurt his arm, and was farmed to Louisville, where he played under Joe McCarthy. Bill Meyer, now Kansas City manager, was his catcher.

He managed clubs at Waterbury, Conn., and Springfield, Mass., in 1930 before taking up umpiring. He came to the National league from the New York-Penn league after brief apprenticeship, and has been in the big show six years.

Produced Puck Champs

His hockey history is more colorful. After playing a little on scrub teams, he started officiating amateur games in 1922, and in 1926 broke into pro officiating in the Canadian-American circuit. He joined the National league staff in 1929.

In 1937 he took over the manager's job with the Chicago Blackhawks, and astonished the hockey world by piloting a conglomeration of castoffs and misfits to victory in the Stanley Cup series.

"Four or five of them had been turned loose and couldn't get any other job," he explains, "but we had marvelous spirit, and were in fine physical condition."

He was fired in the middle of the next season, and the Blackhawks lost 23 of their next 27 games. This year he's back calling 'em as he sees 'em.

He worked in the 1937 World Series, and has officiated in five Stanley Cup series. He's the only American-born National league hockey manager on record, and incidentally, the only such official. He also forfeited the only league game to end that way, giving a game to the Boston Bruins in 1933 when the Blackhawks, the team he later managed, disputed a decision on a goal.

High School "Radio" Skit Is Presented

A "radio" skit, called "It Can Happen To You," emphasizing bicycle safety measures was presented by students of J. H. Shipman's speech class and broadcast through the school's sound system Monday.

In the cast were Norbert Hall, Earle Harris, John Colbert, Jean Stack and Bob Beaudoin, who was also author of the script. Members of the class made all the sound effects and a week of rehearsal preceded the broadcast. The Escanaba Safety commission co-operated in plans for the stunt.

Deer Season Opens With 46 Reading, But Record Is 68

Yesterday's marmer-than-usual deer season opening brought a high thermometer reading of 46 degrees, but it was not as unusual as some seemed to think, according to W. T. Lathrop, of the government weather bureau here. The average of daily high temperatures for November through the years is only 6.4 degrees lower, or 39.6.

As for the record high for the month, that was up 22 degrees over yesterday's high, with a 68 reading recorded in November, 1903.

Escanaba Is Famous As Shopping Center Of Upper Peninsula

Selection Of Table Setting Requires Care

BY JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

Advice to the shopping bride: Don't put all your eggs in one basket when you start buying.

"I've seen that happen so often," says Carole Stupell, New York decorator. "Particularly when the bride starts buying for table settings."

Here are three pointers she offers brides:

1. Buy things that are as simple as you can find; then you'll never need fear they'll be outmoded.
2. Buy open stock in things you'll want to buy more of later.
3. Think of the four things you'll need—flatware, glassware, china and linen—all at the same time. Don't buy one item that will look out of place with your others.

About flatware: If you can buy good sterling, do, but don't spend everything you have on a few pieces of sterling. Get good silver plate, a set of the new tableware that looks like gold or, perhaps, somo o fthe new steel-ware.

Buy four each of dinner knives, dinner forks, cream soup spoons, tea spoons to start with. Then get four each of butter knives, salad forks, dessert forks and dessert knives. Add a few basic serving pieces—a fork, a spoon and a carving set. Then, if you have some money left over, start doubling your fours on the basic pieces.

Glassware, too, should be purchased in fours, since the beginning hostess seldom entertains more than two guests at dinner, anyway. Four water goblets, four sherbets and perhaps four claret glasses. Don't buy everything in sight in glassware; you don't need a different glass for every wine. If you like, you may add four sherry glasses, four cordials and four tall tumblers. That will outfit you for almost any occasion.

China? Four each: Dinner plates, salad plates, bread and butter plates, cream soups and cups and saucers. Those are the basic things. After-dinner coffees, serving pieces and so on may be added later. Incidentally, everything doesn't need to match. It's smarter now to mix wisely.

About linens. "I never use a tablecloth in my apartment," says Miss Stupell. "I have had my tables surfaced so they won't get ruined easily. Then I buy mats. They're inexpensive to buy and easy to launder. Some can just be wiped off with a damp cloth."

Add miscellaneous: Individual salts and peppers. Individual cigarette holders and ash trays. ("They are an inexpensive nicety.") Low centerpieces, some revolving candles. Individual lighters . . . as a luxury.

STORES UNITE TO SELL WARES

Cooperative Sales Plan Was Started Here 10 Years Ago

The growth and development of Escanaba as the shopping Center of Upper Michigan can be directly traced to efforts back 10 years ago when a handful of merchants decided it was time to tell an ever growing trading area about the stores, merchandise, and advantages of shopping in this growing city.

These civic-minded and progressive merchants along with the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce decided to pool their interests and combine their efforts into a community-wide sale with every retail store along Ludington street offering special merchandise for those events.

Back a decade ago when the first city-wide selling event was tried it was found to be what customers of this large trading area wanted in the way of value giving sales. Since those early days several annual events have been added until today there are five yearly community-wide trade promotion events designed to acquaint out of town shoppers with every retail establishment in this city. From the very beginning the success of these cooperative ventures has been phenomenal. Each successive one bringing a greater response than the one previous and each one a more progressive and advanced effort to please the out-of-town customer.

From these business stimulating events Escanaba has become the leader in retail sales in Upper Michigan. She leads all other cities in the peninsula by over a million dollars annually. Due to this large volume Escanaba merchants are better able to carry a larger variety and the community enjoys the benefits of larger stores with more complete stocks than any other neighboring city.

These five yearly community promotions are now a regular part of the retail committees work and they have been so firmly entrenched in the buying public's mind that otfen inquiries about coming sales events are received weeks in advance of the sale. Each year the territory gets larger and people come to the community sales from communities as much as 80 miles distant from Escanaba. It has only been through this thorough and continuous program, year in and year out, and the cooperation of every Ludington street merchant that Escanaba is now enjoying the retail sales leadership of Upper Michigan.

When these sale editions were first published by the Chamber of Commerce, retail committee and the Daily Press only a few thousand papers were needed to completely cover the trading area. Today it is necessary to print and mail more than 20,000 papers to provide every home in the trading area with a copy. This complete coverage extends for a radius of 80 miles from Escanaba and is seen by more than 75,000 persons in cities and rural routes adjacent to this city.

Escanaba Is Famous As Shopping Center Of Upper Peninsula

Selection Of Table Setting Requires Care

BY JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

Advice to the shopping bride: Don't put all your eggs in one basket when you start buying.

"I've seen that happen so often," says Carole Stupell, New York decorator. "Particularly when the bride starts buying for table settings."

Here are three pointers she offers brides:

1. Buy things that are as simple as you can find; then you'll never need fear they'll be outmoded.

2. Buy open stock in things you'll want to buy more of later.

3. Think of the four things you'll need—flatware, glassware, china and linen—all at the same time. Don't buy one item that will look out of place with your others.

About flatware: If you can buy good sterling, do, but don't spend everything you have on a few pieces of sterling. Get good silver plate, a set of the new tableware that looks like gold or, perhaps, some o fthe new steel-ware.

Buy four each of dinner knives, dinner forks, cream soup spoons, tea spoons to start with. Then get four each of butter knives, salad forks, dessert forks and dessert knives. Add a few basic serving pieces—a fork, a spoon and a carving set. Then, if you have some money left over, start doubling your fours on the basic pieces.

Glassware, too, should be purchased in fours, since the beginning hostess seldom entertains more than two guests at dinner, anyway. Four water goblets, four sherbets and perhaps four claret glasses. Don't buy everything in sight in glassware; you don't need a different glass for every wine. If you like, you may add four sherry glasses, four cordials and four tall tumblers. That will outfit you for almost any occasion.

China? Four each: Dinner plates, salad plates, bread and butter plates, cream soups and cups and saucers. Those are the basic things. After-dinner coffees, serving pieces and so on may be added later. Incidentally, everything doesn't need to match. It's smarter now to mix wisely.

About linens. "I never use a tablecloth in my apartment," says Miss Stupell. "I have had my tables surfaced so they won't get ruined easily. Then I buy mats. They're inexpensive to buy and easy to launder. Some can just be wiped off with a damp cloth."

Add miscellaneous: Individual salts and peppers. Individual cigarette holders and ash trays. ("They are an inexpensive nicety.") Low centerpieces, some involving candles. Individual lighters . . . as a luxury.

STORES UNITE TO SELL WARES

Cooperative Sales Plan Was Started Here 10 Years Ago

The growth and development of Escanaba as the shopping Center of Upper Michigan can be directly traced to efforts back 10 years ago when a handful of merchants decided it was time to tell an ever growing trading area about the stores, merchandise, and advantages of shopping in this growing city.

These civic-minded and progressive merchants along with the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce decided to pool their interests and combine their efforts into a community-wide sale with every retail store along Ludington street offering special merchandise for those events.

Back a decade ago when the first city-wide selling event was tried it was found to be what customers of this large trading area wanted in the way of value giving sales. Since those early days several annual events have been added until today there are five yearly community-wide trade promotion events designed to acquaint out of town shoppers with every retail establishment in this city. From the very beginning the success of these cooperative ventures has been phenomenal. Each successive one bringing a greater response than the one previous and each one a more progressive and advanced effort to please the out-of-town customer.

From these business stimulating events Escanaba has become the leader in retail sales in Upper Michigan. She leads all other cities in the peninsula by over a million dollars annually. Due to this large volume Escanaba merchants are better able to carry a larger variety and the community enjoys the benefits of larger stores with more complete stocks than any other neighboring city.

These five yearly community promotions are now a regular part of the retail committees work and they have been so firmly entrenched in the buying public's mind that otfen inquiries about coming sales events are received weeks in advance of the sale. Each year the territory gets larger and people come to the community sales from communities as much as 80 miles distant from Escanaba. It has only been through this thorough and continuous program, year in and year out, and the cooperation of every Ludington street merchant that Escanaba is now enjoying the retail sales leadership of Upper Michigan.

When these sale editions were first published by the Chamber of Commerce, retail committee and the Daily Press only a few thousand papers were needed to completely cover the trading area. Today it is necessary to print and mail more than 20,000 papers to provide every home in the trading area with a copy. This complete coverage extends for a radius of 80 miles from Escanaba and is seen by more than 75,000 persons in cities and rural routes adjacent to this city.

ALL NEEDS ARE MET BY STORES

Latest Styles And Lowest Prices Are Offered By Merchants

There is less out-of-town shopping by Escanaba residents than any town in Upper Michigan, a recent survey disclosed.

For the last 10 years the amount of shopping done in other trading centers has been growing less each year, and the amount of shopping done in Escanaba has been increasing every year.

How has this come about in such a short time? There's only one answer. Local and trading area shoppers have found that it pays to "trade at home." Local merchants have found that it pays to carry the lines sold in larger cities in order to keep this business in local stores. Every year more persons find out they can purchase exactly the same merchandise in Escanaba that is offered in communities many times this size.

A glance through any day's issue of the Daily Press will convince doubtful shoppers of this fact. Many times advertisements correspond with those in metropolitan papers and often prices for the same article are many dollars lower. This is complete proof that any desired merchandise that can be found in larger cities can always be purchased in Escanaba.

And by purchasing all needs locally you always have the satisfaction of personal selection, prices in keeping with quality, privilege of returning merchandise, charge accounts, delivery services, and many other services and features not available by other methods of purchasing from out of town concerns.

Every local merchants is a reputable and reliable dealer in his line. He is here to take care of your needs and at all times he is the best person you will find anywhere to deal with and to be sure of getting what you want at the price you want to pay.

According to scientists, trees grow more during years of great sunspot activity.

Your Hands Need Gentle Care In Rough Weather

BY BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer

Chapped, red hands and rough, broken cuticles are common complaints about this time of year, when the temperature changes unexpectedly from day to day.

There's just one way to avoid chapping: Give your hands regular care.

That means a manicure at least once a week; a start-to-finish manicure, not just a hasty repair job. It also means massaging your hands in between times with a good hand lotion or cream. It also means being careful never to go out into the cold without wearing good, heavy gloves.

How to go about that manicure?

First, remove all traces of old polish with a bit of cotton dipped into an oily remover. Be sure to get down into the creases at the sides of the nail.

Next, use an emery board to shape and file each nail. If your nails are inclined to break easily, by the way, it's a good plan to file them round, not pointed.

Soaking in Suds

Wrap a piece of cotton around the end of an orange stick and dip it into an oily cuticle remover, and work gently about the sides and base of the nail to loosen excess cuticle.

If you use nail white, apply that underneath each nail next.

Now, soak each hand in plenty of rich suds and warm water and dry them with a soft towel. Gently work away loosened cuticle with your orange stick. Caution: Don't pull on those loose cuticles—or you're likely to find you have bleeding cuticles a few minutes later. And be particularly careful about how you handle steel instruments, if you use them.

Removing Tag Ends

When your nails are good and dry apply a coating of polish base to each finger, wiping away the excess with a face tissue. Then go over each, after it's dry, with your polish, removing the excess from each finger tip as you finish it.

To finish off, wrap a bit of cotton around your orange stick, dip it into polish remover and work around the edges of each nail to remove stray polish.

ALL NEEDS ARE MET BY STORES

Latest Styles And Lowest Prices Are Offered By Merchants

There is less out-of-town shopping by Escanaba residents than any town in Upper Michigan, a recent survey disclosed.

For the last 10 years the amount of shopping done in other trading centers has been growing less each year, and the amount of shopping done in Escanaba has been increasing every year.

How has this come about in such a short time? There's only one answer. Local and trading area shoppers have found that it pays to "trade at home." Local merchants have found that it pays to carry the lines sold in larger cities in order to keep this business in local stores. Every year more persons find out they can purchase exactly the same merchandise in Escanaba that is offered in communities many times this size.

A glance through any day's issue of the Daily Press will convince doubtful shoppers of this fact. Many times advertisements correspond with those in metropolitan papers and often prices for the same article are many dollars lower. This is complete proof that any desired merchandise that can be found in larger cities can always be purchased in Escanaba.

And by purchasing all needs locally you always have the satisfaction of personal selection, prices in keeping with quality, privilege of returning merchandise, charge accounts, delivery services, and many other services and features not available by other methods of purchasing from out of town concerns.

Every local merchants is a reputable and reliable dealer in his line. He is here to take care of your needs and at all times he is the best person you will find anywhere to deal with and to be sure of getting what you want at the price you want to pay.

Your Hands Need Gentle Care In Rough Weather

BY BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer

Chapped, red hands and rough, broken cuticles are common complaints about this time of year, when the temperature changes unexpectedly from day to day.

There's just one way to avoid chapping: Give your hands regular care.

That means a manicure at least once a week; a start-to-finish manicure, not just a hasty repair job. It also means massaging your hands in between times with a good hand lotion or cream. It also means being careful never to go out into the cold without wearing good, heavy gloves.

How to go about that manicure?

First, remove all traces of old polish with a bit of cotton dipped into an oily remover. Be sure to get down into the creases at the sides of the nail.

Next, use an emery board to shape and file each nail. If your nails are inclined to break easily, by the way, it's a good plan to file them round, not pointed.

Soaking in Suds

Wrap a piece of cotton around the end of an orange stick and dip it into an oily cuticle remover, and work gently about the sides and base of the nail to loosen excess cuticle.

If you use nail white, apply that underneath each nail next.

Now, soak each hand in plenty of rich suds and warm water and dry them with a soft towel. Gently work away loosened cuticle with your orange stick. Caution: Don't pull on those loose cuticles—or you're likely to find you have bleeding cuticles a few minutes later. And be particularly careful about how you handle steel instruments, if you use them.

Removing Tag Ends

When your nails are good and dry apply a coating of polish base to each finger, wiping away the excess with a face tissue. Then go over each, after it's dry, with your polish, removing the excess from each finger tip as you finish it.

To finish off, wrap a bit of cotton around your orange stick, dip it into polish remover and work around the edges of each nail to remove stray polish.

"First Come First Served" Policy Adopted By Merchants

C. Gust Peterson, chairman of the Retail Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, announced late last night after completely checking stocks offered for Escanaba Day sales, today, Friday and Saturday, that "the committee feels this sale will be the best that has ever been staged in our 10-year history of community-wide promotions." Practically every merchant along Ludington street is cooperating 100 per cent with the promotion and no doubt Escanaba's reputation as the shopping center of Upper Michigan will be more forcibly portrayed than ever before."

One other retail merchant said, "We can better stage these community promotions than any other town of like size in Upper Michigan because our long experience has shown us what type of merchandise to offer and what shoppers expect during a community wide sale. In our store it has been our policy to buy special merchandise and offer it for sale at the lowest possible prices forgetting about regular mark-ups and overhead costs. Our one aim on this sale is to jam our store with more people than has ever been in before during any three day sale we've ever had, and the only way we can do this is to offer sale merchandise in every department."

Still another manager reported yesterday that he was besieged by out-of-town people to hold articles for them until they called at the store when they arrived in town. This is not in accord with the retail committee's policy and for this sale the same rules of "first come first served" will prevail.

Every large store along Ludington street has reported additional sales help for this three day period so that customers can be waited on promptly and without delay in finding merchandise they want.

Gadget for Marking

No matter how much you like to sew, marking hems, pleats and tucks is at best a boresome job. A new, inexpensive little machine which operates by the mere twist of the wrist makes tailor's tacks swiftly and accurately — a real speeder-upper for amateur and professional dressmakers.

Benjamin Franklin never requested nor received a patent for any of his inventions or discoveries, although he is ranked as the greatest inventive genius of his age.

SHELVES ARE WELL STOCKED

Merchandise Is Offered At Exceptional Bargain Prices

Retail merchants the full length of Escanaba's "More Than a Mile of Retail Stores," are expressing full confidence for the success of their annual Escanaba Days sale, starting today and continuing tomorrow and Saturday.

For several weeks past committees have worked at a feverish pace to set the stage for the greatest three day selling event this town has seen in many years. Working in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce complete plans for this selling event have been formulated to offer attractive merchandise for every family in the city's 80 mile trading area.

Special stocks of merchandise ordered for this selling event have filled the stores to capacity and in many cases regular merchandise has been marked far below everyday selling prices. In every store along the street shoppers will see hundreds of articles that can be purchased at only a fraction of regular cost. Food stores, too, are participating in this great value-giving event.

Late last evening several stores along Ludington street reported favorable indications for complete sellouts of popular merchandise and urged every shopper to shop as early as possible to be sure to get the values they seek before quantities have been exhausted.

Every line of merchandise stocked in Ludington street stores are represented in this special Escanaba Days SELLUBRATION. Restaurants and hotels are offering specially priced meals. Furniture dealers are offering for sale home furnishings and drug stores are opening their complete stocks to customers in the trading area. Department stores and hardware stores all have special merchandise that will be news to the thrifty shopper and merchandise that appeals both in price and quality to every shopper in this territory.

Escanaba Days Bargains Will Make Shopping Enjoyable

"Satisfied customers are regular customers" is the theme of successful selling of Escanaba merchants serving an 80 mile trading area. Oftentimes remarks are heard by store clerks and managers from out of town custo..ers as to why they shop in Escanaba, the leading retail shopping center of Upper Michigan.

Some of the remarks are: "prices are lower. Stocks are large and complete. Courteous salespeople are so helpful and willing to be of assistance. They help you select the merchandise you want. Their well established credit systems answer all credit questions and make it easier for us to open charge accounts in any stores."

These and many more are heard day in and day out the year around from thousands of out of town customers from this large trading area. Alert Escanaba merchants are always striving to find new ways and means to better serve their customers. In many cases entirely new policies have been established and new store arrangements made in order to be of more value to the out of town shopper.

Escanaba Day shoppers will be aware of these new services Thursday, Friday and Saturday when they come to town for this annual city-wide sale. They'll find all these features and many more to make their shopping trip both profitable and enjoyable. Shop in the city that welcomes you most heartily.

Escanaba Days Bargains Will Make Shopping Enjoyable

"Satisfied customers are regular customers" is the theme of successful selling of Escanaba merchants serving an 80 mile trading area. Oftentimes remarks are heard by store clerks and managers from out of town custo..ers as to why they shop in Escanaba, the leading retail shopping center of Upper Michigan.

Some of the remarks are: "prices are lower. Stocks are large and complete. Courteous salespeople are so helpful and willing to be of assistance. They help you select the merchandise you want. Their well established credit systems answer all credit questions and make it easier for us to open charge accounts in any stores."

These and many more are heard day in and day out the year around from thousands of out of town customers from this large trading area. Alert Escanaba merchants are always striving to find new ways and means to better serve their customers. In many cases entirely new policies have been established and new store arrangements made in order to be of more value to the out of town shopper.

Escanaba Day shoppers will be aware of these new services Thursday, Friday and Saturday when they come to town for this annual city-wide sale. They'll find all these features and many more to make their shopping trip both profitable and enjoyable. Shop in the city that welcomes you most heartily.

Gift for Booklovers

A fine gift for the real booklover would be a traveling bookcase made of fine russet saddle leather lined with green felt and fitted with combination magnifying glass, page cutter and rule. Pockets for writing materials are in the lid. It will contain about twelve average-sized books.

Boyne City Prepares For Smelt Season

Boyne City, Nov. 16—Cold winds and nipping night air are rated lightly by sportsmen who are preparing to line the local docks for fall night fishing for smelt. The little silvery fish are due to make their first appearance in quantity since the spawning runs of last spring. Fishing is done with hook and line, and the fishermen use lanterns.

Fall night fishing for smelt is peculiar to Lake Charlevoix, particularly to the Boyne City vicinity, and the docks at East Jordan on the south arm of the lake. Normally frequenting only the deeper water, the smelt, for some unknown reason, have for several years moved into the shallow waters at the head of Lake Charlevoix during the nights in late autumn, when the water temperatures drop. Merchants of Escanaba Are Ready for Crowds

Again the season's biggest shopping opportunity is at hand for 75,000 people in the Escanaba trading area. It is "Escanaba Days" Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Confident that this sale will bring the largest buying season in many years, Escanaba merchants have laid in stocks of goods in readiness for the buying rush which "Escanaba Days Sales" always brings from shoppers within an 80 mile radius.

The buying public knows what to expect on "Escanaba Days" for they are a tradition, a synonym for unbeatable bargains. "Escanaba Days" always means better values for money well spent in Escanaba's "more than a mile of m ern retail stores."

In this selling event that opens Thursday morning, Escanaba stores will offer quality goods at prices which the careful shopper cannot afford to ignore. This special edition of the Daily Press is carrying the messages of this epock-making event to thousands of shoppers for miles around who have been waiting for just such an opportunity to fill their winter and Christmas needs.

Merchants of Escanaba are cooperating heartily in this annual three day sale event, and they realize they must sell exactly the merchandise as advertised in order to keep the confidence and good will these sales have established and to keep Escanaba's laurels as the leading retail center of the Upper Peninsula. Extro sales people will be on hand to serve the busy shopper Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and Escanaba merchants are ready and prepared to welcome the biggest "Escanaba Days" crowds in many years.

Garden News

Recreational Project

Garden, Mich.—The youngsters of the community are going to get a big break this winter, for John Potvin is hauling gravel to make a ski and sled slide on the hill East of the Church Hill, where the winter sport fans have gathered for the last few winters. A skating rink is also being made and no doubt the adults will also take advantage of this. This will lessen the danger ever present on the Church Hill during tobogganing time, for the children could not resist playing on this natural slide. Albert Tatrow is recreational leader.

Classes in basketball are being conducted at the dinner hour in the Community Hall to give the Fayette students a chance to take part. Their bus leaves right after the school sessions so that they cannot take part in the evening games as held previously.

Extension Course Started

The first meeting of the season in Home Economics was called to order by Mrs. Joe Farley at 1:30 p. m. Friday in the Council Room. Mrs. Wm. Swaer lectured on "Making every stitch count" and Mrs. Tom Truckey demonstrated stitches. Mrs. Roland Boudreau and Mrs. Leroy Winter were elected as recreational leaders. The next lesson on Upholstery will be taken up early in January. Mrs. Alfred La Valle is secretary.

Frank G. Tebo and the local school board members motored to Escanaba Tuesday evening to attend the County Board meeting.

Mrs. George Mayou of Carney, Mrs. Ruth Peterson and Mrs. Roy Nadeau of Isabella visited at the John Potvin home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Purtill and Mrs. Joe Farley spent Thursday in Escanaba.

A skating rink is also being made and no doubt the adults will also take advantage of this. This will lessen the danger ever present on the Church Hill during tobogganing time, for the children could not resist playing on this natural slide. Albert Tatrow is recreational leader.

Classes in basketball are being conducted at the dinner hour in the Community Hall to give the Fayette students a chance to take part. Their bus leaves right after the school sessions so that they cannot take part in the evening games as held previously.

Extension Course Started

The first meeting of the season in Home Economics was called to order by Mrs. Joe Farley at 1:30 p. m. Friday in the Council Room. Mrs. Wm. Swaer lectured on "Making every stitch count" and Mrs. Tom Truckey demonstrated stitches. Mrs. Roland Boudreau and Mrs. Leroy Winter were elected as recreational leaders. The next lesson on Upholstery will be taken up early in January. Mrs. Alfred La Valle is secretary.

Frank G. Tebo and the local school board members motored to Escanaba Tuesday evening to attend the County Board meeting.

Mrs. George Mayou of Carney, Mrs. Ruth Peterson and Mrs. Roy Nadeau of Isabella visited at the John Potvin home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Purtill and Mrs. Joe Farley spent Thursday in Escanaba.

Smart Togs For Career Girl May Lead Double Lives

A lot of dollar diplomacy has been used on the career girl's 1940 clothes.

They have been designed to make every sou count in the most skillful ways. Many will even lead double lives, going one place with a business woman by day and somewhere else with a "glamour girl" at night.

The transformation is effected by accessories—jewels, jackets, fur accents and such, whipped out of a wardrobe drawer and used to make a frock or costume change its character and its looks.

Under all this fashion trickery lie excellent, simple clothes.

Experts on the subject compile this list for the career girl's wardrobe:

1. A three-piece suit of tweed or heavy wool combining a jacket, skirt and warm, inter-lined, unfurred coat all of the same fabric, ready both for country and every day wear in town. A sweater and blouse fit it for both.
2. A short fur coat in some relatively inexpensive pelt such as mounton, beaver, skunk, or fisher-dyed fitch for more gala occasions. (If carefully chosen in a dark fur it can top evening frocks as well as daytime clothes.)
3. Two simple wool dresses for office wear—one fairly sober in hue, the other gay. New ones come in green, royal blue and tomato shades as well as the discreet grayed greens, blues and browns which began the season.
4. Two date frocks—one a simple design of black crepe which will combine with many different accessories, the other a dress of deep-hued velvet woven to resist crushing or of stiff fabric such as faille which will give that coveted "five-o'clock look" and do duty late in the spring. (Both wool dresses and at least one date dress should be simply designed without gadgets, so that they may be worn in the office and on to an evening date when splashed with different accessories.)
5. As many hats as the budget permits. (The list should include one simple chapeau and a second frothier one for dates.)
6. Evening requisites begin with a good dinner dress of sheer wool or crepe topped with a suave jacket and continue, if the career girl's life demands it, with a party frock of black net, colorful faille or velvet, and a long, fitted wool wrap.

The fun begins with accessories. This year costume jewels lead the list. Bracelets, whose bangles come off to make neckline clips, splashy bib necklaces shimmering with gold and colored stones, big pins in old-fashioned flower designs and pocket clips with lipsticks in the top can transform a plain frock.

The tricks that jackets can do make even their weawers dizzy. Simple fitted wool ones of hipbone length can be accented with a tasseled cord swung from breast pocket to breast pocket and worn above a dark day skirt or wool frock; then splashed with some bright costume jewels to go places at night. Others, shimmering with gold embroidery are ready to top an office frock and go on to dinner.

There's fun in fur too. Fur buttons to match a coat can be clipped to shoes, new muff and stole sets can be worn either with a plain, black unfurred day coat or with a long evening wrap.

The variety of ways in which a career girl can use her head is almost unlimited. She may tuck her curls into a chenille snood by day, then add a few bright velvet bows to it and go places at night. A favorite which refuses to die is the jersey turban. It comes in a great range of colors and can be twisted about a head to suit the face, the frock and the mood.

Grand Marais

Briefs

Mrs. Joseph Glaza visited her grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Senecal at Alger Mills Friday.

Mrs. Bernice Finnucan, who visited relatives in Chicago the past month returned Friday.

Phil Hupy of Gladstone was a business caller in town Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurst, who visited at the Ostrander's a few days have returned to Big Rapids.

The drive for Red Cross memberships is on this week. Those in charge are Mesdames Tulloch, I. Hill, Thompson, and R. Barney.

James Quello, Commander at CCC Camp Fox, has moved his family into the apartment in the Cheney residence. Mrs. Quello and small son arrived this week from their former home in Ironwood.

Mrs. I. G. Hill and sons, Roy and David, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Morrison of Germfask.

Work in Forest

The Conservation division of the High School agricultural class spent a half day Friday in the school forest. The first year students worked on map making projects and the second year students worked on timber cruising determining how many board feet in forty acres.

Tomato and Mushroom Soup

For an especially delicious cream of tomato soup, combine a can of condensed mushroom soup with the tomato. Thin with milk, if desired. In fact, mushroom soup added to any cream soup gives excellent flavor.

Wily 'Style Psychologist' Makes Shop Your 'Favorite'

BY MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

New York—If you find yourself shopping leisurely, buying a bit lavishly, and drawn instinctively again and again to one store because you love to shop there, nine chances out of ten you have fallen victim to the wiles of a "style psychologist."

Nowadays, it's a style psychologist and not simply a decorator or some friend with a flair for color who is called in by the average store to do over a department or re-arrange a section or decide which counter should go where.

Outstanding among the small group of combination decorators and style psychologists is Edith Straus, who specializes in making shops irresistible to women and children alike.

Mrs. Straus doesn't pull a color out of the paint box because "It is smart this year," or because she happens to think it's pleasant. There's sound reason behind whatever shade she selects for a store or any department in it.

Edith Straus . . . "style psychologist".

MAKING SHOPPING ATTRACTIVE TO CHILDREN

"For instance, children between six and twelve love yellow better than any other color," says Edith Straus, after consulting the Progressive School color tests. "So I usually use plenty of yellow whenever I do a children's department.

"Among other bits of information I have learned and find useful," Mrs. Straus continued, "is that big boys don't want to go through the little boys' department on their way to buy clothes for themselves. However, little boys like to see the bigger fellows trying things on. The trick, obviously, is to put the small boys' department behind the clothes for slightly older children—never in front of it."

Mrs. Straus adds that children feel frustrated when they see small clothes in their size hanging high above their heads. She always uses low racks well within a child's reach. And she thinks that if mothers would do likewise it's quite possible that small Johnny would be more apt to remember to hang his clothes up at home.

"Personally, I think children should be amused when they shop just as adults should be flattered," Edith Straus went on. "The very attitude of an expert sales person is flattery enough for the everage adult, of course, but the child—if he is to like the store—must be entertained. That is why I usually put a fish pond or an apiary in the center of every children's department which I design."

Mrs. Straus is the only woman stylist in a firm of style psychologists and she has to her credit some of the most important departments in some of the most famous and smartest shops between New York and San Francisco. She started her career, 12 years ago, as a straight stylist; later on branched into the highly specialized work she does now.

"Where do I get most of my ideas?" tall, good-looking Edith Straus mused. "By remembering reactions I have had when shopping. I think my own shopping trips have led to my most successful ideas."

Sharp-Tailed Grouse Release Appreciated

Lansing, Nov. 16 — Add: things that seldom happen!

An appreciative Detroit sportsman encloses a check with a leg band from a sharp-tailed grouse he secured recently in the Pigeon river country in Otsego and Montmorency counties.

Staff men of the game division of the Michigan department of conservation experience a warm glow when the sportsmen expresses his satisfaction with their efforts in establishing sharp-tails in the northern counties of the lower peninsula. One hundred and twenty sharp-tails were released in the Pigeon river area last winter and 50 in the Fletcher swamp in Alpena county. All of the birds were transferred from the west end of the upper peninsula.

The check has been returned to the Detroit sportsman. No such contributions are accepted by the conservation department but hunters can aid the department by returning leg bands promptly with information concerning localities in which birds are taken.

Demestication of the cat is credited to the ancient Egyptians.

Tag Raccoons In State Experiment

Allegan—Fifty raccoons, obtained from fur dealers throughout the state, have been tagged in both ears in connection with management studies now being conducted at the Swan Creek wildlife experiment station near here.

Released in Allegan county, any of the animals taken by hunting or trapping should be reported immediately to the station or the Lansing office of the conservation department.

Cooperation of sportsmen will supply needed information upon which further efforts in restocking can be based.

Part of a Pittman-Robertson project being carried on at the station, the raccoons were checked as to condition, age, sex and weight before they were released.

Rats, like human beings, are both "right and left-handed," according to a survey.

Wily 'Style Psychologist' Makes Shop Your 'Favorite'

BY MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

New York—If you find yourself shopping leisurely, buying a bit lavishly, and drawn instinctively again and again to one store because you love to shop there, nine chances out of ten you have fallen victim to the wiles of a "style psychologist."

Nowadays, it's a style psychologist and not simply a decorator or some friend with a flair for color who is called in by the average store to do over a department or re-arrange a section or decide which counter should go where.

Outstanding among the small group of combination decorators and style psychologists is Edith Straus, who specializes in making shops irresistible to women and children alike.

Hermansville

Furlick-Weaver Nuptials

Hermansville, Mich. — Miss Mary Furlick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Furlick, and Earl Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weaver, were united in marriage Saturday morning at eight o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church. The Rev. Father Joseph Hollinger officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was gowned in white satin with a fingertip veil and carried white asters and roses. Her maid-of-honor was a sister of the groom, Miss Gwendolyn Weaver, and wore a gown of blue moire taffeta. The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Kobasic, was attired in a similar dress of American beauty moire taffeta. Both attendants carried bouquets of variegated asters.

A wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at the Furlick home and the family dinner at the Weaver home. In the evening a large party of about fifty friends of the bride and groom met at the Furlick home for supper.

Among the entertainment in honor of the bride was a large party and miscellaneous shower given at her home the week before the wedding. About seventy-five guests were present. Bunco was played with first honors going to Mrs. Joseph Minerick and consolation prize to Mrs. Marino Fletcher. Miss Furlick was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts for her future home.

Armistice Day Program

The annual Armistice Day program under the sponsorship of the Leo Floriana Post of Hermansville was held Saturday morning in the community club with Rev. Joseph Hollinger of St. Mary's church of this town as the principal speaker.

Before the program in the club the annual parade was held with the high school band heading the line of march. Also in the line of march were the various lodges and the school children as well as the Legion post.

The program at the club opened with a band number and then invocation was given by the Legion chaplain, Harry Deacon. The school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Maude Kibbe, played two selections next. John Maga, who was chairman of the program, introduced Rev. Father Hollinger who delivered the principal address of the day.

After the address thirty seconds of silence was observed in memory of the World war dead. The program closed with "The Star Spangled Banner" being played by the band which was under the direction of Richard Lucke.

Barns Burn

Three barns belonging to Frank Dawson, whose farm is located northeast of town, were destroyed Monday afternoon about two o'clock. The fire department was called as well as the local conservation officers and succeeded in saving the house. It is not known just how the blaze started.

Armistice Assembly

The junior and senior high students of the Meyer township schools held an Armistice assembly program Friday afternoon at one o'clock with Rev. Rex Reid of the Methodist church of the village as the principal speaker.

The program opened with two numbers by the high school orchestra under the direction of Miss Maude Kibbe. The first number played was the Spirit of St. Louis, a march, and the second number was the National Medley. In his speech Reverend Reid stressed the fact that the present war in Europe cannot necessarily be blamed to the waring leaders of the old country but to our indifference to have much to do with peace movements that were brought up since the last World war. He also brought out the fact that we should make our democracy so attractive that there would be little doubt by the other nations of what course to follow.

The program closed with two readings by Jack Kleimola.

Another Armistice program was held in the morning by the junior high school history class. This consisted of readings by the students, several musical numbers and an exhibit of war materials which were collected by the students. This program opened with the community singing of songs under the leadership of Dick Dani.

The eighth grade history class held an Armistice program Friday morning in connection with their regular class. A feature of the program was an original poem written for the day by John Minarick, a member of the class. There was also an exhibit of war guns and uniforms which were worn by the soldiers in the last World war.

The complete program was as follows:

Flag Salute led by Dora Pierpont.

Two songs by the grade led by Richard Dani.

A reading on the Armistice by Bernadette Zimmerman.

Accordion solo America, by John Minerick.

Reading, The Story of Old Glory, by Robert Sutherland.

Flag Rules, by Derwaine Bellmore.

Poems on Armistice, by John Minerick.

Flag Rules, by Billy Earle.

Reading, Peace on Earth, by Beatrice Pirlot.

Thought for Armistice Day, by Anna Mario Tousignant.

Star Spangled Banner, by the whole class.

Sixth Grade Program

The sixth grade also held an Armistice Day program with A. E. Spalding, a former member of the Canadian army, giving a short talk. The program opened with two songs, Smiles and Smile a While, by the entire room.

A playlet, "The Deaf Grandma," in which Shirley Ann Landree, Helen Kobasick, Marjorie Rochon, and Francis Zimmerman took part, was next presented. Helen Kobasick gave a reading The Meaning of Armistice.

"Over There" and "There's a Long Long Trail" were sung by the class. Two poems, "Flanders Field" by George Lacousier, and "America's Reply," by Harold Plunger, were read. Edna Mae Bellmore played a violin solo and the "Life of Florence Nightingale" was given by Gloria Stockero. After Mr. Spalding's speech the program was brought to a close with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Hjalmar Johan Procope: Can catnap when he chooses.

BY GERRY DICK
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Washington — Hjalmar Johan Procope, minister to the United States from Finland, is one diplomat who doesn't live up to his billing.

He is commonly called the capital's number one glamor boy. He does look the part—tall, well proportioned, with brown hair and nice blue eyes—but he doesn't act it.

Instead of playing, he works at his job of selling the United States on Finland. You don't find him at very many flossy dinners or entertainments, but you can very often find him in his study, after midnight, finishing the day's job.

He has spent 20-odd years as a diplomat and world traveler, but he never acts bored and he insists "I have no use for intrigue." The only thing that irritates him is inactivity, of which he gets very little.

• • •

EXPERT IN CAT-NAPING

When you talk to him he seems to bubble over with energy—talks rapidly, smokes one cigaret after another, moves about continuously ,and smilingly explains, "I have very good nerves."

Probably he has, too. He has developed the knack of being able to take little cat-naps during the day whenever he chooses (and has a few spare minutes).

So, although he seldom disposes of the last odds and ends of his job until midnight, and almost always follows that by sitting up for an hour or two longer reading history, he always seems fresh and rested.

The same doesn't hold for his staff, though: when he leaves Washington for some other part of the country, the staff is generally ready for a day in bed.

DIPLOMATIC MENU PLANNER

It's the usual thing for a man who runs his house through a hostess and has more important things to do, to turn over a lot of the responsibility for entertaining to his servants.

But Bachelor Procope knows how to select wines and plan menus for a dinner party, and takes the time out to do it whenever he is having guests.

When he gets excited his accent is noticeable, but normally he speaks English very well, though he never studied it. He just got a copy of "The Pit" by Norris and sat down with a dictionary beside it one day and figured it out.

"After the first hundred pages, it was easy," he says.

He does everything that way . . easily, and that's the way he's doing his job here. And Washington gossip to the contrary it's still his first love.

PLACED ON PROBATION

Iron Mountain—Eugene Dulan, 17, of Iron Mountain, drew a three-year probationary term and ordered to pay court costs of $35 when arraigned at 12:45 this afternoon before Judge Aarold Murphy in circuit court at Marinette, Wis., for his part in the holdup and robbery of the Pine Grove resort in Florence county the night of October 19.

George Harvey, also of Iron Mountain and who was with Dulan in the holdup, is now serving a five to 15-year sentence at Marquette for another holdup, at the Majestic restaurant in this city, prior to the Florence county robbery. Harvey was not charged with the Florence county affair.

Finland and the Baltic states import most of their petroleum and its products from the United States.

Furlick-Weaver Nuptials

Hermansville, Mich. — Miss Mary Furlick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Furlick, and Earl Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weaver, were united in marriage Saturday morning at eight o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church. The Rev. Father Joseph Hollinger officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was gowned in white satin with a fingertip veil and carried white asters and roses. Her maid-of-honor was a sister of the groom, Miss Gwendolyn Weaver, and wore a gown of blue moire taffeta. The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Kobasic, was attired in a similar dress of American beauty moire taffeta. Both attendants carried bouquets of variegated asters.

A wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at the Furlick home and the family dinner at the Weaver home. In the evening a large party of about fifty friends of the bride and groom met at the Furlick home for supper.

Among the entertainment in honor of the bride was a large party and miscellaneous shower given at her home the week before the wedding. About seventy-five guests were present. Bunco was played with first honors going to Mrs. Joseph Minerick and consolation prize to Mrs. Marino Fletcher. Miss Furlick was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts for her future home.

Armistice Day Program

The annual Armistice Day program under the sponsorship of the Leo Floriana Post of Hermansville was held Saturday morning in the community club with Rev. Joseph Hollinger of St. Mary's church of this town as the principal speaker.

Before the program in the club the annual parade was held with the high school band heading the line of march. Also in the line of march were the various lodges and the school children as well as the Legion post.

The program at the club opened with a band number and then invocation was given by the Legion chaplain, Harry Deacon. The school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Maude Kibbe, played two selections next. John Maga, who was chairman of the program, introduced Rev. Father Hollinger who delivered the principal address of the day.

After the address thirty seconds of silence was observed in memory of the World war dead. The program closed with "The Star Spangled Banner" being played by the band which was under the direction of Richard Lucke.

Barns Burn

Three barns belonging to Frank Dawson, whose farm is located northeast of town, were destroyed Monday afternoon about two o'clock. The fire department was called as well as the local conservation officers and succeeded in saving the house. It is not known just how the blaze started.

TWO KILLED AS DEER SEASON OPENS

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt started another flurry of speculation about the third term question today by an off-hand remark with which he prefaced an address at the laying of the cornerstone of the Thomas Jefferson memorial.

"This is the second occasion on which I have had the privilege of coming in an official capacity to this site," he said, "and I hope by January, 1941, I shall be able to come to the final dedication of the memorial itself."

Ready To Retire?

Mr. Roosevelt's present term expires on the 20th of the month he mentioned and the dedication is scheduled for that month.

Whether his statement was a reiteration of the hope previously expressed, that he may retire from public life on that date, was the question that it raised.

If the statement was applicable to the third term question—and men in Mr. Roosevelt's position do not lightly make assertions which contain political connotations—it may have meant that the president does not expect to run again.

But, at most, it was far from definite and left the third term question still unanswered. However, the question has such a tremendous bearing upon the current political situation, that any dim light which may be cast upon it is considered of high importance in Washington.

Few Hundred Present

The president spoke beneath a cloudless November sky, his speaker's platform framed in derricks and guy wires. A few hundred persons were present, standing below the president on a rough wooden platform or upon the muddy bank of the nearby tidal basin.

The memorial is to complete an architectural cross, of which the Lincoln memorial, the White House and the capitol are the three other ends and the Washington monument the center.

The president had words of praise, consequently for Washington and Lincoln as "many sided" men who left deep imprint upon the nation, as well as for Jefferson. The latter he lauded for his interest in education, as the inventor of "numerous small devices to make human life simpler and happier" and as an experimenter in scientific methods of agriculture.

Jefferson Lauded

"But," he added, "it was in the field of political philosophy that Jefferson's significance is transcendant.

"He lived as we live in the midst of a struggle between rule by the self-chosen individual or the self-appointed few, and rule by the franchise and approval of the many. He believed as we do that the average opinion of mankind is in the long run superior to the dictates of the self-chosen.

"During all the years that have followed Thomas Jefferson, the United States has expanded his philosophy into a greater achievement of security of the nation, security of the individual and national unity, than in any other

Caracas, Venezuela, Nov. 5 (AP)—A revised estimate said tonight that probably less than 100 persons lost their lives in the fire which swept the stilt-supported shanty town of Lagunillas on Lake Maracaibo Monday night.

The government press office issued a statement expressing the opinion that the number of dead and injured was not nearly so high as the 800 estimated earlier.

No exact list of dead or survivors was available.

Informed quarters said the Venezuelan government would not permit the town to be rebuilt. The village was considered a firetrap, it was said, made more hazardous by escaping oil which sometimes collects in a scum near the shore.

Survivors today told of two oil pipeline breaks which preceded the disastrous fire.

The report of survivors conflicted as to whether there was so much oil on the water that it actually caught fire, as early accounts said.

Pipeline Floods Lake

Rescue workers hunted through floating debris for more bodies today as the Venezuelan government mobilized its forces to aid the survivors.

Two days before the disaster a pipeline of the Menegrande Oil company broke, causing the lake waters to rise temporarily to window levels, survivors said. On Monday morning a 12-inch pipe of a Venezuelan oil company broke, spilling considerable oil into the swollen lake.

More than 1,200 houses were destroyed by the blaze. An offshore breeze turned the fire out toward the lake, however, and spared buildings along the shore.

Lagunillas had suffered previous disastrous fires but none of the magnitude of Monday's holocaust. Identification of many bodies was impossible. Little remained of the town except charred piling which had supported the houses.

With the idea of avoiding such a disaster the government in 1936 ordered construction of a town at Ojeda, on dry land, but few had moved into the new houses.

Three days of national mourning were decreed by President Eleazar Lopez Contreras, who raised a relief fund of 355,000 bolivars ($110,050).

NO CHANGE YET IN SDD SET-UP

Retail Liquor Problem Must Be Decided By Legislature

Lansing, Nov. 15. (AP)—Orrin A. Demass, chairman of the liquor control commission, indicated today that if any radical change is made in the system of dispensing liquor it would have to be made by the legislature.

Commission members previously had voiced a belief that specially designated liquor dealers were an unnecessary and expensive factor in liquor sales, and that in many sections, at least, they should be abolished and state stores given a monopoly. A survey was ordered this fall before adoption of a formal policy.

The commission's attitude drew protests from SDD's, mostly druggists.

Demass disclosed today that the survey, originally scheduled for completion Nov. 1, would be "continued until the legislature meets."

"The commission will carry on as we have been until we know what the answer is," he said, adding that it then would submit its recommendations to the legislature. "The SDD matter is a burning question," he continued, "and we aren't going to be in a hurry to decide about it. Whether whisky should be sold like milk or whether it should be under strict control is the main question."

Anti-Trust Case In Hands Of Jury

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 15 (AP)—The General Motors corporation anti-trust trial was placed in the hands of a federal jury at 6:35 o'clock (CST) tonight.

Judge Walter C. Lindley of Danville, Ill., adjourned court until 10 a. m. tomorrow and no verdict will be received before that time.

Iron Mountain Man Drowns In His Car

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Fred DeRoche, 72-year-old carpenter, drowned today when his skidding automobile smashed through a bridge guard rail into the Menominee river.

SHIPPING WITH U. S. HARD HIT IN NEUTRALITY

COMBAT ZONE CUTS OFF EUROPEAN SEAPORTS

BY ANDRUE BERDING

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—The neutrality act not only has affected the European belligerents, but it has reacted materially upon the neutral nations of Europe, some of which have commerce with the United States running into scores of millions of dollars.

Dispatches from various norther neutral capitals evince considerable concern. Within the combat area barred to American ships are such customers as the Netherlands, Belgium, Sweden, Denmark and Ireland, as well as the Baltic states of Lithuainia, Latvia and Esthonia.

Ireland Suffers

Ireland already has expressed her concern to the United States. She says her ports are suffering from the absence of American ships and she is in need of certain American products.

No other neutral has expressed official concern, but it is learned that Scandinavian nations were so worried in advance of proclamation of the combat area that they sought assurances from this government that means would be found of leaving some access to them.

A method was found—that of placing a northern limit on the combat zone so that American ships could still go into the ports of Bergen or Trondhjem, Norway. From those ports there are excellent rail connections across Norway into Sweden and Finland and down to Denmark. But train hauls will increase the cost of American goods.

Norwegian Fleet Chartered

Finland wanted to be sure American ships could still enter her northern port of Petsamo, and this port was left outside the combat area.

Norwegian ships are preparing to take up some of the carrying trade abandoned by the United States. A high official here characterized Norwegian shipping, which is the sixth largest in the world, as "the strongest crutch we have in an emergency." The Black Diamond Line is reported negotiating for the chartering of a fleet of Norwegian vessels to carry on its trade under the Norwegian flag, and the Cosmopolitan Line is reported to have completed negotiations with the Norwegians for a fleet of ships.

Denmark is shrouded in the combat zone but her sister kingdom, Iceland, is not, and is now preparing to open commerce directly with the United States, having chartered a steamship service for the purpose. Iceland sells the United States more than a million dollars worth of goods a year, chiefly cod liver oil, and buys about $130,000 worth. With supplies from Europe endangered, Iceland is now in the market for increased purchases of roofing felt, galvanized corrugated sheets, cement, paper, glassware, dry-

CHINA BATTLES FOR LIFELINES

Japanese Attack Aimed At Supply Arteries From Indo-China

Hongkong, Nov. 15 (AP)—Chinese forces on the coast of Kwangtung province in south China battled today against a new Japanese attack believed aimed at China's rail and highway "lifelines" to the outside world through French Indo-China.

Japanese headquarters here announced that combined army and naval forces had landed near Pakhoi, 300 miles west of Hongkong on the Gulf of Tonking.

Chinese military officials at Chungking, Chinese capital, confirmed the landing. They said an "unknown number" of Japanese troops came ashore from 12 transports, 45 miles west of Pakhoi.

Advices received by Chinese government spokesmen here said Chinese shore batteries engaged in a fierce duel with Japanese warships lying off the coast.

The Chinese said the attack occurred 45 miles west of Pakhoi and only 35 miles east of the border of French Indo-China. Through Indo-China run the "lifelines" that have been China's chief route for supplies from abroad since the closing of virtually all of her seaports by Japanese occupation.

Keys to War?

Here's how Europe's little neutral countries would look if fitted within the borders of Illinois. Their combined area of 24,450 square miles is less than half of that of this middle-sized state, but their total population of 17,000,000 is more than twice that of Illinois.

TRUCKS HALTED AT STATE LINES

Wisconsin and Michigan Fail to Agree On License Laws

Lansing, Nov. 15 (AP)—Wisconsin's purported failure to remove discrimination against Michigan-licensed trucks was explained by Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly today as the reason for orders to turn Wisconsin truckers without Michigan licenses back at the state line.

Kelly said as the result of the order Wisconsin truckers had asked for a special session of their legislature to repeal "unfair" license law provisions.

State department agents have ticketed 165 trucks from Wisconsin for operating over northern Michigan highways without Michigan licenses, he said. Michigan licenses were bought for about 25 percent of the trucks, he said, yielding this state $3,000 in additional revenues.

To protests from Wisconsin, Kelly said he replied with a reminder of three unfulfilled "promises" that discrimination against Michigan trucks would be repealed and that Michigan trucks would be admitted into Wisconsin under a reciprocity agreement. He said Michigan trucks had been barred from Wisconsin for 10 years.

Bow Stove In By Collision, Huronic Ties Up At Sault

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—With her bow stove in above the water line, as the result of a collision, the steamer Huronic locked southward through the Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., ship canal late this afternoon and tied up at the New Ontario dock on the Canadian side.

The Canadian owned steamer Brulin, which collided with the Huronic off Whitefish Point early today, was enroute toward the Ontario locks. The United States coast guard cutter Ossipee left just before dark to offer possible assistance to the Brulin. The extent of damage to the vessel was not known.

Bull Kills Farmer At Chelsea, Mich.

Chelsea, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Injuries suffered Tuesday when he was gored by a bull resulted in the death in a Jackson hospital today of Harold Koch, 26-year-old Sylvan township farm hand.

Koch's lungs were punctured during the attack which occurred in the barnyard on the Fred W. Notten farm.

Traffic Toll

Flint, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Robert Hohn, 12, died today of injuries suffered Tuesday when an automobile struck him after having collided with another machine.

Sandusky, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Injuries suffered in an automobile collision proved fatal today to Harold Moore, 35.

Marshall, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Ellen Barnes, 77, who suffered a brain concussion and two fractured legs when she walked into the side of a moving automobile Nov. 4, died of her injuries today.

ATTACK AIMED AT FINLAND IN SOVIET PRESS

FOUR MERCHANTMEN SUNK IN REVIVAL OF SEA WAR

The Soviet Russian press leveled its sharpest attack on Finland Thursday with a bitterness reminiscent of the verbal barrage directed at Poland just before the Red army marched into that country.

The attack, in which Finnish ruling circles were accused of fostering an "anti-Soviet policy," was included in a Tass, official news agency, dispatch from Helsinki, Finland's capital.

America Berated

The news agency accused the Finnish army and press of instructing Finns to "hate Russians" and charged that "the leaders of the anti-Soviet campaign of lies are the most reactionary elements who are dreaming of spreading the boundaries of Finland all the way to Russia's Urals."

Russian territorial and military demands on Finland were not "impossible," the news agency continued.

Coincident with the attack, the Soviet newspaper Trud, organ of Russian trade unions, published a letter from a veteran Soviet legislator-scientist berating the United States for her "anxiety concerning Finland."

Delegation Back Home

The Finnish delegation which broke off the Moscow negotiations arrived in Helsinki. There are indications the Finns considered the Kremlin talks ended unless the Russians came forward with new proposals.

Meanwhile, the 28-month-old war in the Far East picked up momentum while Europe's 10-week-old conflict continued quiet on land but with mounting losses at sea.

The Japanese launched a new attack against the South China province of Kwangtung in an apparent effort to sever Chinese rail and highway "lifelines" to French Indo-China.

Combined army and naval forces landed at Pakhoi, 300 miles west of Hongkong, the invaders announced. The Chinese acknowledged the attack but denied the landing, asserting their shore batteries were engaged in an artillery duel with 40 Japanese warships offshore.

Lithuania Loses Ships

On the other side of the globe, four ships—one British, one Greek and two Lithuanian—went to the bottom, raising the known losses at sea since the start of the European war to 126 ships totaling 505,675 tons.

The day's casualties were the 790-ton British coastwise tanker Woodtown, the 2,216-ton Greek steamer Georgis, and two Lithuantian freighters, the 1,607-ton Panevezys and the 945-ton Nida.

The Woodtown, 67th British ship to sink, went down after an explosion, carrying nine of her 12 crewmen to their death. The Georgis struck a half-submerged wreck off the east English coast.

The Panevezys and Nida, the first ships to be lost by the little Baltic state, were said by Ritzau, Danish news agency, to have been sunk off the Estonian coast by mines.

The Nazis announced a German submarine had sunk 26,000 tons

GOVERNOR HEIL RAPS DICKINSON

Michigan Strike Methods Criticized; Farmer Luren Amused

Charlotte, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—For the benefit of the governor of Wisconsin, the governor of Michigan said today:

"If he (Wisconsin's governor) were governor of Michigan, he'd find out some things he doesn't know."

Gov. Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin had said in a speech in Chicago last night: "You've got to use strong methods. I would like to be the governor of Michigan today. They have no right to have strikes there."

Taking time out from his farm chores here, Gov. Luren D. Dickinson of Michigan indicated today he was amused at Gov. Heil's remarks. He said Heil "apparently doesn't know that I can use strong methods, too, if I want to" and pointed to his use of state police in several strikes.

Regarding the labor dispute at Chrysler corporation, Gov. Dickinson said, "it is in mediation now in a way that we cannot get at it any more than we have."

Capone In Philadelphia Sanatorium, Paper Says

Philadelphia, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Evening Bulletin said today it had "learned definitely from a highly-authentic police source" that Al Capone is in Philadelphia or a nearby suburb.

The newspaper quoted the same source as saying the erstwhile Chicago gang leader is being treated at a local sanitorium for pareisis (partial paralysis affecting muscular motion.)

Two federal agents accompanied Capone to Philadelphia, the newspaper said it was told. They will leave him next Monday when his sentence for income tax evasion expires.

The gang leader served the sentence in Alcatraz prison.

The newspaper said it understood Capone's whereabouts here was being kept secret to prevent any interference from the Philadelphia underworld.

State Board Finds 'Poor Judgment' At Newberry Hospital

Ypsilanti, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—The state hospital commission decided at a hearing today that matters under investigation at the Newberry State hospital showed "poor judgment" had been displayed although nothing was found that warranted disciplinary action.

The case involved the remodeling of a building owned by Dr. Earl W. Campbell, medical superintendent of Newberry State hospital.

The commission made these rules:

(1) The time of all hospital employes shall be devoted exclusively to the state during the regular hours of employment unless the commission gives specific permission otherwise.

(2) Hospital facilities shall not be used for private commercial purposes under any circumstances.

(3) No patient labor is to be used.

(4) State-owned supplies and materials must not be used for private purposes or exchanged or loaned.

Fred C. Striffler, Caro, the commission chairman, said the preliminary inquiry disclosed no fraud or intent to defraud.

Dr. Campbell has been at the hospital since 1905 except for two years when he was at the Traverse City State hospital.

Jackson Convicts In Escape Attempt Held For Murder

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—The six convicts who figured in an escape plot fatal to a Southern Michigan prison guard Nov. 5 were bound over to circuit court today on a joint murder charge.

Several fellow inmates testified regarding the obreak, during which Fred Boucher, chief guard inspector, was shot to death. Municipal Judge Arthur W. Wiggins held court at the prison.

The six convicts, George Bodie, Samuel Sawaya, Paul Lawman, Malcolm Stokes, Leo Thifault and John L. Sullivan, kept silent although each was asked if he had anything to say.

Girl Rescues Baby From Burning Home At Rochester, Minn.

Rochester, Minn., Nov. 15 (AP)—Scornful of danger to herself, Pauline Levay, 17, ran into a burning home today to rescue three-year-old Edward Koski.

The girl had to crawl under an upstairs bed to reach the child, who had fled there from fear of the flames. The house was destroyed.

Occupying the home were Mr. and Mrs. Erney Levay, parents of Pauline, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Koski, the baby's parents. None was injured.

Vancouver Island Districts Flooded

Zeballos, B. C., Nov. 15. (Canadian Press)—More than 100 persons were homeless tonight after a torrential rainstorm which caused damage estimated at thousands of dollars and made this west coast gold-mining district the second flood center on Vancouver Island.

As 15 families fled before the rising waters of the Courtenay river on the east coast of the island, more than 100 persons were removed from the settlement of Privateer Flats four miles from here.

ACTION DELAYED ON WARDENSHIP

Elmer Swanson, Escanaba, Among 4 Mentioned for Marquette Post

Lansing, Nov. 15. (AP) — Although the skids still were greased for Warden Marvin L. Coon of the Marquette branch prison, informed quarters said there was not much prospect that decisive action would be taken in his case at a corrections commission meeting in Jackson tomorrow because Upper Peninsula Republican leaders have not agreed on a successor to him.

Emerson R. Boyles, Governor Dickinson's legal adviser, was among those predicting there would be no action Thursday on Attorney General Thomas Read's recommendation that the warden be fired. Read contends that the recent short-lived escape in which four Marquette convicts abducted Coon and three other officials has "destroyed the warden's usefulness" at the prison.

The plans to fire Coon, a Democratic holdover employe, subsequently were complicated by an escape from the state prison of southern Michigan in which Fred Boucher, inspector of guards, was shot and killed. Read investigated that escape but attached no blame to Republican Warden Harry H. Jackson.

Four men have been mentioned prominently for the Marquette wardenship, and each has the written endorsement of county Republican committees. They are William Newcomb, Coon's deputy; Alvin E. Richards, state tax commissioner; Elmer Swanson, Escanaba, a former sheriff, and Howard Boyd, Grand Rapids, former member of the prison staff. Richards' friends said he no longer was interested in obtaining the appointment.

Submarine Squalus Is Decommissioned For Year Of Repair

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 15 (AP)—Her commission pennant fluttered down today and the submarine Squalus, which carried 26 men to their deaths in a faulty dive last May, was removed from the navy's active list.

Her commander, Lieut. Oliver F. Naquin, and 31 other navy survivors—first ever rescued with a diving bell—stood on the deck of the underseas craft during the brief formality which marked decommissioning.

Navy yard experts estimated a year might be required to complete reconditioning and return the Squalus to the nation's fighting forces.

Highways In Hawaii Planted In Colors

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Color schemes, familiar in interior decoration and women's clothing, have been applied to landscaping of streets and highways in Hawaii, a delegate to the annual convention of the American Automobile association reported today.

Miss Robert Clark said the outdoor Circle of Honolulu, a 27-year-old organization of women, had succeeded in having one thoroughfare planted in red flowers, for example, another in blue, and so on through the spectrum.

Also as a result of the circle's efforts, she said, no billboards appear on any highways.

HUNTERS SHOT IN DOWNSTATE WOODS REGION

BATTLE CREEK MAN WOUNDED NEAR BIG BAY

(By The Associated Press)

Two men were killed Wednesday within a few hours after the opening of the Michigan deer hunting season as tens of thousands of men and women roamed the woods in the northern part of the state.

The victims were Augustus Altvatter, 67, of Fowler, and Ray Morris, 42, of Detroit. Both were shot by other hunters.

The fatal accidents occurred in the Lower Peninsula. Morris, first victim of the season, was hunting at Buck Creek, 10 miles from East Tawas, and was struck by a bullet from the rifle of Ray McFeely, Detroit, his brother-in-law. Morris died shortly before 10 a. m.

Hit In Forehead

Altvatter was struck across the forehead by a shot fired by Henry Bousseau of Alpena. The accident happened nine miles north of Glennie in Alcona county. He was treated by a physician at Harrisville and then taken southward by ambulance to Mercy hospital at Bay City. He died about 2:45 p. m., three hours after the mishap.

In another accident near Free Soil, Ray Dole of Kalamazoo was injured by a shot from his own gun. He was not badly hurt.

In the Upper Peninsula Charles Petersen, 45, Battle Creek, was mistaken for a buck in the underbrush and wounded by Charles Vandezande, of Big Bay, in Marquette county. Vandezande told state police he had wounded a buck and was pursuing it. Believing he had spotted the animal again he shot and struck Petersen.

Condition Not Serious

Vandezande and Petersen walked three-quarters of a mile to camp and then drove 35 miles to Marquette where the victim was taken to St. Mary's hospital. He was wounded in the abdomen. His condition, the attending physician said last night, was not serious. The accident occurred at Ives Lake, near Big Bay.

Warm weather hampered hunters considerably but scattered reports indicated that several bagged deer quickly. Harry Richardson of Traverse City took to the field in the Kalkaska district at 7 a. m. and brought down a buck five minutes later.

Ray Balluff of White Cloud got a 10-pointer before 9 a. m.

Near Manistee, Bob Swanson, 15, shot a four-point buck and claimed honors among the younger hunters.

Joe Adamczak, Manistee, had quick results.

He ran into a deer with his automobile and killed it. Conservation officers took the carcass, however. It was a 200-pound buck.

Straits Records Broken

Scores of persons were arrested for various violations of the game laws.

At the Straits of Mackinac it was reported that the total number of persons crossing northward had broken all records at this stage of the deer hunting season.

Temperatures ranged from 35 to 40 degrees in the deer hunting counties, an unseasonable state of affairs.

At Beulah Thursday night the women of Benzie county whose husbands are hunting will stage a "widows' feast" with plans for making it an annual event.

Nile Kinnick Played Baseball With Bob Feller

(NEA Service Sports Writer)

Nile Clarke Kinnick, Jr., once was battery mate of famed Bob Feller in Adel, Iowa, where he was born. . . . Now Iowa's amazing quintuple-threat pitches instead of catches, and is generally acknowledged as best passer in the Big Ten.

Kinnick is 21 years old, stands 5 feet 8 inches and weighs 170 pounds. . . . Father, who is in real estate department of Federal Land Bank of Omaha, played football and baseball at Iowa State.

A brilliant student and almost certain Phi Beta Kappa nominee, Kinnick was likely Rhodes scholar until European war temporarily concelled future appointments . . . Senior, majoring in economics and plans to enter college of law next fall. . . . Does about two hours of janitor and clerical work daily for partial self-support.

* * *

Of Scotch-Irish ancestry. . . . Member of Phi Kappa Psi, Order of Artus, honorary commerce group and senior men's honorary society. . . . Generally considered finest combination of athlete-student in modern Iowa history.

Got football start as mere lad when father kicked pigskin to him in back yard. . . . Family moved from Adel to Omaha, where Nile started in football and basketball at Benson high school. . . . Played one season of basketball as sophomore at Iowa and was team's second highest scorer. . . . Gave up cage sport to concentrate on studies.

Fairly quiet but when he speaks he has habit of making every word count. . . . Serious-minded, he is much too busy to participate in campus social affairs.

* * *

Kinnick's keen mind serves him well on gridiron as well as in classroom. . . . Like Frank Carideo, backfield tutor and former Notre Dame star, Kinnick is referred to as Hawkeyes' playing coach.

Football talent is terrific. . . . Besides his passing he averages better than 40 yards as punter . . . with plenty of 'em out in the coffin corner. . . . Corking ball-carrier, averaging 4½ yards per try . . . and possibly outstanding dropkicker in college ranks. . . . Has 10 conversions this year via that method . . . also calls signals when Quarterback Al Couppee is out of lineup.

All this adds up to "quintuple-threat" label tacked onto him at start of this sketch.

Germans Confident Of Victory — Villard

BY OSWALD GARRISON VILLARD

Berlin—On all sides here there is the greatest assurance that this time Germany will win the war and that it will win so quickly and completely that the British Empire will come to its end two months after the great offensive planned for next Spring begins.

The ocean by that time will be covered by German submarines, which are now being laid down in large numbers and are being built on the belt-conveyor plan in use in American automobile production. The German air-force will have reached enormous proportions after a winter during which the great airplane factories will have worked day and night to create an air armada such as no one has ever dreamed of, both in numbers and the uniform modernity of the fleet. When the hour comes there will be an attack from all sides on England which will absolutely overwhelm it and the French air-fleet, if that should come to the rescue.

On land the British army will be reached and "smashed to the last man" as an officer told me the other evening, accompanying his statement with a sadistic fury such as would justify the most extreme attacks upon the Germans. It is to be a military Schrecklichkeit of a kind never seen or imagined and once it is at an end there will be no one to dispute Germany's control of Europe, save Russia.

Attacking Neutral Ships

Presented thus it is really a terrifying picture, for it will be remembered that in the last war the submarines that brought England to the verge of disaster in 1917 never numbered more than fifteen on the firing line at one time. If it is true that several hundred have been or are to be laid down this winter and many of them launched in the next six months England will have her hands full indeed, especially if Stalin lends Germany a hundred of his submarines. In addition the Germans have taken a leaf out of England's book and are going after neutral ships with contraband just as England has. In the airfield there is no doubt that in planes the German superiority is as three to two, though this ratio may be changed when next Spring comes. Mere superiority in numbers is, however, not the controlling factor. There enters into the reckoning the personnel and the quality of the ships and their relative efficiency. Both sides today assert that their craft are faster than the enemy's: in England they believe that their bombers are speedier than German pursuit planes, while here they are certain that they have won the mastery of the air as shown by the fact that on the West front they have brought down sixty Allied airplanes in the relatively little fighting that has been going on. The truth is that no one yet knows and that who will have moral dominance of the air will not be established until after a succession of large scale fights. I cannot, however, find any neutral observer who thinks that the British air-force will be rushed off its feet in one great attack of say five thousand planes. In London they are certain that if five hundred planes reach England very few will ever return and this winter is being utilized to strengthen the defenses in every possible way.

Sees War of Nerves

Plainly it is to be a war of nerves. Whose morale will snap first? Well, I should think that it would be the German nervous system, despite all their confidence and their great military and organizational talent. It was easy to smash Poland but England is not Poland and it is not possible to compare the Polish army with that of England, and any checks will react severely here. I believe, moreover, that if this winter should be spent in military idleness the British will stand it better than either France or Germany. The latter's people are the greater sentimentalists, much more inclined to self-pity, and their men have gone to war with none of the uplift and the genuine enthusiasm of 1914. On the other hand the Germans will be better housed than their enemies and every effort will be made to entertain and amuse the men and keep them busy. On the home front, too, as the last war showed, the morale is much more likely to snap here than in England—I am not so sure about France.

In the economic field, I have not yet found one person who believes that the Germans can be starved out and this opinion is held by anti-Nazis and by foreigners. In the field of raw materials, Germany has tremendous reserve supplies, piled up during the last three years. They insist that some of their synthetic materials such as "Buna," the Ersatz rubber, is more durable than nature's product. Buna is therefore being used exclusively for military vehicles. It is true that many of the factories to be devoted to synthetic materials are not finished. Still there is supreme confidence, even, among those who wish it were otherwise, that somehow or other Germany will beg, buy or steal or get from Russia those absolutely essential raw materials which it cannot produce or find substitutes for. On the economic side the weakness is therefore in the financial field. How can the materials to be imported be paid for? The answers are always insufficient to prove the Nazi case. They talk of their barter system, of many great factories set aside exclusively for barter products, which cannot be used for military ends, whose workers cannot be drafted into the army, and of their ability to keep up a great deal of trade with south-eastern Europe and get some cash for it. There is, however, plainly a limit to this.

So the Germans prefer to talk about the stream-lined war they are going to carry on. Their military have the greatest respect for Gamelin as a fine soldier. They believe, though, that both the English and French are still thinking in terms of the war as it ended in 1918, and not of war in 1939. When I asked my fire-eating officer how they were going to get at the English army beyond the Maginot Line, he answered that there were technical ways of overcoming it and that parts of it built ten years ago were not up-to-date. When I asked him what Gamelin would be doing all this time, he said: "Fighting on other fronts." He then suggested Spain. The other front could, of course, be only the Italian. Ominous and sadistic as this man's rearing was, it is pleasant to reflect that the soldier who tells you just how great his victories are going to be by no means always wins them.

DR. M. HAGELE WILL LECTURE

"How Life Begins" To Be Subject of Talk Tonight

The second of a series of free health lectures for Gladstone women will be presented this evening at 8 o'clock in the high school assembly room by Dr. Marie A. Hagele, lecturer for the Michigan Department of Health.

Tonight's lecture is entitled "How Life Begins" and in connection a film on prenatal care is shown. This film was prepared at Harper hospital, Detroit, under the supervision of the Maternal Health committee of the Michigan State Medical society.

The series of talks, the first of which was presented here two weeks ago, offers an excellent opportunity for women to gain the basic knowledge of modern maternal and child hygiene. Dr. Hagele accompanies her talks with considerable illustrative material—charts, maps and posters, in addition to either motion pictures or slides.

Dr. Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis association, will also speak at tonight's gathering, it is announced by Mrs. C. B. Fitzpatrick.

The lectures are sponsored by the Child's Welfare department cooperating with the Michigan Department of Health. Mrs. Fitzpatrick is chairman of the committee in charge and is being assisted by Miss Lorraine LaFramboise, school nurse.

WAS ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Ishpeming — Mrs. Helen Margaret Ogness and her daughter, Ann Gorlin, met death Saturday, November 4, by accidental drowning, a coroner's jury found this afternoon after an inquest in the city council chambers.

Prosecutor John D. Voelker questioned nine witnesses, the principal one being Leo Ogness, husband and father of the victims and lone survivor of the accident. He was on the stand 41 minutes.

Dr. W. A. Corcoran, first witness, who was called to the death scene, said in his opinion Mrs. Ogness, whose body had been taken from the water, was dead when he arrived. He described the vain efforts to save her life and said that in his opinion death was caused by drowning, shock being a small factor.

TB ASS'N WORK TALK SUBJECT

T. J. Werle to Address Lions Club, Other Groups Today

The health-giving educational work carried on by the Michigan Tuberculosis association with funds derived from the annual Christmas Seal sale will be described before the Lions club tonight by Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the association.

Mr. Werle will also appear before the high school assembly this afternoon to explain the relation of tuberculosis to people of high school age and will speak tonight at the high school assembly either before or following the health lecture of Dr. Marie Hagele of the Michigan Department of Health.

A marked drop in the tuberculosis death rate in Michigan, largely attributed to increased public knowledge brought about through the education efforts of the association, has been effected in the past 20 years, the period of Mr. Werle's service with the Michigan association.

Mr. Werle's appearances in Gladstone as a part of his Upper Peninsula speaking tour, were arranged by Mrs. J. D. Staple, Seal sale chairman of the Child's Welfare club.

The meeting is to be held at the Lincoln House and a wild duck dinner is to be served. Preparations for the repast were in charge of Vincent Johnson.

New Commemorative Stamp Now On Sale

A special postage stamp in 3-cent denomination to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of admission to the Union of the states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington has been issued and was placed on sale here this week.

The stamp is arranged horizontally and the central subject is an outline map in lighter color showing the four states on a background of darker shade containing the boundary lines of the bordering states. The names of the states and their respective capitals are indicated in dark Roman lettering. In the lower right center is a compass with the date 1889 at the left and 1939 at the right in white lettering.

In a narrow panel with dark ground along the top edge of the stamp is the wording "50th Anniversary of Statehood" in white Gothic. In a narrow panel at the bottom of the stamp is the wording "United States Postage."

Professional Golfers Have New Deal In Election

WHOLE OFFICIAL SLATE CHANGED

Tom Walsh of Chicago PGA Prexy; Shute Mixup Muzzled

BY EARL HILLIGAN

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Professional Golfers Association, in a surprisingly speedy and harmonious session, dealt itself a "new deal" today.

Meeting, appropriately enough, in the Roosevelt room of a downtown hotel, delegates installed an entirely new slate of major officers, choosing Tom Walsh of Chicago as president, succeeding George Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J.; electing Capt. Charles Clarke of Willoughby, O., secretary; and naming as treasurer William Maguire, Houston, Tex.

But where one of the stormiest elective sessions in P. G. A. history was anticipated, the direct opposite situation materialized. Jacobus, finishing his seventh term as president, formally announced his decision against running again and this was followed by the quick nomination of Walsh and Ed Dudley of Philadelphia as the only candidates.

Hatchet Buried

The count was 45 votes for Walsh, national secretary for several years, to 22 for Dudley, a vice president of the organization and chairman of its tournament committee. The "Denny Shute incident" did not produce the expected fireworks, but some observers saw traces of its influence in Walsh's election. Walsh was on the executive committee which last summer ruled Shute ineligible for the P. G. A. championship, a ruling which Jacobus overrode.

The contest for secretary was three-cornered, Capt. Clarke polling 45 ballots to 16 for Frank Sprogell of Grand Rapids, Mich., and six for John Budd, Tallahasee, Fla. Maguire was given 36 ballots for treasurer to 31 for Jack Mackie of New York, who had held the post for 15 years. Jacobus was named honorary president and will retain a place on the executive committee.

The harmonious elective session, it was learned, was no accident. Apparently realizing the Shute case came dangerously close to wrecking their championship last summer, the teaching pros and tournament players did a quick job of burying the hatchet. At least three delegates expressed "regret" over the incident in pre-election talks.

Amateur Boxers To Stage Show Tonight

The Escanaba Amateur Boxing club will stage another of its popular shows at the City Recreation Center tonight beginning at 8 o'clock. Seven bouts are on the program.

All of the matches will be between boys who have been training in the boxing center located at North First and 14th street, with John Pennings and Lachapple billed for the wind-up.

Other matches are as follows: Dick Pryal vs. B. Sayklly; F. DeMars vs. Delare; W. Jacka vs. D. Wollet; Soull vs. B. Taylor; B. Jereau vs. W. Hirn; Ferrari vs. Holmes.

Because of the limited space, a very small charge will be made for those wishing to attend the show. The proceeds will be used to purchase additional equipment which may be used by anyone in the city. The boxing center is open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30 and from 7 to 10, and on Saturday from 9 to 12, and 1:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

Free Room, Board Tuition Proposed For Football Men

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 15 (AP)—Roy O. Pike of Bloomington, member of the Indiana University athletic board, today advocated free room, board and tuition for varsity football squads of colleges and universities.

Pike, former I. U. football player and one-time assistant coach, is president of the citizens loan and trust company of Bloomington.

He would limit the benefits to 36 players, excluding freshmen and sophomores, and would allow only junior and seniors to play on the varsity.

"This program," Pike said, "would be an incentive for students to get on the university squad. Students would take more interest in football. Junior standing would insure scholastic eligibility."

Frank (Poison) Ivy, Oklahoma's Great End, Part Indian; One of Nine Married Men On Squad; Relaxes at Billiards

NEA Service Sports Writer

Frank Ivy is a colorful mixture of Swedish and Indian ancestry . . . With Osage and Cherokee blood constituting the latter . . . Senior in Oklahoma College of arts and sciences, majoring in physical education and hopes to coach after graduation. Is 23 years old, stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 197.

Ivy (Poison Ivy to opposition) is one of nine married men on Sooner squad. . . Married pretty Inez Daniel from home town, who is also part Osage Indian . . . They live in apartment in Norman, and teammates say reason Ivy is one of best ends in land is because of home cooking.

* * *

Hails from little town of Skiatook, Okla., where he was chosen all-state scholastic fullback in 1935 . . . Father is farmer, living four miles west of Skiatook in Osage Hills, where he grows the tallest corn in the country . . . . Frank grew up doing farm work and toughnecking in oil wells during summer.

Quiet, level-headed, temperate youth with mild disposition . . . Favorite diversions are golf and billiards, both of which he plays moderately well . . . Nick-named "Pop" by teammates because of bald spot . . . Average student who has never flunked single hour of college work.

* * *

Tom Stidham converted him into end, and last year he played both right and left wings . . . In Oklahoma's Orange Bowl defeat by Tennessee he was Sooners' outstanding flanker, looking much better than All-America Waddy Young . . . This year he took up where Young left off.

He's a great play-smasher and rushes passers fiercely. . . Dangerous as punt blocker, is good pass receiver and is Oklahoma's key blocker . . . Ivy's job is to block opposing left tackle . . . If he fails Sooners' running game won't go . . . Ivy tossed Bill deCorrevont for seven-yard loss in Northwestern sophomore's first play in college football . . .Hasn't missed a minute of play because of injuries this year.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

GOSH, FELLERS, have a heart . . . contrary to all the gossip floating around the streets, the All U. P. team has NOT been selected as yet . . . no one Escanaba player has been selected in preference over any other and we don't know any more than anyone else who finally will be selected . . . that will be a matter for 15 sportswriters to decide . . . we've been the victim of a barrage of dirty looks every time we walk down the street lately because gossip is floating around to the effect that the team already has been picked . . . doting mamas apparently are very active in spreading the tidings . . . in fact, school officials have had several calls from rabid fans deploring the fact that Johnny Doe has been picked instead of Tommy Jones . . . we can assure you that the official U. P. Sportswriters' Association team has not been picked as yet . . . or, if it has, we aren't in on the secret . . . there's plenty of time to start throwing the furniture around after the selection is announced . . . until then, we'd like to be on as friendly terms as possible with everyone.

The ideal marriage is where the husband loves to earn money and the wife loves to spend it.

AND ANOTHER THING . . . these two Escanaba football teams rolled up the scores this year . . . Escanaba, with 191 points, was 32 points better offensively than Bessemer, second high scorer . . . and St. Joe was sixth high scorer with 100 points . . . the Eskymos, with their perfect defensive record, were 19 points better than the next nearest team, Ishpeming . . . the Iron River Reporter sums up the situation with a two column headline: "Eskymos were Pretty Rough in Taking Peninsula Crown" Manistique was the lowest scoring team in the peninsula, chalking up but seven points in eight games . . . Houghton had the most impotent defense, allowing opponents to score 143 points in seven games.

No, indeed, not all men are fools—some remain single!

HARRY STUHLDREHER has turned into pretty much of a calamity howler . . . it is to be taken for granted after every game, the personable Wisconsin coach will let go with a blast against the officials or against the bad breaks his team gets . . . he ought to take a page from the notebook of Fritz Crisler . . . the Wolverines, touted as national champs, suddenly took two in a row on the smacker . . . did Crisler howl about the officiating or breaks? . . . nope, he just went back to Ann Arbor and said: "It was all my fault . . . I didn't have the boys in the right frame of mind. . . . Bob Zuppke pulled a fast one on Stuhldreher . . . the latter had criticized the Illini crowd for making so much noise that his quarterback had to call signals in the huddle . . . to which Zup replied: "Did Harry Expect us to fill the stands with Egyptian mummies?"

Herber and Hutson of Packers Lead In Air Gains

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Individuals are keeping pace with teams as record breakers as the National Pro Football league continues its passing and scoring orgies from week to week.

Last Sunday saw one mark broken and another tied as Davey O'Brien completed 19 passes in one game to better the previous record by four, and Andy Farkas boosted his season's touchdown total to nine to equal the best performance in that department.

O'Brien set his record for the Philadelphia Eagles against Green Bay. The previous mark, set by Pat Coffee of the Cardinals in 1937 and tied this year by Ace Parker of Brooklyn, was 15. Don Hutson of Green Bay set the touchdown mark of nine in 1936, and tied it in 1938.

Bill Osmanski, Chicago Bear rookie, jumped into the lead in the ground gaining department as he boosted his total to 603 yards, a total which betters that made by Whizzer White in winning the title last year. Joe Maniaci, also of the Bears is in second place with 501 yards. However, Maniaci's average of 7.1 per try is the best in the circuit.

Hall has the most pass completions, with 60, but he has thrown more, and O'Brien has the best efficiency average, completing 43 of 91 for .471. Arnie Herber of Green Bay has gained the most ground via air, accounting for 879 yards with his 48 completions.

In the pass receiving department Perry Schwartz of Brooklyn leads with 25, but Hutson, receiving only 22, has gained the most ground—565 yards—and leads in touchdowns scored on passes with five. Farkas leads the loop in scoring with 55 points, with John Drake of Cleveland second with 48 and Osmanski third with 42.

EDUCATED TOE

Chicago—In six seasons in the National Football League, Jack Manders of the Chicago Bears has scored 302 points. He kicked 36 field goals, 104 points after touchdowns and scored 15 touchdowns.

Twin Bill Booked By Munising Squad

Munising, Mich., Nov. 15.—The Harry's Super Service five will open their 1939-40 basketball season here on November 25 when they play a twin bill against the Munising CYO and the Grand Marais Aces in the Mather high school gymnasium. The Super Service squad last year played under the banner of the Lew's Store. They will be managed again this year by Frank Fleming.

The Rock Independent quintet will come here on December 2. This year the village's two squads, the Herb's and Frank's, have combined under the banner of the Herb's, and a stronger team than last year will be put on the floor by the Delta county aggregation in the battle here.

Attempts are being made at the present to book a Chinese all-star aggregation on tour of the country. The group are being managed by Saperstein, known for his affiliation with the Harlem Globe-Trotters, colored basketball experts. The game, if scheduled, would probably be played here on December 9.

'STOP INDIANA' DRIVE STARTED

BY JACK I. GREEN

East Lansing, Nov. 15. (AP)—Michigan State's football uniforms were out of the bags today almost before the squad alighted from the train and inside of an hour the Spartans had started their "Stop Indiana" campaign in earnest.

On their return trip from Santa Clara, the Spartans heard little but plans to overcome the Hoosiers' passing game, as focused around Hal Hursh, the Indiana aerial leader. Hursh is reported to be one of the best passers in the Big Ten.

Coach Charley Bachman put the squad on old College Field immediately upon arrival home with instructions to get the feel of the pass defense he had worked out enroute.

The Spartan coaches reported Indiana, despite its in and out season this fall, has a deceptive attack and the Spartans have not always escaped being fooled by deception this year.

The Hoosiers tied Nebraska 7 to 7; lost to Iowa 32 to 29; whipped Wisconsin 14 to 0; lost to Ohio State 24 to 0; defeated the giant-killing Illinois 7 to 6; and lost last week to Fordham 13 to 0.

DART BALL CHANGED

The league dart ball between St. Stephens Episcopal and Bethany Lutheran originally scheduled at Bethany Lutheran will be played at St. Stephens beginning at 7:30 tonight.

Screwy News Honors Go To Jim Crowley

BY BILL BONI

New York, Nov. 15. (AP)—Being another four-star edition of football's "screwy news," with at least three and a half stars and an honorary appointment as head screwball to Fordham's Jim Crowley for the following lead-off anecdote:

With about two minutes to go in the Indiana game, Fordham had the ball down on the Hoosier 20-yard line. His third team was in the game, so Crowley had told the quarterback not to kick, even on fourth down. It might be blocked, and Indiana might run it back for a score.

But a few plays later, with a bad center pass and some penalties, the Rams were back near mid-field. Crowley had just sent in his last few subs, and was turning back toward the bench, when one of the Indiana boys on the field sang out:

"Hi, Jimmy, how're things back home in Green Bay?"

"Okay," said Crowley. "Say, go over and tell my quarterback to kick now, will you?"

"Right," said the Indiana boy, who ran into the Fordham huddle, whispered to Crowley's quarterback, then went back to his place at left tackle—and darned near blocked the punt which, sure enough, the quarterback called.

This really must be a tough season for those Yales. Last Saturday cheerleader Ed Tolland, to hail an Eli gain against Brown, turned an enthusiastic cartwheel. Result—it was so enthusiastic he sprained his ankle. He'll probably be out for the Princeton game.

Diamond Joe Paglia, who used to punt 'em into the coffin corner for Santa Clara and now coaches St. Martin's college of Lacey, Wash., probably is the first coach on record to lose a player in an earthquake.

Sunday night Nig Jundel, one of his best ends, was sitting in on a dormitory bull session complaining about a charley horse in his right leg. The building started to shake in the grip of an earthquake. Jundel, in spite of that charley horse, was the first man out of the room and headed for the stairs. Suddenly there was a dull thud, and there was Jundel at the foot of the stairs, with a badly-wrenched left knee to match his right leg's charley horse.

Tad Wieman, Princeton's towering coach, objects to being called "scholarly"—so much so that he no longer wears his Phi Beta Kappa key.

Wilby high, city champions of Waterbury, Conn., last year, lost almost all of the team through graduation, and Coach Jimmy Lee has been hard pressed for subs. Against Gilbert high of Winsted, he sent in a green kid who'd never played in a school game.

The boy went in at end, and the first play was a pass. But officials ruled offside—offside by 35 yards, for our hero was that far downfield, in his anxiety to catch the pass, even before the ball was snapped.

P. S.—After a thorough talking-to from his captain the youngster did the same thing five minutes later. Only this time he wound up 25 yards beyond the enemy safety man.

We're back at Gilbert high of Windsted, a town which, on good authority, has had its share of screwy incidents. Two high school teams were playing on a field that, because rains had swelled an adjoining brook, was under two feet (honest measure) of water. The teams insisted on playing, and the officials couldn't very well stop them.

In came a sub wearing a nice, fresh uniform. Advised by the referee that it wouldn't stay that way long, the kid said:

"Well, I might as well get used to these conditions," took a header into the water and came up with:

"Okay, now let's go."

Missouri's Paul Christman gave 30,000 New York customers a great display of his football prowess last Saturday, and gave the New York U. Players a good idea of why he's called the gridiron's Dizzy Dean. On almost every time out, Pitchin' Paul would walk over to the N. Y. U.'ers, slap 'em on the back, and say:

"Great day for a game, isn't it, fellas? Boy, what a day!"

It probably was—for Paul. N. Y. U.'s still wondering.

PASS DEFENSE HOLES PLUGGED

Crisler Expects Quakers to Spring Air Attack Next Saturday

BY GEORGE A. STAUTER

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15. (AP)—Fundamentals and pass defense took up a major portion of the practice session today as Michigan's gridders hurried preparations for their intersectional game with the University of Pennsylvania.

That Coach Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler expects the Quakers to spring an aerial attack against the Wolverines was indicated by the way in which he had the reserves pepper the varsity with passes.

Michigan's pass defense has had wide holes in it at times this season and Penn, in Frank Reagan, triple-threat quarterback, has a passer whose arm has played a prominent part in the four victories his team has scored this season.

At the same time, the Wolverines' own passing game, which accounted for their only score in the loss to Minnesota, also came in for some attention. Crisler sought particularly to obtain protection for his marksmen.

Saturday's meeting between Michigan and Penn at Philadelphia will be the seventeenth since 1899. The Quakers are one of the few teams to hold an edge over the Wolverines with eight victories as against seven defeats and two ties.

Last year Michigan won, 19 to 3, after a last period rally that netted Penn two touchdowns.

Crisler chose a 35 man squad for the trip which will be made by special train leaving here at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

The squad:

Ends, Joseph Bosza, Joe Rogers, Ed Czak, Paul Nielsen, John Nicholson and Harlan Fraumann; tackles, Roland Savilla, Bill Smith, Reuben Kelto, Jack Butler, Robert Flora and Dennis Kuhn; guards, Ralph Fritz, Milo Sukup, Bill Melzow, Frederic Olds, Forrest Jordan and Arthur Paddy; centers, Capt. Archie Kodros, Horace Tinker and Ted Kennedy.

Backs, Paul Kromer, Fred Trosko, Dave Strong, Tom Harmon, Norman Call, Bill Luther, Dave Nelson, Bob Westfall, Bob Zimmerman, Larry Wichter, Bob Ingalls, Forest Evashevski, Walter Kitti and James Grissen.

TRENARY TRIMS ALUMNI

The Trenary high school regulars trimmed the Alumni 26 to 23 last night in the first basketball game of the season at Trenary .In the Alumni lineup were L. Latzola, D. Quarfoot, D. Hill, Seppanen, Webber, Hytinen, Mills, Maki and Seppanen.

H'VILLE CAGERS START DEC. 12

Coach Kleimola Directs Drills; Several Vets On Redskin Crew

Hermansville, Nov. 1—Anxious to retain the Menominee county league championship, the Hermansville high school basketball team has been working out under the supervision of Coach Jack Kleimola in the community club gym for the past month. The Redskins started practice earlier this year because football was not sponsored and all the concentration was put on basketball.

The school can also play three more basketball games with dropping of the pigskin sport and the fans will have better chance to watch them in action with the longer season.

A full Menominee county league slate is contracted for besides games with Channing, Vulcan, and Daggett. Two games will be played this year with Channing as compared to only one last year.

Graduation has taken several regulars from the team of last year. Among those who will be missing are John Parish, a veteran center who saw four years of service, as well as Eval St. Juliana, another four-year man, George Earle who also saw much service at guard was also lost by the graduation route.

Twins Are Back

The returning letter winners are the Machalk twins, Steve and Mike, Bruna Mauli, Walter Peterson, Howard Schwartz, and Frank Miketinac. Most of this group had considerable experience last year. Frank Kure, a lanky senior, is also out again this year after being out most of last season with a knee injury. Several of last year's undefeated reserve team are expected to break into the lineup. Among them are John Pierpont, John St. Juliana, and John Beadoin.

Due to the state raising the requirements of a class D school up to 125 students the sawmill boys will return to class D competition after a year or two in class C, where the team did very well except when they had to encounter Norway in their district tournament.

The tentative schedule for the school for the coming year is:

Dec. 12—Harris at Hermansville.
Dec. 15—Powers at Powers.
Dec. 29—Channing at Channing.
Jan. 10—Daggett at Hermansville.
Jan. 12—Channing at Hermansville.
Jan. 19—Stephenson at Stephenson.
Jan. 24—Daggett at Daggett.
Jan. 26—Felch at Hermansville.
Feb. 2—Harris at Harris.
Feb. 9—Vulcan at Vulcan.
Feb. 16—Powers at Hermansville.
Feb. 23—Felch at Felch.
Mar. 1—Stephenson at Hermansville.

One game with Vulcan yet to be scheduled.

For several weeks past committees have worked at a feverish pace to set the stage for the greatest three day selling event this town has seen in many years. Working in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce complete plans for this selling event have been formulated to offer attractive merchandise for every family in the city's 80 mile trading area.

Special stocks of merchandise ordered for this selling event have filled the stores to capacity and in many cases regular merchandise has been marked far below everyday selling prices. In every store along the street shoppers will see hundreds of articles that can be purchased at only a fraction of regular cost. Food stores, too, are participating in this great value-giving event.

Late last evening several stores along Ludington street reported favorable indications for complete sellouts of popular merchandise and urged every shopper to shop as early as possible to be sure to get the values they seek before quantities have been exhausted.

Every line of merchandise stocked in Ludington street stores are represented in this special Escanaba Days SELLUBRATION. Restaurants and hotels are offering specially priced meals. Furniture dealers are offering for sale home furnishings and drug stores are opening their complete stocks to customers in the trading area. Department stores and hardware stores all have special merchandise that will be news to the thrifty shopper and merchandise that appeals both in price and quality to every shopper in this territory.

Escanaba Days Bargains Will Make Shopping Enjoyable

"Satisfied customers are regular customers" is the theme of successful selling of Escanaba merchants serving an 80 mile trading area. Oftentimes remarks are heard by store clerks and managers from out of town custo...ers as to why they shop in Escanaba, the leading retail shopping center of Upper Michigan.

Some of the remarks are: "prices are lower. Stocks are large and complete. Courteous salespeople are so helpful and willing to be of assistance. They help you select the merchandise you want. Their well established credit systems answer all credit questions and make it easier for us to open charge accounts in any stores."

These and many more are heard day in and day out the year around from thousands of out of town customers from this large trading area. Alert Escanaba merchants are always striving to find new ways and means to better serve their customers. In many cases entirely new policies have been established and new store arrangements made in order to be of more value to the out of town shopper.

Escanaba Day shoppers will be aware of these new services Thursday, Friday and Saturday when they come to town for this annual city-wide sale. They'll find all these features and many more to make their shopping trip both profitable and enjoyable. Shop in the city that welcomes you most heartily.

Gift for Booklovers

A fine gift for the real booklover would be a traveling bookcase made of fine russet saddle leather lined with green felt and fitted with combination magnifying glass, page cutter and rule. Pockets for writing materials are in the lid. It will contain about twelve average-sized books.

Smart Togs For Career Girl May Lead Double Lives

A lot of dollar diplomacy has been used on the career girl's 1940 clothes.

They have been designed to make every sou count in the most skillful ways. Many will even lead double lives, going one place with a business woman by day and somewhere else with a "glamour girl" at night.

The transformation is effected by accessories—jewels, jackets, fur accents and such, whipped out of a wardrobe drawer and used to make a frock or costume change its character and its looks.

Under all this fashion trickery lie excellent, simple clothes.

Experts on the subject compile this list for the career girl's wardrobe:

1. A three-piece suit of tweed or heavy wool combining a jacket, skirt and warm, inter-lined, unfurred coat all of the same fabric, ready both for country and every day wear in town. A sweater and blouse fit it for both.
2. A short fur coat in some relatively inexpensive pelt such as mounton, beaver, skunk, or fisher-dyed fitch for more gala occasions. (If carefully chosen in a dark fur it can top evening frocks as well as daytime clothes.)
3. Two simple wool dresses for office wear—one fairly sober in hue, the other gay. New ones come in green, royal blue and tomato shades as well as the discreet grayed greens, blues and browns which began the season.
4. Two date frocks—one a simple design of black crepe which will combine with many different accessories, the other a dress of deep-hued velvet woven to resist crushing or of stiff fabric such as faille which will give that coveted "five-o'clock look" and do duty late in the spring. (Both wool dresses and at least one date dress should be simply designed without gadgets, so that they may be worn in the office and on to an evening date when splashed with different accessories.)
5. As many hats as the budget permits. (The list should include one simple chapeau and a second frothier one for dates.)
6. Evening requisites begin with a good dinner dress of sheer wool or crepe topped with a suave jacket and continue, if the career girl's life demands it, with a party frock of black net, colorful faille or velvet, and a long, fitted wool wrap.

The fun begins with accessories. This year costume jewels lead the list. Bracelets, whose bangles come off to make neckline clips, splashy bib necklaces shimmering with gold and colored stones, big pins in old-fashioned flower designs and pocket clips with lipsticks in the top can transform a plain frock.

The tricks that jackets can do make even their weawers dizzy. Simple fitted wool ones of hipbone length can be accented with a tasseled cord swung from breast pocket to breast pocket and worn above a dark day skirt or wool frock; then splashed with some bright costume jewels to go places at night. Others, shimmering with gold embroidery are ready to top an office frock and go on to dinner.

There's fun in fur too. Fur buttons to match a coat can be clipped to shoes, new muff and stole sets can be worn either with a plain, black unfurred day coat or with a long evening wrap.

The variety of ways in which a career girl can use her head is almost unlimited. She may tuck her curls into a chenille snood by day, then add a few bright velvet bows to it and go places at night. A favorite which refuses to die is the jersey turban. It comes in a great range of colors and can be twisted about a head to suit the face, the frock and the mood.

Briefs

Mrs. Joseph Glaza visited her grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Senecal at Alger Mills Friday.

Mrs. Bernice Finnucan, who visited relatives in Chicago the past month returned Friday.

Phil Hupy of Gladstone was a business caller in town Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurst, who visited at the Ostrander's a few days have returned to Big Rapids.

The drive for Red Cross memberships is on this week. Those in charge are Mesdames Tulloch, I. Hill, Thompson, and R. Barney.

James Quello, Commander at CCC Camp Fox, has moved his family into the apartment in the Cheney residence. Mrs. Quello and small son arrived this week from their former home in Ironwood.

Mrs. I. G. Hill and sons, Roy and David, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Morrison of Germfask.

Work in Forest

The Conservation division of the High School agricultural class spent a half day Friday in the school forest. The first year students worked on map making projects and the second year students worked on timber cruising determining how many board feet in forty acres.

Tomato and Mushroom Soup

For an especially delicious cream of tomato soup, combine a can of condensed mushroom soup with the tomato. Thin with milk, if desired. In fact, mushroom soup added to any cream soup gives excellent flavor.
